21 Racketeers Under Arrest In Crackdown

27 Delegates To Apalachin Are Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-seven delegates to the 1957 Apalachin underworld conclave have been indicted for defying the government's attempts to determine its purpose. It was one of the biggest federal crackdowns ever on the national syndicate that allegedly controls organized crime.

Federal agents began a coast-to-coast roundup of the defendants shortly after sunrise Thursday. Bonds as high as $100,000 were set for appearance later in federal court here.

By the end of the day, 21 of the defendants had been arrested on the charges.

The men face up to five years each in prison if convicted. The charge is conspiracy to obstruct federal justice.

Most of the 63 delegates to the underworld convention were little known to the general public before Apalachin. But the government contends they formed the executive board of "the largest criminal syndicate in the country."

Linked To Costello

They were said by authorities to have ties to such infamous racketeers as the imprisoned Frank Costello, the deported Lucky Luciano and the assassinated Albert Anastasia.

All 63 were accused in the indictment of deciding in advance on ways and means of concealing from the federal government the aims and purposes of the conclave. Thirty-six, however, were not named defendants.

Those named as defendants came to Apalachin from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Texas, Arizona, Massachusetts, Ohio and California. Some of them have gone into hiding.

The Apalachin, N.Y., meeting was held Nov. 14, 1957, at the lavish hilltop home of Joseph Barbara Sr. It was broken up by New York State Police who could not, however, find any charges for holding the 63 delegates.

Riddle Unsolved

Since then, there has been wide speculation that the conclave was for the purpose of alloting narcotics or gambling territories, organizing labor rackets, or arranging for the corruption of law enforcement agencies.

In the 18 months since the convention, nine federal grand juries —as well as numerous state and federal government agencies — have taken a crack at trying to solve the riddle of Apalachin. None of them got anywhere. Nine of the delegates have gone to jail at various times for their refusal to talk.

The federal government moved in under a catchall charge of conspiracy. It does not require proof that a crime was committed but merely that two or more persons got together to discuss criminal activity—in this case the alleged scheme to thwart federal investigation of Apalachin.

EXECUTION TODAY — Charles Starkweather (above), 19, confessed slayer of 11 persons, is scheduled to die in Nebraska's electric chair this morning. Yesterday, Federal District Court in Lincoln denied a writ of habeas corpus and stay of execution. (AP Photofax)

Starkweather Refused Stay Of Execution

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Robert Van Pelt Thursday denied killer Charles Starkweather's request for a writ of habeas corpus and stay of execution for murder.

The last ditch legal effort to escape the electric chair or defer the execution had been made less than 24 hours in advance of the killer's appointment with death, about sunrise Friday.

Judge Van Pelt held that no grounds sufficient to warrant the writ or stay had been presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Starkweather, parents of the 20-year-old red-haired slayer filed the court documents.

They contended their son was denied constitutional rights at his murder trial a year ago.

And Starkweather himself, in a letter to the judge, contended he had not been properly represented by his court-appointed attorneys.

Starkweather, described as "edgy" and not very cheerful, spurned Thursday any idea of a final face-to-face meeting with the girl who accompanied him on a murder rampage 16 months ago.

Caril Ann Fugate, his 15-year-old ex-sweetheart, is serving a life sentence for aiding and abetting him.

Desperation efforts by Caril to evoke from Starkweather a statement exonerating her included the request for a personal meeting.

Starkweather was a principal state witness against Caril at her murder trial last November. Her attorneys, in repeated efforts to obtain a new trial, have contended false testimony by Starkweather prompted the jury verdict.

Starkweather and Caril were caught in Wyoming Jan. 29, 1958, after nine murder victims had turned up in the Lincoln area, and another victim had been shot to death on a Wyoming highway, all in a three-day period. Starkweather subsequently admitted also an earlier unsolved slaying near Lincoln, to bring the list of victims to 11.

Herter Admonishes Soviet

War Planning Accusations Irk Secretary

GENEVA (AP)—In a crisp two-minute speech U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter admonished the Soviet Union Thursday to stop accusing the West of preparing for an aggressive war.

He warned Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that such accusations can lead to serious tensions in the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

Associates said Herter was seeking to clear the air in negotiations over Germany.

Soviet allegations of aggressive aims by the North Atlantic Alliance and the West German government simply are not true, Herter declared.

Facing Gromyko across the table, Herter said all the steps taken by the Western powers in the last 10 years were dictated by "prudent precaution."

Annoyed At Charges

The secretary of state was obviously annoyed at the charges bandied about in the conference both by Gromyko and East German Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz.

Herter's intervention highlighted the ninth conference session, which was largely given over to arguments by East and West in favor of their conflicting plans for Germany.

Gromyko, as in several recent sessions, made accusations that the North Atlantic Alliance is preparing for aggression and that West Germany is militarily aggressive and is rearming for purpose of revenge.

An American spokesman said Herter decided he could not let these charges go unanswered any longer.

Herter Host To Gromyko

A short time later he was host to Gromyko at a dinner party also attended by Selwyn Lloyd and Maurice Couve de Murville, the British and French foreign ministers.

The dinner around a richly set oval table in Herter's villa offered the first opportunity for all four foreign ministers to meet under such circumstances for private contacts.

From these exchanges careful proddings could develop on such specific problems as the status of Berlin and the Western terms for going to the summit.

Also, from such exchanges the conference might hope to break out of the pattern of sterile debates with East and West arguing in favor of their package plans for Germany.

House Passes Big Measure But Veto Seen

GOP Efforts To Cut Cost Fail; Passage Vote Is 261 To 160

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted 261-160 Thursday for a $2,100,000,000 housing bill, a smashing victory for the Democrats over President Eisenhower.

The triumphant Democrats batted down, as fast as they came up, Republican moves to cut the cost, to cut out public housing, and to send the bill back to committee for revision.

Voting for the bill on passage were 228 Democrats and 33 Republicans. Against it were 45 Democrats and 115 Republicans.

Angry debate apparently changed no minds.

The next big question: Will Eisenhower veto the bill that finally reaches him? Republicans said he would.

Ike's Vote Record Intact

If he does, will the Democratic-dominated Congress vote to override the veto? He has never lost on a veto test. A 261-160 ratio would not provide the two-thirds margin needed to override.

Just before final roll-call passage, the House rejected on a roll call of 233-189 an effort by Rep. Clarence E. Kilburn (R-NY) to reinstate an administration-backed substitute sponsored by Rep. A.S. Herlong (D-Fla).

The $1,300,000,000 Herlong bill was rejected on its own Wednesday by a count of 203-177.

Now the House bill must be adjusted with a $2,690,000,000 measure passed weeks ago by the Senate. The final outcome would seem sure to be far out of line with the $1,600,000,000 housing program Eisenhower originally submitted.

One big vote Thursday was a 175-91 decision knocking down an effort to remove all public housing from the bill.

Provides 140,000 New Units

The public housing action was the most controversial in the bill. It also includes a three-year, 1½-billion-dollar program of slum elimination, 400 millions for college housing loans, 100 millions for housing for the elderly and lower down payments on Federal Housing Administration home mortgages.

Not in dispute was a section to increase FHA's mortgage insurance authority by 10 billion dollars. This phase of housing pays for itself.

Galveston Hit Hard As Winds Rip Tex. Area

By The Associated Press

Hurricane force winds battered parts of Galveston, Tex. Thursday and spread destruction in cities and towns nearly to the Mexican border.

Torrential rains doused parts of Illinois, Iowa and Florida as thunderstorms rumbled over widespread sections of the warm and humid Midwest and East. The heavy rains caused some flooding in the Midwest.

Jacksonville, Fla., measured 11½ inches of rain in 24 hours. There were indications heavier amounts fell elsewhere in that area.

Rainfall totaling 6.75 inches in 24 hours at the south edge of Kankakee, Ill., sent two creeks out of their banks. About 200 persons were evacuated. Floodwaters reached a depth of six feet then receded slowly.

Forest City, Iowa collected 6.12 inches of rain in 24 hours.

The windstorm in Galveston was clocked officially at 87 miles an hour. Some residents said the storm descended from a "big black rumbling cloud."

Railroad cars were blown off the tracks, a tanker was beached, a fishing vessel sank and three homes were virtually destroyed. The winds caused widespread lesser destruction in the vicinity.

Winds were estimated at 100 m.p.h. on Bolivar Peninsula near Galveston. The area was without electric power or telephones for a time.

In Carrizo Springs, 300 miles west of Galveston, winds unroofed the City Hall, snapped power lines, damaged homes and blew in plate glass windows.

A huge sign which recently underwent inspection indicating it could withstand winds of 175 to 200 m.p.h. was smashed on Galveston's Pleasure Pier.

After battering Galveston the winds passed northeast to Port Bolivar and Beaumont where tornado funnels were seen.

The South Grand River south of Clinton, Mo., rose to seven feet above flood stage after heavy rains this week. The flooding caused heavy crop loss in neighboring creek bottoms. One state highway was closed for a day and a half before the waters started receding.

House Unit Acts To Keep Road Program Going

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee Thursday approved legislation to make it possible for work to proceed on schedule this year on the nation's 41,000-mile superhighway network.

In doing so, it adopted a solution contrary to President Eisenhower's desires for the money crisis in the program.

The committee's solution was to suspend for two years, fiscal 1961 and 1962, the pay-as-you-go amendment put in the 1956 Highway Act by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va).

The suspension means the needed money can come out of general Treasury funds. Eisenhower wanted new highway taxes to finance it.

One immediate effect of the suspension would be to allow the apportionment of 2½ billion dollars in federal funds to be made to the states for superhighways this July as scheduled.

The apportionment would be for fiscal 1961, but the states could let contracts on the basis of the allotments immediately.

Administration officials had told Congress they could not apportion a penny of the fiscal 1961 money this summer because of the pay-as-you-go provision. Fiscal 1961 is the 12 months ending June 30, 1961.

Eisenhower has estimated the fund will begin to run a deficit in the year ahead. He asked Congress to raise the federal gas tax from 3 to 4½ cents to meet the problem, but this has received a cold shoulder at the Capitol.

The bill approved by the House Committee also would increase the fiscal 1962 apportionment for the interstate system, the superhighways, by 300 million dollars to 2½ billion dollars. A similar increase was voted last year for the fiscal 1961 money. The fiscal 1962 apportionments would be made in July, 1960.

Man Kills Self By Tying Plastic Bag Over Head

NEW YORK (AP)—A man has killed himself by pulling a transparent plastic bag over his head —the same kind that has snuffed the breath from at least a score of young children in the past few months.

The suicide, one of the first involving a plastic bag, was discovered in a Jackson Heights, Queens apartment house Thursday when the landlord entered an apartment to put up summer screens. He found Theodore Evant, 60, lying in bed fully clothed with the plastic bag tied around his neck. He had been dead several days, police said.

The bags, which have recently come into wide use by laundries and dry cleaners, have proved fatally attractive playthings for youngsters. The National Safety Council two weeks ago warned parents that static electricity causes the bags to adhere readily to the mouth and nose, and that a child playing alone might be overcome before he could free himself.

Buenos Aires Police Clash With Strikers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (AP) — Thousands of strikers and police fought a surging battle Thursday in downtown Buenos Aires.

Two persons were killed when a fourth-story balcony jammed with spectators watching the battle broke loose and crumbled to the street.

The violent street fighting broke out after striking bank clerks turned out in force one day before a government deadline for them to return to work. The clerks have been on strike for six weeks. They demand higher pay.

The demonstration started peacefully before the Congress Building. Police did not interfere when union delegations handed over two petitions to members of Congress. But when the strikers started marching toward Government House, heavy police guards tried to head them off.

Tear gas, clubs and firehoses were brought into play by officers and clashes spread through a 40-block area.

Strikers hurriedly built barricades with material from construction projects. Streetcars and buses were overturned and burned.

The balcony tore loose from a government tax building after persons in the building rushed out to watch the fighting. One woman was reported killed in the fall to the street. A man was reported killed when the heavy stonework fell on a jammed third story.

Hen Baby-Sitter For Collie Pups

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP) — A pet collie dog on the Robert Russell farm has a built-in baby-sitter. It's a hen.

The chicken took over mothering the dog's nine pups soon after they were born in a straw pile near her nest. The collie takes over at meal time but when dinner's over the pups go back to the hen.

Presbyterian Union Sought

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A plea for church unity was addressed to the other churches of the Presbyterian and Reformed tradition in the United States and Canada Thursday by the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The invitation to union was extended to five groups in the United States and two in Canada, which have a total membership of 3,250,000. The United Presbyterian Church itself has 3,159,562 members.

A combination of these bodies would produce a church ranking well up among the largest Protestant denominations in English-speaking North America.

The United Presbyterians' 171st General Assembly adopted a committee recommendation that a letter be sent to the seven other church bodies urging that, "You and we, recognizing that there is one body as well as one spirit, may present our witnesses to the reconciling love of God in Christ to the world with one voice in one church."

Dulles Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles' condition is about the same as earlier this week when he was reported growing weaker, the State Department indicated Thursday.

Department press officer Lincoln White told newsmen there was nothing new to report on Dulles, who is waging an apparently losing fight against cancer complicated by pneumonia.

Satellite Launching Delayed By Weather

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon announced Thursday that launching of the Discoverer III satellite from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., had been postponed "because of unfavorable weather."

The launching had been set for Thursday afternoon.

Future Space Men Awed By First View Of Rockets

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Six of the seven Americans who hope to become the first space travelers saw for the first time Thursday the site where their great adventure will start.

"Their reaction was silence—they watched in awe," said their escort officer, Air Force Lt. Col. John Powers.

The Project Mercury astronauts, the cream of more than 100 jet pilots who volunteered to be the first man in space, were given a bus tour of the cape where sometime in 1961 one of them will blast off aboard an Atlas missile.

It was the first time any of the future space men had a close view of the nation's huge rockets. Their guide was Air Force Col. George Knauf who is known as "the dean of missile medicine."

The astronauts, who remain at the Cape for three days, made an unheralded arrival Wednesday night because the sponsoring National Aeronautics and Space Administration wanted to keep its trainees under wraps.

"We'll see that one again," quipped one of the six as they drove past an 80-foot Atlas posed on Launching Pad No. 12.

Informed sources said an instrumented space capsule will be fired aboard the Atlas for the first time this July. The 1,900-pound capsule will be logged from 1,800 miles over the Atlantic and then recovered for study.

Later, animals will be launched in capsules atop the Atlas and Redstone missiles before man takes his first big step.

Requests For Wooden Nickels Flood Town

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Wooden nickels have City Hall in a turmoil.

The special coins are being used as part of Newburgh's 250th anniversary celebration through July 13. A story about the vintage currency was carried recently by The Associated Press. That did it.

Ever since, says City Manager Albert Abrams, requests have been flooding in via mail and telephone, from all over the country.

He said collectors and souvenir seekers who sent along U.S. coins will get a par value exchange. After all, taking a wooden nickel still costs money.

Cabot Nominated U.S. Envoy To Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nomination of a career diplomat John M. Cabot to be ambassador to Brazil was sent to the Senate by the White House Thursday.

Cabot had been widely mentioned as the choice for the post to which President Eisenhower originally named Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce.

Mrs. Luce resigned before taking office after a bitter row in the Senate over her confirmation.

Cabot, 57, now is ambassador to Columbia. He has served as assistant secretary of state for interamerican affairs and as U. S. ambassador to Sweden.

The nomination of former Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas to be a member of the Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors also was submitted to the Senate Thursday. The White House previously had announced Eisenhower's intention to make that appointment.

Legislators Rebuke State Dept. And USIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department and the U.S. Information Agency drew a rebuke from the House Appropriations Committee Thursday for what the committee called utterly exorbitant personnel transfer costs.

The criticism accompanied a bill appropriating $649,896,700 to finance the State and Justice Departments, the federal judiciary and the USIA for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The committee also spoke of wasted taxpayers' funds in operation of the Foreign Service Institute and of costly homes for Foreign Service personnel. It termed unjustified a proposal to spend $200,000 for a furnished home for the American consul at Dakar, French West Africa.

Nose Cone Fired 6,000 Miles, Recovered Intact

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A futuristic intercontinental ballistic nose cone was fired 6,000 miles down the Atlantic Thursday and recovered intact four hours later.

When the nose cone was plucked from the water by an Air Force tracking ship near Ascension Island, it marked the second straight time that a two-stage Thor-Able rocket had successfully sent a recoverable package to a target at intercontinental range.

Another nose cone was retrieved from the same area April 8. It followed six unsuccessful Thor-Able re-entry tests.

The knob-shaped nose cone recovered Thursday could house a thermonuclear warhead for intercontinental-range missiles of the future. Among them are the Titan and Minuteman.

This cone crowned the powerful Thor-Able rocket when it blazed off the cape at 1:40 a.m. Thursday. A C54 search plane sighted the package as it hurtled back through the earth's atmosphere at 15,000 miles an hour.

The plane directed the recovery ship to the area. A small radio transmitter and signal lights helped pinpoint the cone's location in the water.

11 Space Probes Planned By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States tentatively plans 11 rocket shots toward the moon and into space within the next 2½ years, the government's space agency reported Thursday.

The lunar and space probes are among 47 shots on the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's tentative schedule through 1961.

The program was posted before a Senate Space subcommittee as Dr. T. Keith Glennan, NASA administrator, testified in support of the agency's request for $485,300,000 in the year starting July 1.

Glennan told the subcommittee NASA would "fire our scientific payloads only when we are convinced that we have done everything humanly possible to give them a good chance of success, and when we have assured ourselves that the benefits promised justify the costs involved."

Senate Group Okays Gates Nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's nomination of Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates to be deputy defense secretary was approved unanimously Thursday by the Senate Armed Services Committeee.

Gates was nominated to succeed the late Donald A. Quarles, who died last week of a heart attack.

The committee also unanimously approved William B. Franke to succeed Gates as Navy secretary and Fred A. Bantz to be Navy undersecretary.

House Unit Acts To Keep Road Program Going

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee Thursday approved legislation to make it possible for work to proceed on schedule this year on the nation's 41,000-mile superhighway network.

In doing so, it adopted a solution contrary to President Eisenhower's desires for the money crisis in the program.

The committee's solution was to suspend for two years, fiscal 1961 and 1962, the pay-as-you-go amendment put in the 1956 Highway Act by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va).

The suspension means the needed money can come out of general Treasury funds. Eisenhower wanted new highway taxes to finance it.

One immediate effect of the suspension would be to allow the apportionment of 2½ billion dollars in federal funds to be made to the states for superhighways this July as scheduled.

The apportionment would be for fiscal 1961, but the states could let contracts on the basis of the allotments immediately.

Administration officials had told Congress they could not apportion a penny of the fiscal 1961 money this summer because of the pay-as-you-go provision. Fiscal 1961 is the 12 months ending June 30, 1961.

Eisenhower has estimated the fund will begin to run a deficit in the year ahead. He asked Congress to raise the federal gas tax from 3 to 4½ cents to meet the problem, but this has received a cold shoulder at the Capitol.

The bill approved by the House Committee also would increase the fiscal 1962 apportionment for the interstate system, the superhighways, by 300 million dollars to 2½ billion dollars. A similar increase was voted last year for the fiscal 1961 money. The fiscal 1962 apportionments would be made in July, 1960.

Man Kills Self By Tying Plastic Bag Over Head

NEW YORK (AP)—A man has killed himself by pulling a transparent plastic bag over his head —the same kind that has snuffed the breath from at least a score of young children in the past few months.

The suicide, one of the first involving a plastic bag, was discovered in a Jackson Heights, Queens apartment house Thursday when the landlord entered an apartment to put up summer screens. He found Theodore Evant, 60, lying in bed fully clothed with the plastic bag tied around his neck. He had been dead several days, police said.

The bags, which have recently come into wide use by laundries and dry cleaners, have proved fatally attractive playthings for youngsters. The National Safety Council two weeks ago warned parents that static electricity causes the bags to adhere readily to the mouth and nose, and that a child playing alone might be overcome before he could free himself.

Buenos Aires Police Clash With Strikers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (AP) — Thousands of strikers and police fought a surging battle Thursday in downtown Buenos Aires.

Two persons were killed when a fourth-story balcony jammed with spectators watching the battle broke loose and crumbled to the street.

The violent street fighting broke out after striking bank clerks turned out in force one day before a government deadline for them to return to work. The clerks have been on strike for six weeks. They demand higher pay.

The demonstration started peacefully before the Congress Building. Police did not interfere when union delegations handed over two petitions to members of Congress. But when the strikers started marching toward Government House, heavy police guards tried to head them off.

Tear gas, clubs and firehoses were brought into play by officers and clashes spread through a 40-block area.

Strikers hurriedly built barricades with material from construction projects. Streetcars and buses were overturned and burned.

The balcony tore loose from a government tax building after persons in the building rushed out to watch the fighting. One woman was reported killed in the fall to the street. A man was reported killed when the heavy stonework fell on a jammed third story.

Galveston Hit Hard As Winds Rip Tex. Area

By The Associated Press

Hurricane force winds battered parts of Galveston, Tex. Thursday and spread destruction in cities and towns nearly to the Mexican border.

Torrential rains doused parts of Illinois, Iowa and Florida as thunderstorms rumbled over widespread sections of the warm and humid Midwest and East. The heavy rains caused some flooding in the Midwest.

Jacksonville, Fla., measured 11½ inches of rain in 24 hours. There were indications heavier amounts fell elsewhere in that area.

Rainfall totaling 6.75 inches in 24 hours at the south edge of Kankakee, Ill., sent two creeks out of their banks. About 200 persons were evacuated. Floodwaters reached a depth of six feet then receded slowly.

Forest City, Iowa collected 6.12 inches of rain in 24 hours.

The windstorm in Galveston was clocked officially at 87 miles an hour. Some residents said the storm descended from a "big black rumbling cloud."

Railroad cars were blown off the tracks, a tanker was beached, a fishing vessel sank and three homes were virtually destroyed. The winds caused widespread lesser destruction in the vicinity.

Winds were estimated at 100 m.p.h. on Bolivar Peninsula near Galveston. The area was without electric power or telephones for a time.

In Carrizo Springs, 300 miles west of Galveston, winds unroofed the City Hall, snapped power lines, damaged homes and blew in plate glass windows.

A huge sign which recently underwent inspection indicating it could withstand winds of 175 to 200 m.p.h. was smashed on Galveston's Pleasure Pier.

After battering Galveston the winds passed northeast to Port Bolivar and Beaumont where tornado funnels were seen.

The South Grand River south of Clinton, Mo., rose to seven feet above flood stage after heavy rains this week. The flooding caused heavy crop loss in neighboring creek bottoms. One state highway was closed for a day and a half before the waters started receding.

Presbyterian Union Sought

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A plea for church unity was addressed to the other churches of the Presbyterian and Reformed tradition in the United States and Canada Thursday by the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The invitation to union was extended to five groups in the United States and two in Canada, which have a total membership of 3,250,000. The United Presbyterian Church itself has 3,159,562 members.

A combination of these bodies would produce a church ranking well up among the largest Protestant denominations in English-speaking North America.

The United Presbyterians' 171st General Assembly adopted a committee recommendation that a letter be sent to the seven other church bodies urging that, "You and we, recognizing that there is one body as well as one spirit, may present our witnesses to the reconciling love of God in Christ to the world with one voice in one church."

Satellite Launching Delayed By Weather

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon announced Thursday that launching of the Discoverer III satellite from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., had been postponed "because of unfavorable weather."

The launching had been set for Thursday afternoon.

Requests For Wooden Nickels Flood Town

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Wooden nickels have City Hall in a turmoil.

The special coins are being used as part of Newburgh's 250th anniversary celebration through July 13. A story about the vintage currency was carried recently by The Associated Press. That did it.

Ever since, says City Manager Albert Abrams, requests have been flooding in via mail and telephone, from all over the country.

He said collectors and souvenir seekers who sent along U.S. coins will get a par value exchange. After all, taking a wooden nickel still costs money.

Cabot Nominated U.S. Envoy To Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nomination of a career diplomat John M. Cabot to be ambassador to Brazil was sent to the Senate by the White House Thursday.

Cabot had been widely mentioned as the choice for the post to which President Eisenhower originally named Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce.

Cabot, 57, now is ambassador to Columbia. He has served as assistant secretary of state for interamerican affairs and as U. S. ambassador to Sweden.

The nomination of former Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas to be a member of the Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors also was submitted to the Senate Thursday. The White House previously had announced Eisenhower's intention to make that appointment.

Legislators Rebuke State Dept. And USIA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department and the U.S. Information Agency drew a rebuke from the House Appropriations Committee Thursday for what the committee called utterly exorbitant personnel transfer costs.

The criticism accompanied a bill appropriating $649,896,700 to finance the State and Justice Departments, the federal judiciary and the USIA for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The committee also spoke of wasted taxpayers' funds in operation of the Foreign Service Institute and of costly homes for Foreign Service personnel. It termed unjustified a proposal to spend $200,000 for a furnished home for the American consul at Dakar, French West Africa.

Hen Baby-Sitter For Collie Pups

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP) — A pet collie dog on the Robert Russell farm has a built-in baby-sitter. It's a hen.

The chicken took over mothering the dog's nine pups soon after they were born in a straw pile near her nest. The collie takes over at meal time but when dinner's over the pups go back to the hen.

11 Space Probes Planned By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States tentatively plans 11 rocket shots toward the moon and into space within the next 2½ years, the government's space agency reported Thursday.

The lunar and space probes are among 47 shots on the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's tentative schedule through 1961.

The program was posted before a Senate Space subcommittee as Dr. T. Keith Glennan, NASA administrator, testified in support of the agency's request for $485,300,000 in the year starting July 1.

Glennan told the subcommittee NASA would "fire our scientific payloads only when we are convinced that we have done everything humanly possible to give them a good chance of success, and when we have assured ourselves that the benefits promised justify the costs involved."

Senate Group Okays Gates Nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's nomination of Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates to be deputy defense secretary was approved unanimously Thursday by the Senate Armed Services Committeee.

Gates was nominated to succeed the late Donald A. Quarles, who died last week of a heart attack.

The committee also unanimously approved William B. Franke to succeed Gates as Navy secretary and Fred A. Bantz to be Navy undersecretary.

Future Space Men Awed By First View Of Rockets

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Six of the seven Americans who hope to become the first space travelers saw for the first time Thursday the site where their great adventure will start.

"Their reaction was silence—they watched in awe," said their escort officer, Air Force Lt. Col. John Powers.

The Project Mercury astronauts, the cream of more than 100 jet pilots who volunteered to be the first man in space, were given a bus tour of the cape where sometime in 1961 one of them will blast off aboard an Atlas missile.

It was the first time any of the future space men had a close view of the nation's huge rockets. Their guide was Air Force Col. George Knauf who is known as "the dean of missile medicine."

The astronauts, who remain at the Cape for three days, made an unheralded arrival Wednesday night because the sponsoring National Aeronautics and Space Administration wanted to keep its trainees under wraps.

"We'll see that one again," quipped one of the six as they drove past an 80-foot Atlas posed on Launching Pad No. 12.

Informed sources said an instrumented space capsule will be fired aboard the Atlas for the first time this July. The 1,900-pound capsule will be logged from 1,800 miles over the Atlantic and then recovered for study.

Later, animals will be launched in capsules atop the Atlas and Redstone missiles before man takes his first big step.

Nose Cone Fired 6,000 Miles, Recovered Intact

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A futuristic intercontinental ballistic nose cone was fired 6,000 miles down the Atlantic Thursday and recovered intact four hours later.

When the nose cone was plucked from the water by an Air Force tracking ship near Ascension Island, it marked the second straight time that a two-stage Thor-Able rocket had successfully sent a recoverable package to a target at intercontinental range.

Another nose cone was retrieved from the same area April 8. It followed six unsuccessful Thor-Able re-entry tests.

The knob-shaped nose cone recovered Thursday could house a thermonuclear warhead for intercontinental-range missiles of the future. Among them are the Titan and Minuteman.

This cone crowned the powerful Thor-Able rocket when it blazed off the cape at 1:40 a.m. Thursday. A C54 search plane sighted the package as it hurtled back through the earth's atmosphere at 15,000 miles an hour.

Southern Baptists Elect Prohibitionist

Delegates Reject Charges Against Their Theologians

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Southern Baptists Thursday elected a Tennessee prohibitionist as president, and swept aside efforts to discredit the teachings in their senior seminary.

In the final vote of a wide-open election, the Rev. Dr. W. Ramsey Pollard of Knoxville was chosen to head the nine-million-member denomination. An athletically built man of 56, he's noted as an eloquent evangelist.

"Alcohol is the greatest curse in America at this time," he told a news conference. He said he favored a return to prohibition.

Moments after the election, the convention of about 15,000 Baptists was jolted by charges that their theologians condoned ideas classifying "the Virgin birth and resurrection of Jesus in the category of myths."

The Rev. James S. Bulman, East Spender, N.C., cited material in a Southern Baptist Theological Seminary publication which he said showed its professors are not upholding traditional beliefs.

This is "a malicious distortion untruth," replied Dr. Duke K. McCall, seminary president.

When Dr. Bulman sought more time to air his criticism, shouts of "No! no!" and "sit down!" rose in the big Fairgrounds Coliseum. With several "messengers" trying in vain to get the floor, the convention then voted overwhelmingly to accept a seminiary report, which allowed it to continue functioning under its trustees without inerference.

Dr. Bulman said he had wanted to test whether Southern Baptists should continue supporting the 100-year-old seminary. The school, located here, is the oldest in the denomination.

The convention postponed for a year consideration of a constitutional amendment allowing Canadian Baptist churches to affiliate with the Southern Baptists.

Baer Is Named State Senator

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Aaron A. Baer, Baltimore attorney who figured in a controversial list of green bag appointments by Gov. Tawes last March, will be the new state senator from Baltimore's Fifth District, the governor's office announced Thursday.

He will succeed Philip H. Goodman, who resigned from the Senate following his election as president of the Baltimore City Council. The appointment becomes effective Friday.

Baer was recommended to Tawes by the 5th District Democratic State Central Committee, controlled by Baltimore faction boss James H. (Jack) Pollack. Under the constitution, the governor must follow the committee's recommendation.

Tawes had named Baer to the Traffic Court earlier this year but withdrew the nomination in the wake of an election rout of the Pollack-Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro forces in the Baltimore City primary.

Baer had been one of the central figures in Baltimore's 1954 off-street parking scandals. He was indicted on a charge of conspiring to defraud the city in negotiations for a parking facility but was acquitted.

W.Va. Murder Suspect Given Long Sentence

CHICAGO (AP)—An ex-convict charged with two murders in West Virginia was sentenced in criminal court Thursday to 10 to 20 years imprisonment on his plea of guilty to charges of burglary and assault to kill in Chicago.

Judge Alfred J. Cilella imposed the sentence on Nick Petrou, 53, who on March 23 confessed, police say, fatally shooting Mrs. Frances Laughlin, 44, wife of a Clarksburg, W. Va., dentist, and her maid, Jo Ann Bland, during an attempted robbery of the Laughlin home April 27, 1955.

Frank Ferlic, first assistant state's attorney, refused before Petrou's trial to turn the man over to West Virginia police.

"We knew we could convict him on the assault to kill charge," Ferlic said Thursday, "but if we had surrendered him to West Virginia and he is acquitted there, we wouldn't be able to extradite him later because he wouldn't be a fugitive from justice."

Ferlic said West Virginia authorities could gain custody of Petrou by petitioning the courts during or right after he serves the sentence imposed Thursday, or petition for his custody through the office of Gov. William G. Stratton.

Last Jan. 22 Petrou and an accomplice, Clem Pakaris, 29, of Chicago, broke into the Chicago apartment of Petrou's former wife, Cora, and, returning later, threatened to kill both Cora and her present husband, Eugene Christofles, 32. In a melee which followed, Petrou was shot and both he and Pakaris were picked up by police.

Coast Guard Rescues 13 From Sailboat

DETROIT (UPI) — A Coast Guard cutter Thursday rescued 13 persons, including 5 teen-aged girls, who were stranded overnight in a 26-foot sailboat that ran aground in storm-tossed Lake St. Clair.

Four Coast Guard boats had hunted through the night for the missing green and white auxiliary sloop, The Hobo.

Shortly after daybreak, planes spotted the boat aground in 30 inches of water about a mile and a half south of Strawberry Island. An Air Force helicopter hovered over the boat until the cutter Maple arrived.

The Coast Guard said the youngsters all of Grosse Pointe, Mich., appeared to be in good condition.

Tax Agent Shot In Raid On Still

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP)—A Federal tax agent was critically wounded Thursday in a raid on a moonshine still near Mechanicsville, St. Mary's County. In the same hospital is a man who was at the still when the raid took place with a bullet wound in his leg.

The T-man, John R. Brown, 42, of Washington, was in St. Mary's Hospital here with a shotgun wound in the stomach.

Officers said the farmhouse of John T. Hawkins, 50, Negro, was under surveillance through last night.

About midnight two persons left the house and were stopped. Eighteen gallons of moonshine were found in the car and confiscated.

The agents then rushed back to get a search and seize warrant and moved in on the farmhouse about 8 a.m.

Police said they arrested Hawkins and his wife after finding a 150-gallon still and about 1,000 gallons of whisky mash.

During the search of the farmhouse, Brown was shot at point-blank range. Agent Herman Soudie shot Hawkins in the left leg after Brown was wounded.

Martin Gets Contract For Portable A-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Martin Co., Baltimore, Thursday was given a contract to design and build an atomic-powered electricity and heating plant which can be knocked down and transported by airplane.

The Atomic Energy Commission estimated the cost-plus-fixed-fee contract would run to $5,387,450. The Martin Co. was selected from among nine companies which submitted proposals in response to an invitation issued last October.

The Air Force, which jointly with the AEC is financing the project, wants a plant of factory-assembled units which could be flown to a remote site and quickly assembled and could be easily disassembled and moved to a new site.

Akron Rubber Workers Feeling Pinch Of Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Pocketbooks of 14,550 rubber workers here are beginning to feel the pinch of a 36-day strike.

Relief rolls are growing. Banks report a brisk run on savings accounts and much cashing of savings bonds.

The strike started April 16. Some 18,000 workers at eight Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plants; and 14,000 at eight B. F. Goodrich Co. plants walked off jobs in 14 cities spread through 10 states. Nearly half of the 32,000 are concentrated here.

The strikers seek improved pensions, insurance, working conditions, and supplemental unemployment benefits. Wages are not an issue.

Clyde Falor, relief director in this rubber industry center of 310,000 population, said there hasn't been such a demand for relief since 1954, when the United Rubber Workers struck Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. for 54 days and Firestone for 18 days.

Falor said the city is paying out $250 a day to help feed strikers. He expects that figure to double next week.

The maximum city relief payment to a family—and some include as many as nine children—is $44.42 a week. Union strike relief benefits are deducted from the city payments.

Union benefits, which were not paid until the third week of a strike, go up to $15 a week for strikers at Goodrich and to $12 at Firestone.

Almost half of the striking union members here do not qualify for the strike funds, which are paid only on the basis of the workers' needs. Strikers who have found part-time jobs or have other sources of income may not draw on the union's funds.

Al Palmer, president of the 8,000-member Goodrich Local 5, said strike benefits averaging $11 a week were paid to 3,608 workers in the first week of May, and to 4,267 the second week.

Another result of the strike is a sizable number of requests for extensions on loans and mortgages.

In most cases, payments are being set back to two weeks after the strike ends. The union reports creditors are cooperative in deferring payments.

Negotiations to end the longest strike in Goodrich history are continuing in Canton, Ohio. Firestone and the United Rubber Workers Union are bargaining in Cleveland.

U.S. Steel Head Sees No Price Cuts This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Roger Blough of U.S. Steel Corp. said Thursday he doubts there will be any steel price cuts this year. He urged against any increase in either steel labor costs or prices.

Blough said U.S. Steel tried to cut its prices in 1948. It actually reduced prices $1 to $5 a ton, he said, but other steel firms didn't follow suit. The result was that steel wages were hiked and prices boosted above their former level, he added.

"Having had that kind of experience," Blough told a National Press Club audience, "I doubt very much whether we'd want to undertake it again."

Blough's speech and answers to questions revolved around the current steel cnntract negotiations in New York. The Steelworkers Union is demanding substantial contract improvements when present agreements expire on June 30. Otherwise, an industrywide strike is in prospect.

The top executive of the nation's largest steel producer again urged that the Steelworkers forego any labor cost changes for a year while the industry, at least U.S. Steel, avoids further price boosts.

"We have no desire and certainly no present intentions of increasing our general level of steel prices," Blough said, speaking for U.S. Steel. "And I sincerely hope that future events will enable us to maintain that position."

Baer Is Named State Senator

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Aaron A. Baer, Baltimore attorney who figured in a controversial list of green bag appointments by Gov. Tawes last March, will be the new state senator from Baltimore's Fifth District, the governor's office announced Thursday.

He will succeed Philip H. Goodman, who resigned from the Senate following his election as president of the Baltimore City Council. The appointment becomes effective Friday.

Baer was recommended to Tawes by the 5th District Democratic State Central Committee, controlled by Baltimore faction boss James H. (Jack) Pollack. Under the constitution, the governor must follow the committee's recommendation.

Tawes had named Baer to the Traffic Court earlier this year but withdrew the nomination in the wake of an election rout of the Pollack-Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro forces in the Baltimore City primary.

Baer had been one of the central figures in Baltimore's 1954 off-street parking scandals. He was indicted on a charge of conspiring to defraud the city in negotiations for a parking facility but was acquitted.

W.Va. Murder Suspect Given Long Sentence

CHICAGO (AP)—An ex-convict charged with two murders in West Virginia was sentenced in criminal court Thursday to 10 to 20 years imprisonment on his plea of guilty to charges of burglary and assault to kill in Chicago.

Judge Alfred J. Cilella imposed the sentence on Nick Petrou, 53, who on March 23 confessed, police say, fatally shooting Mrs. Frances Laughlin, 44, wife of a Clarksburg, W. Va., dentist, and her maid, Jo Ann Bland, during an attempted robbery of the Laughlin home April 27, 1955.

Frank Ferlic, first assistant state's attorney, refused before Petrou's trial to turn the man over to West Virginia police.

"We knew we could convict him on the assault to kill charge," Ferlic said Thursday, "but if we had surrendered him to West Virginia and he is acquitted there, we wouldn't be able to extradite him later because he wouldn't be a fugitive from justice."

Ferlic said West Virginia authorities could gain custody of Petrou by petitioning the courts during or right after he serves the sentence imposed Thursday, or petition for his custody through the office of Gov. William G. Stratton.

Last Jan. 22 Petrou and an accomplice, Clem Pakaris, 29, of Chicago, broke into the Chicago apartment of Petrou's former wife, Cora, and, returning later, threatened to kill both Cora and her present husband, Eugene Christofles, 32. In a melee which followed, Petrou was shot and both he and Pakaris were picked up by police.

Coast Guard Rescues 13 From Sailboat

DETROIT (UPI) — A Coast Guard cutter Thursday rescued 13 persons, including 5 teen-aged girls, who were stranded overnight in a 26-foot sailboat that ran aground in storm-tossed Lake St. Clair.

Four Coast Guard boats had hunted through the night for the missing green and white auxiliary sloop, The Hobo.

Shortly after daybreak, planes spotted the boat aground in 30 inches of water about a mile and a half south of Strawberry Island. An Air Force helicopter hovered over the boat until the cutter Maple arrived.

The Coast Guard said the youngsters all of Grosse Pointe, Mich., appeared to be in good condition.

Tunnel Traffic Up

BALTIMORE (AP)—More than 32,000 vehicles used the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel every day last month.

The State Roads Commission reported Thursday that 979,926 cars, trucks and buses passed through the tunnel during April, a 21 per cent increase over the corresponding month a year ago.

Tax Agent Shot In Raid On Still

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP)—A Federal tax agent was critically wounded Thursday in a raid on a moonshine still near Mechanicsville, St. Mary's County. In the same hospital is a man who was at the still when the raid took place with a bullet wound in his leg.

The T-man, John R. Brown, 42, of Washington, was in St. Mary's Hospital here with a shotgun wound in the stomach.

Officers said the farmhouse of John T. Hawkins, 50, Negro, was under surveillance through last night.

About midnight two persons left the house and were stopped. Eighteen gallons of moonshine were found in the car and confiscated.

The agents then rushed back to get a search and seize warrant and moved in on the farmhouse about 8 a.m.

Police said they arrested Hawkins and his wife after finding a 150-gallon still and about 1,000 gallons of whisky mash.

During the search of the farmhouse, Brown was shot at point-blank range. Agent Herman Soudie shot Hawkins in the left leg after Brown was wounded.

Oriole Fans Let Off Steam Wrong Way

BALTIMORE (AP)—Chet and Sam Weaver, a couple of too-loyal Baltimore Orioles baseball fans, tipped over trash cans on a downtown street.

Chet, 18, and Sam, 17, told the magistrate in court Thursday they were mad because the Chicago White Sox beat the Orioles Wednesday night and they wanted to let off steam.

Magistrate Joseph Kolodny sentenced them to go to church each Sunday for six months.

Contest Winners Must Pay Md. Tax Within 60 Days

BALTIMORE (AP)—Marylanders who strike it rich in quiz shows, lotteries, contests and slot machines after June 1 will have to pay state taxes on their winnings within 60 days.

Under the act passed by the 1959 General Assembly, all persons who win $500 or more must declare the income within 60 days and accompany the declaration with a cash payment of taxes.

Benjamin F. Marsh, chief of the income tax division, said in the past a contest winner didn't have any money to pay his taxes by the time the regular April 15 deadline rolled around.

Martin Gets Contract For Portable A-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Martin Co., Baltimore, Thursday was given a contract to design and build an atomic-powered electricity and heating plant which can be knocked down and transported by airplane.

The Atomic Energy Commission estimated the cost-plus-fixed-fee contract would run to $5,387,450. The Martin Co. was selected from among nine companies which submitted proposals in response to an invitation issued last October.

The Air Force, which jointly with the AEC is financing the project, wants a plant of factory-assembled units which could be flown to a remote site and quickly assembled and could be easily disassembled and moved to a new site.

Akron Rubber Workers Feeling Pinch Of Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Pocketbooks of 14,550 rubber workers here are beginning to feel the pinch of a 36-day strike.

Relief rolls are growing. Banks report a brisk run on savings accounts and much cashing of savings bonds.

The strike started April 16. Some 18,000 workers at eight Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plants; and 14,000 at eight B. F. Goodrich Co. plants walked off jobs in 14 cities spread through 10 states. Nearly half of the 32,000 are concentrated here.

The strikers seek improved pensions, insurance, working conditions, and supplemental unemployment benefits. Wages are not an issue.

Clyde Falor, relief director in this rubber industry center of 310,000 population, said there hasn't been such a demand for relief since 1954, when the United Rubber Workers struck Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. for 54 days and Firestone for 18 days.

Falor said the city is paying out $250 a day to help feed strikers. He expects that figure to double next week.

The maximum city relief payment to a family—and some include as many as nine children—is $44.42 a week. Union strike relief benefits are deducted from the city payments.

Union benefits, which were not paid until the third week of a strike, go up to $15 a week for strikers at Goodrich and to $12 at Firestone.

Almost half of the striking union members here do not qualify for the strike funds, which are paid only on the basis of the workers' needs. Strikers who have found part-time jobs or have other sources of income may not draw on the union's funds.

Al Palmer, president of the 8,000-member Goodrich Local 5, said strike benefits averaging $11 a week were paid to 3,608 workers in the first week of May, and to 4,267 the second week.

Another result of the strike is a sizable number of requests for extensions on loans and mortgages.

In most cases, payments are being set back to two weeks after the strike ends. The union reports creditors are cooperative in deferring payments.

Negotiations to end the longest strike in Goodrich history are continuing in Canton, Ohio. Firestone and the United Rubber Workers Union are bargaining in Cleveland.

U.S. Steel Head Sees No Price Cuts This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Roger Blough of U.S. Steel Corp. said Thursday he doubts there will be any steel price cuts this year. He urged against any increase in either steel labor costs or prices.

Blough said U.S. Steel tried to cut its prices in 1948. It actually reduced prices $1 to $5 a ton, he said, but other steel firms didn't follow suit. The result was that steel wages were hiked and prices boosted above their former level, he added.

"Having had that kind of experience," Blough told a National Press Club audience, "I doubt very much whether we'd want to undertake it again."

Blough's speech and answers to questions revolved around the current steel cnntract negotiations in New York. The Steelworkers Union is demanding substantial contract improvements when present agreements expire on June 30. Otherwise, an industrywide strike is in prospect.

The top executive of the nation's largest steel producer again urged that the Steelworkers forego any labor cost changes for a year while the industry, at least U.S. Steel, avoids further price boosts.

"We have no desire and certainly no present intentions of increasing our general level of steel prices," Blough said, speaking for U.S. Steel. "And I sincerely hope that future events will enable us to maintain that position."

Archbishop Keough Given Honorary Title By Pope

BALTIMORE (AP)—Archbishop Francis P. Keough of Baltimore received a high honorary title from Pope John XXIII today as a gift on the 25th anniversary of his elevation to the episcopacy.

The title of Archbishop Assistant at the Pontifical Throne accompanied a personal message of congratulations from the head of the Roman Catholic Church in Rome.

Archbishop Keough came to Baltimore 12 years ago from Providence, R. I.

He sang his own mass of thanksgiving in the Cathedral which is the nation's premier See.

Four archbishops and more than a score of bishops were among the hundreds of clerymen and laymen who filled the church to pay tribute to him. The archdiocese embraces Catholic churches in all of Maryland but a portion of the Eastern Shore.

An old friend, Bishop Lawrence J. Shehan of Bridgeport, Conn., preached the sermon.

"You carry in your arms," he said, "the sheaves of many a rich priestly and episcopal harvest."

Archbishops present were Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington, D. C., John J. Swint of Wheeling, W. Va., Joseph P. Hurley of St. Augustine, Fla., and Thomas J. Toolen of Mobile-Birmingham, Ala.

Patuxent Director To Meet With Tawes

BALTIMORE (AP) — The director of the Patuxent Institution will meet with Gov. Tawes early next month to review criticism leveled at the institution for defective delinquents by state budget officials.

The director, Dr. Harold M. Boslow, said Thursday he would see the governor as soon as Tawes returns from a European trip he is beginning Friday.

In the meantime, Boslow will meet with the Patuxent advisory board to consider a report to the governor that budget officials made public Wednesday.

Budget officials listed a number of shortcomings of the prison, including a statement that officials who run it aren't "security minded."

Solvent's Use To Clean Planes Ordered Halted

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Navy Thursday ordered a halt in the use of a cleaning solvent believed to have caused the explosion and fire in a Martin Co. hangar that left five men dead and five others injured.

Capt. Henry Romberg, Naval Bureau of Aeronautics representative at Martin, issued the directive after stating that vaporized cleaning fluids caused the blast.

The workers were using the fluid to scour a P5M2 Marlin antisubmarine patrol seaplane when the explosion occurred yesterday.

More than a dozen investigators, led by Capt. Romberg, gathered at the hangar in an effort to find out what ignited the vapors.

Romberg said the cleaning solvent, used in interior hull cleaning, was acquired by Martin officials and not the Navy, but that its ingredients are chemically similar to all other such fluids.

He said that in cleaning other Marlins a different method of cleaning or, a different solvent may have to be used. He added that other phases of the cleaning operation will not be interrupted and that 87 similar jobs have been completed on other seaplanes without incident.

BONANNO GRABBED—Joe Bonanno, one of the men who attended the Apalachin meeting, was picked up early yesterday by two federal narcotics agents and five Tucson, Ariz., police officers. Bonanno was arraigned on charges of obstructing justice. Escorting him to the federal building is detective Frank Zunno. Twenty-seven delegates to the 1957 Apalachin, N. Y., underworld conclave have been indicted for defying the government's attempts to determine its purpose. (AP Photofax)

Sen. Scott Urges Funds Restored For Battlefield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) Thursday urged a Senate appropriations subcommittee to restore funds for purchase of more land for the Gettysburg, Pa., battlefield park.

Scott told the committee that a $750,000 sum stricken by the House seems to him a "reasonable figure under present-day costs" for acquiring the properties.

"I am as sincere as I am sure this committee is in wanting to balance the budget and eliminate unnecessary spending in our Federal government," Scott said.

"But I do not think we should slight or curtail necessary projects or work that involves the stability and welfare of our public institutions."

Scott was the latest in a string of Pennsylvanians and others to urge the committee to approve funds to halt commercial encroachment at the Gettysburg park.

Scott said he has a double interest in preserving the site both as a Pennsylvanian and as a native Virginian.

"My patriotic interest in Gettysburg encompasses both sides of the battle which eventually welded us into a stronger brotherhood," Scott said.

The $750,000 is part of a 1¼ million dollar fund included originally in the Interior Department appropriation bill for purchase of land both at Gettysburg and Manassas, Va., battlefield."

The U.S. Park Service wants to acquire at least 600 acres at Gettysburg.

Man Fasts To Death After His Wife Dies

BALTIMORE (AP) — An elderly man who told police he hadn't eaten since his wife died April 13 died last night with $1,500 in cash in his pockets and $2,000 in the bank.

Mercy Hospital said Kornilo Katzko, 79, was suffering from malnutrition when admitted to the hospital late yesterday. Police quoted him that he hadn't eaten since his wife's death because he "didn't feel good."

Thin and haggard, Katzko said he "drank some water once in a while" but ate nothing.

Man Strangled, Body Strung Up On School Porch

BALTIMORE (AP)—The body of a man beaten in the face was found Thursday morning hanging by a belt from the porch railing of a school.

Northwestern District police said the medical examiner's report stated the murdered victim was strangled manually before his own belt was placed around his throat. He had two black eyes and cuts in the mouth and nose.

Police said the slightly built man in his early 30s carried a social security card with the name William Mayfield.

A janitor came across the body about 6:30 a.m. at School No. 138 at Harlem Avenue and Monroe Street.

It was hanging from the wooden railing of a classroom addition. The victim had reddish hair and was dressed in dungarees and a work shirt.

Trio Honored By State Police

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — A state police lieutenant and two young civilians were commended Thursday for their part in the capture last December of two New Jersey men wanted for murder.

Lt. C. C. Serman, commander of the Salisbury barracks, and Roland Davis, 21, and Howard Williams, 19, both of Salisbury, were honored at a departmental meeting of troop and barracks commanders and division heads.

Lt. Serman was wounded in separate gun battles with the two fugitives and police said information from Davis and Williams aided materially in the capture near Salisbury Dec. 20, 1958.

Davis was unable to attend the presentation ceremony.

The fugitives, Frank R. Biegenwald and James R. Sparnroft, later signed a statement admitting the murder of an assistant city prosecutor in Bayonne, N.J., and were returned to New Jersey after waiving extradition.

Archbishop Keough Given Honorary Title By Pope

BALTIMORE (AP)—Archbishop Francis P. Keough of Baltimore received a high honorary title from Pope John XXIII today as a gift on the 25th anniversary of his elevation to the episcopacy.

The title of Archbishop Assistant at the Pontifical Throne accompanied a personal message of congratulations from the head of the Roman Catholic Church in Rome.

Archbishop Keough came to Baltimore 12 years ago from Providence, R. I.

He sang his own mass of thanksgiving in the Cathedral which is the nation's premier See.

Four archbishops and more than a score of bishops were among the hundreds of clerymen and laymen who filled the church to pay tribute to him. The archdiocese embraces Catholic churches in all of Maryland but a portion of the Eastern Shore.

An old friend, Bishop Lawrence J. Shehan of Bridgeport, Conn., preached the sermon.

"You carry in your arms," he said, "the sheaves of many a rich priestly and episcopal harvest."

Patuxent Director To Meet With Tawes

BALTIMORE (AP) — The director of the Patuxent Institution will meet with Gov. Tawes early next month to review criticism leveled at the institution for defective delinquents by state budget officials.

The director, Dr. Harold M. Boslow, said Thursday he would see the governor as soon as Tawes returns from a European trip he is beginning Friday.

In the meantime, Boslow will meet with the Patuxent advisory board to consider a report to the governor that budget officials made public Wednesday.

Budget officials listed a number of shortcomings of the prison, including a statement that officials who run it aren't "security minded."

Solvent's Use To Clean Planes Ordered Halted

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Navy Thursday ordered a halt in the use of a cleaning solvent believed to have caused the explosion and fire in a Martin Co. hangar that left five men dead and five others injured.

Capt. Henry Romberg, Naval Bureau of Aeronautics representative at Martin, issued the directive after stating that vaporized cleaning fluids caused the blast.

The workers were using the fluid to scour a P5M2 Marlin antisubmarine patrol seaplane when the explosion occurred yesterday.

More than a dozen investigators, led by Capt. Romberg, gathered at the hangar in an effort to find out what ignited the vapors.

Romberg said the cleaning solvent, used in interior hull cleaning, was acquired by Martin officials and not the Navy, but that its ingredients are chemically similar to all other such fluids.

He said that in cleaning other Marlins a different method of cleaning or, a different solvent may have to be used. He added that other phases of the cleaning operation will not be interrupted and that 87 similar jobs have been completed on other seaplanes without incident.

BONANNO GRABBED—Joe Bonanno, one of the men who attended the Apalachin meeting, was picked up early yesterday by two federal narcotics agents and five Tucson, Ariz., police officers. Bonanno was arraigned on charges of obstructing justice. Escorting him to the federal building is detective Frank Zunno. Twenty-seven delegates to the 1957 Apalachin, N. Y., underworld conclave have been indicted for defying the government's attempts to determine its purpose. (AP Photofax)

Man Strangled, Body Strung Up On School Porch

BALTIMORE (AP)—The body of a man beaten in the face was found Thursday morning hanging by a belt from the porch railing of a school.

Northwestern District police said the medical examiner's report stated the murdered victim was strangled manually before his own belt was placed around his throat. He had two black eyes and cuts in the mouth and nose.

Police said the slightly built man in his early 30s carried a social security card with the name William Mayfield.

A janitor came across the body about 6:30 a.m. at School No. 138 at Harlem Avenue and Monroe Street.

It was hanging from the wooden railing of a classroom addition. The victim had reddish hair and was dressed in dungarees and a work shirt.

Trio Honored By State Police

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — A state police lieutenant and two young civilians were commended Thursday for their part in the capture last December of two New Jersey men wanted for murder.

Lt. C. C. Serman, commander of the Salisbury barracks, and Roland Davis, 21, and Howard Williams, 19, both of Salisbury, were honored at a departmental meeting of troop and barracks commanders and division heads.

Lt. Serman was wounded in separate gun battles with the two fugitives and police said information from Davis and Williams aided materially in the capture near Salisbury Dec. 20, 1958.

Davis was unable to attend the presentation ceremony.

The fugitives, Frank R. Biegelwald and James R. Sparnroft, later signed a statement admitting the murder of an assistant city prosecutor in Bayonne, N.J., and were returned to New Jersey after waiving extradition.

Sen. Scott Urges Funds Restored For Battlefield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) Thursday urged a Senate appropriations subcommittee to restore funds for purchase of more land for the Gettysburg, Pa., battlefield park.

Scott told the committee that a $750,000 sum stricken by the House seems to him a "reasonable figure under present-day costs" for acquiring the properties.

"I am as sincere as I am sure this committee is in wanting to balance the budget and eliminate unnecessary spending in our Federal government," Scott said.

"But I do not think we should slight or curtail necessary projects or work that involves the stability and welfare of our public institutions."

Scott was the latest in a string of Pennsylvanians and others to urge the committee to approve funds to halt commercial encroachment at the Gettysburg park.

Scott said he has a double interest in preserving the site both as a Pennsylvanian and as a native Virginian.

"My patriotic interest in Gettysburg encompasses both sides of the battle which eventually welded us into a stronger brotherhood," Scott said.

The $750,000 is part of a 1¼ million dollar fund included originally in the Interior Department appropriation bill for purchase of land both at Gettysburg and Manassas, Va., battlefield."

The U.S. Park Service wants to acquire at least 600 acres at Gettysburg.

Man Fasts To Death After His Wife Dies

BALTIMORE (AP) — An elderly man who told police he hadn't eaten since his wife died April 13 died last night with $1,500 in cash in his pockets and $2,000 in the bank.

Mercy Hospital said Kornilo Katzko, 79, was suffering from malnutrition when admitted to the hospital late yesterday. Police quoted him that he hadn't eaten since his wife's death because he "didn't feel good."

Thin and haggard, Katzko said he "drank some water once in a while" but ate nothing.

Dance Tonight

PTA Gives Mrs. Lakin Membership

Centre Street PTA honored Mrs. Elizabeth House Lakin, fourth grade teacher, and had a safety program at the meeting last evening. Mrs. Arthur Howard presided and on behalf of the group presented a life membership, certificate and pin to Mrs. Lakin together with a letter of congratulations from the state president, in "appreciation and gratitude for her work for the children." The money from the membership is used by the state scholarship fund to train teachers.

A graduate of Flintstone High School and Frostburg State Normal School, Mrs. Lakin attended Western Maryland College to work on her degree and received her Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education from the University of Maryland. She now is finishing her 28th year in the teaching profession, having taught 16 years at Pennsylvania Avenue School and five at Centre Street, besides Friendsville Elementary, Garrett County, Flintstone School and Union Street School.

Mrs. Lakin comes from a family intensely interested in education. Her son, Arthur, Jr., is guidance councilor of Blandensburg Junior High School, Prince George's County. Her father was one of the group which brought about the consolidated school for Flintstone. One of four children of James R. and Mary J. House, Mrs. Lakin's brother, James House is agriculture and shop instructor at Oldtown High School; a sister, Mrs. Mildred H. Gottschalk, is primary teacher at Franklin Elementary School, Reistertown, and another sister, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, is primary teacher at Flintstone school.

Using the theme, "It Is Smart To Be Guilty of Safety," members of the PTA had a fashion parade with their hats representing hazards in the home, like a burning home with a frayed electric cord. Mrs. Roma Preman, third grade teacher, was fashion commentator. Taking part were Mrs. Harry Nixon, Mrs. Paul Chorpenning, Mrs. John Oglebay, Mrs. Willard Miller, Mrs. Herman Bowman and Mrs. William Wilson. Safety posters were used as a background.

The musical program included solos by Miss Sally Lance, music resource teacher in the Frostburg area; and the PTA Choral Group sang well known tunes with original safety words, spring and summer selections. Mrs. Samuel Clark conducted the devotions.

PTA Gives Mrs. Lakin Membership

Centre Street PTA honored Mrs. Elizabeth House Lakin, fourth grade teacher, and had a safety program at the meeting last evening. Mrs. Arthur Howard presided and on behalf of the group presented a life membership, certificate and pin to Mrs. Lakin together with a letter of congratulations from the state president, in "appreciation and gratitude for her work for the children." The money from the membership is used by the state scholarship fund to train teachers.

A graduate of Flintstone High School and Frostburg State Normal School, Mrs. Lakin attended Western Maryland College to work on her degree and received her Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education from the University of Maryland. She now is finishing her 28th year in the teaching profession, having taught 16 years at Pennsylvania Avenue School and five at Centre Street, besides Friendsville Elementary, Garrett County, Flintstone School and Union Street School.

Mrs. Lakin comes from a family intensely interested in education. Her son, Arthur, Jr., is guidance councilor of Blandensburg Junior High School, Prince George's County. Her father was one of the group which brought about the consolidated school for Flintstone. One of four children of James R. and Mary J. House, Mrs. Lakin's brother, James House is agriculture and shop instructor at Oldtown High School; a sister, Mrs. Mildred H. Gottschalk, is primary teacher at Franklin Elementary School, Reistertown, and another sister, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, is primary teacher at Flintstone school.

Using the theme, "It Is Smart To Be Guilty of Safety," members of the PTA had a fashion parade with their hats representing hazards in the home, like a burning home with a frayed electric cord. Mrs. Roma Preman, third grade teacher, was fashion commentator. Taking part were Mrs. Harry Nixon, Mrs. Paul Chorpenning, Mrs. John Oglebay, Mrs. Willard Miller, Mrs. Herman Bowman and Mrs. William Wilson. Safety posters were used as a background.

The musical program included solos by Miss Sally Lance, music resource teacher in the Frostburg area; and the PTA Choral Group sang well known tunes with original safety words, spring and summer selections. Mrs. Samuel Clark conducted the devotions.

Lt. Commander and Mrs. Elvin Diehl and two daughters, White Sands Proving Grounds, New Mexico, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, Braddock Road.

Television Director Does Own Photography For "Space" Show

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television Director William A. Graham didn't like the available film footage of what the earth would look like to a spaceman heading for home after a trip to the outer regions, so he went aloft and did his own photography.

"In a helicopter, not a space rocket," he explained. "After all, the effect is the same picture-wise as you're dropping toward the ground, and a helicopter trip is a lot cheaper. And I felt a lot safer."

This was all part of the routine work of preparing an ambitious one-hour dramatized documentary called "Space — Man's Last Frontier" which will be available at 5 p.m. e.d.t. next Sunday on the NBC network.

"The entire show has been recorded on video tape and on film," Graham said, "and we will feature a simulated manned flight of hundreds of miles into space and a successful re-entry into the atmosphere and a safe landing."

Recorded In Brooklyn

This phase of the program was recorded in a Brooklyn studio, with an actor impersonating a spaceman and with the use of a realistic reproduction of a rocket.

"We will show what a spaceman can be expected to see as he zooms into space and what he will see when he starts back toward the earth," Graham said. "The idea is to illustrate the steps that will go into the eventual establishment of a manned space satellite."

The program is part of the dedication ceremonies of the $23,000,000 Avco Research Center in Wilmington, Mass. Avco has developed a nose cone that can withstand the tremendous heat of atmospheric re-entry from outer space, and this development and its importance to probing the "last frontier" will be demonstrated.

Among scientists and officials who will appear on the program are Dr. James R. Killian Jr., special assistant to President Eisenhower for science and technology; Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schreiver, newly appointed chief of the Air Force's Air Research and Development Command; Dr. Arthur Kantrowitz, a pioneer in gas dynamics research; Gen. Samuel F. Anderson, chief of the Air Force's Air Material command, and Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the national Aeronautics and Space Administration.

At "Omnibus" Time

Those viewers who thought they heard the "Omnibus" series bid its seasonal farewell a couple of weeks ago shouldn't be confused by the credits for this show, which is in the accustomed "Omnibus" time. "Omnibus" is through for this season. But Director Graham is the regular "Omnibus" director, Alistair Cooke of that show will narrate the space program and the affair has been produced by Robert Saudek Associates, the "Omnibus" parent.

As usual at this time of year, the status of "Omnibus" for next season has not been determined. Air time and sponsor details have to be resolved. Regardless of the outcome, the Saudek organization has commitments to produce several big specials next season.

Hawaii's Labor Unions Gird For Political Battle

By FREDERICK Y. SMITH

HONOLULU (UPI) — Hawaii's labor unions, representing more than a quarter of the total civilian work force in the islands, are flexing their muscles to win more political power with the advent of statehood.

It is the AFL-CIO which feels it has the greatest gains to win with the arrival of statehood. Walters K. Eli, president of the union's Committee on Political Education (COPE), has already started readying his forces for the statehood election this summer.

Eli has said that the AFL-CIO may have a "surprising influence" in the elections. In preparing for them, the national union is showing more interest in Hawaii's locals than heretofore, and recently sent William McSorley, assistant director of the national COPE, out from Washington to help Hawaii map its campaign.

Union officials have announced no special objectives in their quest for political power, other than the obvious one of wanting public officials who are sympathetic to labor's problems. But the rumblings of the heretofore widely divided AFL-CIO locals as they assemble into a cohesive political mass are certain to have their influence on a number of would-be legislators.

As the islands' second largest union in terms of size, with 16,000 members, the AFL-CIO can pack a punch in politics and apparently intends to.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, with 21,500 members — about one third of the total organized working forces in Hawaii—is taking Hawaii's statehood a little more easily than the AFL-CIO, mainly because the ILWU already is a political force of some dimensions in the islands, and long has been.

Another influential group is the Hawaii Government Employees Association, with 9,500 members. This union, combined with the 5,000-member Hawaii Education Association, won from the latest territorial legislature pay raises for teachers and government workers that ran as high as $75 a month.

These two groups expected to continue to make themselves heard, and possibly more strongly than ever, when statehood arrives.

NEW BOMB HURLER MAKES DEBUT—An airman wheels up a new practice bomb dispenser for loading at the Eglin Air Force Base in Florida. The machine can hurl nuclear bombs out of the belly of a Mach II (twice the speed of sound) fighter-bomber with 30,000 pounds or more of force. The new Republic Aviation Corporation's pneumatic-tube bomb hurler is necessary because tremendous air pressure flowing past a plane traveling at such speed would either force the bomb back into the bomb bay of a fighter-bomber or bounce it along the bottom of the fuselage if an attempt were made to "drop" a bomb in the conventional manner. John Shea Dies In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — John R. Shea, works manager at the Point Breeze plant of the Western Electric Co. in Baltimore from 1939 to 1950, died at his home here Wednesday. He was 73.

Shea was born in Fisk, Wisc., and educated at the University of Wisconsin. He joined Western Electric at the firm's Hawthorne plant in Chicago in 1909 and was with the company continuously until his retirement in 1950.

Shea spent about two years immediately after World War I with Nippon Electric in Tokyo and China Electric in Shanghai, both then subsidiaries of Western Electric.

He transferred to the Kearney, N. J., branch as assistant engineer of manufacturing in 1929 and came to Baltimore in 1939 as works manager.

Survivors include his widow, the former Helen Latus, a daughter and two sons.

A requiem mass will be sung at Emaculate Conception Church, Towson, Friday with burial at Mount Maria Cemetery in Towson

Budget Bureau Hits Patuxent Operation

BALTIMORE (AP) — Officials who run the Patuxent Institution for Defective Delinquents aren't "security minded," according to state budget officials.

They issued a report Wednesday to Gov. Tawes pointing out what they termed shortcomings in the way the prison is operated. It came against the background of the April 5 mass escape of 34 inmates. All were recaptured.

The report did not mention any official by name. Dr. Harold M. Boslow is director of the institution, a kind of model reform school for treating law-breaking delinquents with special emotional and mental problems.

The governor had asked the Budget Bureau for an analysis after Dr. Boslow issued a report on the April 5th incident.

Budget Director James G. Rennie and James P. Slicher, chief of the Budget Bureau, presumably cleared the report prepared by staff members.

The analysis of the Budget Bureau said custodial personnel at the institution is adequate for the present inmate population.

It criticized the lack of an associate director for custody and administration, saying this "has had a very bad effect on morale."

The institution should have a definite line of command "to avoid orders being issued and countermanded," the bureau said.

Referring to the mass escape in which two unarmed guards carrying several sets of keys were jumped, the report stated the guards should not have been carrying keys which unlocked outside doors.

PTA Will Give TV Long Look

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The Parent-Teachers Assn., potentially one of the most powerful pressure groups in the United States, is going to take a long, hard look at television.

"It's high time we stopped talking about the 13-year-old mentality of the average American," says Mrs. Eva Grant, editor of the National Parent-Teacher. "That is a myth, a more dangerous myth than anything they could dream up in the Kremlin about this country.

"Americans read good books, they like good plays—they're intelligent, cultured people. But you would never guess it by watching the programs they give us on TV."

The congress ended a four-day convention here Wednesday night. About 3,000 delegates attended.

Starting in September, the National Parent-Teacher, monthly magazine of the 11½-million-member organization, will monitor and evaluate television programs as a guide to parents.

Local P-TA units—and there are 45,200—will be urged to keep a sharp eye on the television screen and raise a rumpus about programs that "take you on a voyage into violence, give you an undistilled hour of horror."

Nearly one-fifth of the total standing timber in the United States is found in Oregon.

APPROVES EXPANSION

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The board of General Portland Cement Co. has approved an expansion and modernization program for the firm's various plans which will cost an estimated 17 million dollars it was announced.

"Americans read good books, they like good plays—they're intelligent, cultured people. But you would never guess it by watching the programs they give us on TV."

The congress ended a four-day convention here Wednesday night. About 3,000 delegates attended.

Starting in September, the National Parent-Teacher, monthly magazine of the 11½-million-member organization, will monitor and evaluate television programs as a guide to parents.

Local P-TA units—and there are 45,200—will be urged to keep a sharp eye on the television screen and raise a rumpus about programs that "take you on a voyage into violence, give you an undistilled hour of horror."

W.Va. License Tag Sale Lags Behind 1958

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The sale of license plates for West Virginia's motor vehicles is behind the 1958 pace, but Commissioner Hubert Kelly said Thursday he expected the tempo to pick up rapidly in the next two weeks.

Kelly said some 65,000 plates had been sold through Thursday compared with 134,000 for a similar period last year. He said there were several reasons for the lag.

Perhaps the biggest was the late mailing of applications to prospective customers. The Motor Vehicles head said this was caused by the hike in price by the last session of the Legislature, delaying the printing of applications.

"Then, there's the change in procedure on the county level regarding the payment of personal property taxes on automobiles, and trucks," the Commissioner said.

Kelly pointed out that this year the applicants need only a duplicae of their tax slip and not the little card as required in 1958.

"We have received many communications from license - holders on this count," he said. "Some still are waiting to receive their little cards."

Kelly said he had made no decision yet on the opening of extra windows or additional hours for department personnel to expedite the sale of license plates.

The 1959 Legislature put a flat fee on motor vehicle licenses. Those weighing under 3,000 pounds are $20, those above that figure $24 and those over 4,000 pounds, $30. In previous years, they were on a sliding scale by weight.

Plenty Of Bees At Her House

Mrs. Marie McGann had plenty of excitement at her house, 503 Fayette Street, the other day when a swarm of bees came for a visit. She is shown pointing to a vine around which they hovered. After some anxious moments, local apiarists arrived on the scene and removed the bees.

Man Returned Here On Check Charge

Deputies from the office of Allegany County Sheriff Paul Haberlein yesterday afternoon returned a man sought since 1954 on a charge of passing four bad checks in Cumberland while staying here for a short time.

Leon Edwards was picked up in Rockville yesterday and removed to the Allegany County Jail. He had been released the other day after serving a sentence on a federal charge in Atlanta, Ga.

Edwards left here in 1954 and shortly after he was convicted of a robbery charge in Washington, D.C.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said Edwards will be questioned today in the state's attorney's office.

Alligator Bites Fairgo Resident

News was made at Fairgo the other day when an alligator bit a man.

This really wasn't much of an alligator, only about 16 inches long. It didn't really injure the man, Norman VanMeter, but the teeth did make an impression on his hand.

It seems that the alligator had just been shipped here from Winter Park, Fla. The plans are for the alligator to be caged at VanMeter's Beach along Town Creek where the visitors can see him. When they got to examining the little alligator he became displeased and made an impression upon Mr. VanMeter's hand.

Credit Unions Elect Powell To State League

The Western Maryland Chapter of Federal Credit Unions, at a meeting this week in the conference room of the Cumberland B&O Employes Credit Union, elected Jack Powell as chapter representative to the Maryland Credit Union League.

Mr. Powell, who represents the Allegany-Garrett Postal Employes Federal Credit Union, told the chapter that his organization is planning to have its charter amended to include postal workers in Mineral County, W. Va.

There were 28 members at the meeting representing the B&O, Allegany County Teachers, Al-Gar, Luke Paper Mill, Tel-Co, Teamsters, Retail Clerks, City, County and State Employes and the Kel-Co credit unions.

Clyde E. O'Baker, vice president, presided and stated plans are under way to establish a Central Federal Credit Union in this area so that excess funds of any union can be deposited in the central union to accommodate all credit union members who wish to borrow.

Fred B. Griffith requested monthly reports for statistical purposes from each union.

The two youngest unions in the chapter reported as follows: Retail Clerks now have 30 members and two loans have been made. The Teamsters have 81 members with 15 loans.

It was also reported that the B&O union has set a goal of 100 new members for the month of May, and as of this week need only 19 to reach the quota.

Members voted to continue monthly meetings during the summer months.

The other three finalists in this year's competition were Mrs. Mary Bright of South Charleston, Mrs. Laura Goldsmith of Morgantown and Mrs. Betty Jo Mather of Parkersburg.

He said that despite the failure of the claimant to appeal the adverse findings of the commission, the commission was legally able to reopen the case for reconsideration. The claimant had filed his claims legally when he had medical testimony to support his claim and added that there was sufficient evidence to enable the accident commission to overrule the findings of the medical board.

Teen Traffic

At present the court has about 1,200 youthful traffic violators under probation and enrolled in the safety instruction which is required.

He pointed out that while Baltimore's court was set up under special legislation, the plan would work in an community if the judge continued the case while remedial action is taken.

Baltimore, he said, likes to think it is making good citizens through its special court for youthful drivers.

He recommended that some similar program for teen-age traffic offenders be adopted here.

Permits Issued For $40,000 In New Building

Four building permits totaling about $40,000 have been issued at the office of the Allegany County Assessing Department at the Court House.

W. I. Burton, of Burton's Inc., local men's and boy's clothing store, plans to expand storeroom facilities in LaVale and also to provide facilities for other stores in that community.

He said the new building will be located near the present LaVale store and will be constructed of concrete block and built up roof.

The new building, which will house two or three other places of business, will measure 76 feet by 120 feet, Mr. Burton said.

George Geary, who lives near Mt. Savage, was issued a permit to construct a frame dwelling at a cost of about $9,000. It will have a concrete block foundation and a composition shingle roof as well as a cellar.

A LaVale resident, P. H. Penrod, plans to build a brick dwelling on Shortest Day Road at a cost of about $8,000. Measuring 58.8 feet by 30 feet, the new home will have a concrete block foundation, composition shingle roof and a cellar.

Richard J. Walsh of Calla Hill Mt. Savage, was granted a permit to construct a 26 feet by 40 feet brick veneer home at a cost of about $7,500.

The dwelling which will have a cellar will have a foundation of concrete block and a composition shingle roof.

Office Space Set For New Engineer Aide

Cumberland's new sanitary engineer will have lots of offices.

The location of his headquarters in City Hall was one of the topics discussed at a meeting of the Mayor and Council last night.

There was informal agreement that Franklin J. Blaney, Wadsworth, Ohio, who is to take over the post June 1, will have his main office on the second floor of City Hall in quarters now used as the ladies lounge and formerly used by the Civil Service Commission.

The room adjoins the office of City Engineer. He will also have office quarters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant and the sewage treatment plant, both of which will be under his supervision.

Also discussed was the package which will be offered C. Eugene Mason for continuance as city recreation director. Mayor J. Edwin Keech said a decision will be given Monday.

Plnas were made to meet Monday morning with Charles Scarlett, draftsman in the Engineering Department, who is seeking consideration for the proposed position of assistant city engineer.

Two Youths Sent To Training Schools

A boy and girl were ordered committed to training schools yesterday following hearings in Juvenile Court before Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

A 16-year-old boy from Bowman's Addition was sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys after he was found guilty of being a delinquent minor. It was the third time the youth had been before the court on charges of truancy and stealing.

A 16-year-old girl from Frostburg was ordered recommitted to the House of Good Shepherd. The court said the girl has been ungovernable since her release from the institution last September.

Office Space Set For New Engineer Aide

Cumberland's new sanitary engineer will have lots of offices.

The location of his headquarters in City Hall was one of the topics discussed at a meeting of the Mayor and Council last night.

There was informal agreement that Franklin J. Blaney, Wadsworth, Ohio, who is to take over the post June 1, will have his main office on the second floor of City Hall in quarters now used as the ladies lounge and formerly used by the Civil Service Commission.

The room adjoins the office of City Engineer. He will also have office quarters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant and the sewage treatment plant, both of which will be under his supervision.

Also discussed was the package which will be offered C. Eugene Mason for continuance as city recreation director. Mayor J. Edwin Keech said a decision will be given Monday.

Plnas were made to meet Monday morning with Charles Scarlett, draftsman in the Engineering Department, who is seeking consideration for the proposed position of assistant city engineer.

Two Youths Sent To Training Schools

A boy and girl were ordered committed to training schools yesterday following hearings in Juvenile Court before Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

A 16-year-old boy from Bowman's Addition was sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys after he was found guilty of being a delinquent minor. It was the third time the youth had been before the court on charges of truancy and stealing.

A 16-year-old girl from Frostburg was ordered recommitted to the House of Good Shepherd. The court said the girl has been ungovernable since her release from the institution last September.

AP's Business News Analyist Finds European Economic Prospects Bright

Editor's Note—How about the people of Europe? Their hopes? Their aims? How much rivalry for American businessmen? Sam Dawson, AP business news analist, just back from a swing around West Europe, surveys the outlook.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In West Berlin the girls walk with more of a bounce today and those in East Berlin with more of a shuffle.

In Piccadilly, Londoners talk again in the old familiar tones of British self-assurance.

The French are so confident their new government is leading them to fresh prosperity that they even are bringing home their francs from hiding places abroad.

Italy's booming industrial north talks so loudly of seizing a bigger share of world trade that it drowns out reports of the south's chronic poverty and unemployment.

Swiss bankers talk of business and financial opportunities cropping up in Europe, when once they looked first to situations in U. S. corporations.

In Brussels, they expect more American capital to bring more industrial expansion.

It is in the spirit of the people that a four-week swing around Western Europe uncovers the changes, the prospects, far better than in a study of the statistics.

But the official figures are almost all good. They show that over-all the European economy squeezed out a modest gain while the U. S. economy was having a sharp but brief recession. Statistics show that this year's well-being in Europe is greater than last's, even if the year-to-year gains aren't as big as a couple of booming years back.

Europeans lay more stress on many things than do Americans. They talk more about:

1. The loss of gold by the U. S. Treasury and its embarrassing fight to finance a federal deficit at interest rates the U. S. taxpayers can afford.

2. The wage-price spiral which Europeans boast they have held in check better of late than have the Americans.

3. The drop in U. S. exports and the rise in most European exports and the gains in European markets both in the United States and in other lands.

4. The grand plan to forge on the continent of Europe an economic union that can challenge the United States as an equal and push the British Commonwealth into third place in world competition.

When they talk about these things it is mostly in tones of self-confidence.

Europe's quick industrial climb back from its postwar depths may now be history. But they see it as a prelude to continuing sure strides that will make Europeans keen rivals of Americans, rather than recipients of aid.

Not that there's any lessening of interest in latching onto the American dollar, either through federal aid programs or through investments in Europe by private U. S. industry.

Nor does the lauded principle of further easing of curbs on admission of American consumer goods get much more than lip service in Europe. The spirit of protectionism runs high—protection against American imports, protection against Japanese, Far Eastern, and possibly later on, Soviet rivalry in the markets of the world.

Europeans have a healthy respect for American production genius. In the past, at least, this has protected some American industries against rising operational costs in the United States in competition with lower labor scales abroad.

The European manufacturer, like his American opposite, is aware of a new rival rising in the developing industrial countries. Plants set up recently in the have-not nations—often with aid of U. S. dollars—are starting to turn out consumer goods at labor costs lower than those in Europe, let alone America.

This cuts into local markets in such lands for both American and European industry. It challenges them in other markets which American and European manufacturers once had almost entirely to themselves.

Over all hangs the Berlin crisis and the threat of general war. But like the citizens of Geneva, who have seen so many conferences similar to the current one, most European businessmen go right on with plans for the future.

In West Germany, notably in the storm center of West Berlin, there is strong feeling that the crisis will pass. Berliners believe that the United States won't let the Russians get all they demand, nor will it let the present Geneva parley, nor a possible summit one later, skid too dangerously to the brink of war.

Europe is still far from unity. Each nation has its own economic problems, its own goals, its own evaluation of the United States.

France is making the most spectacular recovery at the moment. There's a return of confidence both in political and economic affairs, a stability of the franc, a relaxation of trade barriers, a gain in industrial output that gives France a new look.

Italy is moving ahead fast industrially. But it has its problems. It must import much of its raw materials, such as oil or coal or cotton. Some of its new industries—often divided into many small companies—aren't sure enough of themselves yet to welcome competition from big American firms.

The south of Italy still has an unemployment problem, which major attempts to alleviate by industrialization have as yet scarcely dented.

But Italy counts on its lower labor costs to make it an ever stronger competitor of Americans in many world markets.

West Germany is pulling out of a dip in steel production, but finds its coal and textile industries still depressed. It can challenge its neighbors in skills and productivity, but labor costs tend to be high.

The steel recession has hit Beligum harder than some of its neighbors. But it is holding out a welcoming hand to American companies who will build plants for other products, especially electronics and chemicals.

The Swiss worry about losing trade with the European Common Market as that union of their neighbors and best customers grows tighter.

But the Swiss bankers still have their hands in many financial markets, still furnish their republic with the outside earnings that make up for a gap in export-import trade.

The English are feeling their oats again. Their exports to the United States are at a new high, as several American industries know well, although still below imports from the dollar area.

Britain's austerity program has straightened out its treasury's problems enough to make the pound sterling stable—and competing again with the American dollar as a standard for world financial transactions.

Japs On Strike

TOKYO (UPI) — Twenty-five hundred Japanese employed by the U. S. Air Forces staged a one-day strike at Yokota Air Base Thursday to protest the discharge of 227 other Japanese workers.

Picket lines were set up at the main gates of the base, 12 miles outside of Tokyo, to keep Japanese from entering. No attempt was made to stop U. S. airmen or their vehicles. No violence was reported.

Tawes Names Shure, Duckett Circuit Judges

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Wednesday named attorneys Ralph G. Shure of Silver Spring and O. Bowie Duckett of Annapolis to new circuit court judgeships in Montgomery and Anne Arundel counties.

The 49-year-old Shure, a Democrat, was named to fill a seat created by the 1959 General Assembly. Effective June 1, he will be the fourth Montgomery County judge in the Sixth Judicial Circuit. Under state law, he is appointed only until the next general election, 1960, when he may run for a full 15-year term.

Shure is a graduate of the University of Maryland and Georgetown Law School. He served as police judge at Takoma Park from 1939-40, as a Montgomery County trial magistrate from 1939-43 and in the Maryland House of Delegates in 1945-46.

He is a past president of the Montgomery County Bar Assn and a past vice president of the Maryland Bar Assn.

The 55-year-old Duckett is the former chief of Maryland's anti-subversive investigationsl He was appointed by Atty.Gen. Hall Hammond in 1950 as a special assistant in charge of administering the Ober Law against communists and subversives. He resigned in 1953.

Duckett, a Democrat, was one of four attorneys nominated for the new judge post by the Anne Arundel County Bar Assn.

Edson Finds This Is Odd Age Full Of Odd Cents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everything seemed so much simpler in the old days. Including making change.

Once if you needed a two-dollar shirt, you went into a store, picked out one you hoped would fit, and forked over two hard-earned, one-dollar bills.

Now you pay $3.98 for the same shirt, or maybe $4.98, plus a sales tax. Everything, from your cafeteria check to your new automobile, totals up to odd cents.

Well, it's an odd age, filled with odd cents, so let's drop in on the penny man, William H. Brett, director of the mint.

The mint keeps up a steady grind, turning out not only pennies, but also nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars. You might think that eventually we would have coins enough. But no.

"We're still making five million pennies a day," Brett said.

This adds up to well over a billion pennies a year.

If someone should ask you how many coins of all denominations were produced in 1958, please feel free to give this answer: "Exactly 2,009,949,962, of which 1,400,931,900 were one-cent pieces."

"You know," Brett said, "I have been driving back home, to northern Ohio, to take care of some personal business there. And everywhere you look you see new shopping centers going up, where we used to have cornfields.

"And all I can think of when I see these vast developments is this: Look at all the new cash registers they'll need, and each cash register will need a supply of change."

Since money seems here to stay, let's look at a few assorted fiscal facts: We call them pennies, but the Treasury people still prefer their legal handle, one-cent pieces. We also call them coppers; actually, they're bronzes.

The first one-cent piece was turned out in 1792. At the same time the mint made eagles—$10 gold pieces—half eagles, quarter eagles, dollars, half dollars, quarter dollars, dimes, half dimes and half cents.

Money fashions change too. Gone are the bright gold pieces, the half cent. Gone, too, are such experiments as the two-, three- and 20-cent pieces.

Brett figures the life of a coin at 30 years.

Parks Ministry Director Has Largest Parish

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Rev. Warren W. Ost thinks he may have the largest parish in the world. It covers more than a million acres and has a total of more than 250,000 worshippers who gather under the same roof —the sky.

Ost is director of the National Parks Ministry of the National Council of Churches, an interdenominational project that serves tourists during the summer travel season.

He travels by helicopter, airplane, automobile, jeep, horseback and foot, covering at least 55,000 miles a year to reach every point in his parish, in which some of the world's most spectacular scenery serves as backdrops for religious worship.

The area under Ost's supervision extends from the slopes of Mt. McKinley, in Alaska, to the Virgin Islands. Outdoor services are conducted on the brink of Arizona's Grand Canyon, at the foot of Devil's Tower national monument in Wyoming and in the shadow of the Devil's Postpile national monument in California.

Except for a handful of full-time ministers in places that have year-round residents, Ost's staff is made up of theological seminary students who get summer jobs working in parks and in their spare time serve as ministers.

This summer, Ost will have 140 young people from 33 seminaries representing 22 denominations serving in a total of 30 park areas, including the Virgin Islands.

These young people will work as bell hops, truck drivers, maintenance crews, waitresses, waiters and in other jobs. In their time off, they will conduct vacation church schools, teach Sunday School, set up recreational programs and hold Sunday services.

There will be campfire hymn fests, family and personal counseling, camping retreats and Bible courses.

In other words, Ost points out, all the services available at a city church will be provided in the outdoor churches — and then some.

The extreme height to which Douglas fir trees will grow is hard to record, because most of these older trees have broken tops.

NOW DO YOU BELIEVE IT?—Orland Davig offers evidence to the scoffers who hooted at reports that hail as big as baseballs fell at La Crosse, Wis., recently. He holds two hailstones and a baseball. The baseball is the smallest item, the one with stitches. (AP Photofax)

Tonsils Perform "Body Guard" Duty

By MARGUERITE DAVIS

CHICAGO (UPI) — This is a time of year, with the vacation period coming up, when many a parent looks at junior and wonders, "should I have his tonsils out?"

There's no flat yes or no answer.

Tonsils serve a valuable purpose, according to widespread medical opinion, and should be left alone unless there is positive evidence they should be removed.

Dr. Francis L. Lederer, professor and head of the Department of Otalaryngology at the University of Illinois Medical College, defines this evidence as acute and repeated infection of the tonsils. He emphasizes that neither a sore throat nor enlarged tonsils necessarily indicates an infection.

Time was when tonsils were considered useless, likely to breed disease, and best removed. The tonsillectomy was regarded as a simple operation that held little if any threat for the patient, and approximately two million children were separated from their tonsils every year.

Serve As Germ Catcher

Lederer deplores both beliefs.

Tonsils, he says, serve as a sort of whipping post for the body, catching germs and helping the body develop immunity. They perform a protective ring in the throat, and become sore and inflamed only when they are performing their "body guard" duty.

Statistics disprove the old wives' tale that removing tonsils will prevent colds, according to Lederer.

As for the tonsillectomy being a simple operation, "it's the simplest to do poorly," is the way he describes it.

"The more experience the surgeon has in removing tonsils, the more respect he has for the operation," Lederer told UPI. "He carefully weighs the risks of surgery against the returns to be gained."

The judicious use of antibiotics to fight infection has helped reduced the need for surgery, Lederer said, but if these have not been effective there are some "absolute indications" which point to the operating room.

The indications include frequent attacks of acute tonsillitis with fever and general discomfort, repeated attacks of middle ear abscess, recurring or persistent swelling and soreness of the neck glands, and swelling of the tonsils and-or adenoids to the point that they interfere with breathing, swallowing and talking.

There also are certain danger signals which spell possible trouble: repeated sore throats, unexplained fevers, a dry tickling or spasmodic cough, chronic earaches, failure of the child to gain weight, and frequent colds.

Tell Everything To Child

What if the tonsils should be removed?

"The doctor should tell the child that his tonsils have been causing the sore throats and earaches that kept him in bed so he couldn't go outside and play," Lederer said.

"He should be told the tonsils must be removed, and that he will be taken to a special place to have this done. Explain that he will be given medicine so he won't be frightened, and that doctors and nurses will come see him and wheel him on a cart to the operating room."

Fruit Marketing Control Program Runs Smoothly

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam operates one kind of farm control program that functions so smoothly and quietly that few people know it exists.

It is a marketing control program covering fresh fruits and vegetables and some tree nuts. Under it farmers send around a billion dollars worth of products to markets annually.

Authorized by Congress in 1937 the program has won rather general approval of all agricultural groups. The Eisenhower administration, which opposes most farm control measures, endorses this one.

The program is called the "Marketing Agreement and Order" system. At present, it regulates the marketing of oranges, grapefruit, tangelos, lemons, nectarines, limes, avacados, peaches in several states, plums, pears, apricots, sweet cherries, tokay grapes, dates, dried figs, dried prunes, raisins, potatoes in 16 states, tomatoes grown in Florida and the Rio Grande Valley of Texas, cucumbers grown in Florida, peas and cauliflower grown in Colorado, onions grown in Idaho and Oregon, almonds, filberts and walnuts.

The purpose of this program is to provide fair and stable prices to producers, and to assure consumers of quality products.

A marketing order program for a given product may be set up after the Agriculture Department holds a public hearing and conducts a referendum among affected producers. The program requires the approval of at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum.

The individual programs are administered by committees of producers and handlers of the regulated commodity. These committees are appointed by the secretary of agriculture from nominees offered by the producer and handler groups.

The programs seek to stabilize grower prices by regulating the flow of the commodity to market. Regulation may be made through a variety of measures.

One is through regulation of the grade, size, quality or degree of maturity of the product. Another is by means of restrictions on the quantity that may be marketed. Some of the orders provide for reserve pools into which a temporary excess supply is stored until needed to meet consumer demands.

Some also provide for surplus pools. The part of the production placed in such pools often is diverted into byproduct uses or into export markets under aid of a government subsidy.

This summer, Ost will have 140 young people from 33 seminaries representing 22 denominations serving in a total of 30 park areas, including the Virgin Islands.

These young people will work as bell hops, truck drivers, maintenance crews, waitresses, waiters and in other jobs. In their time off, they will conduct vacation church schools, teach Sunday School, set up recreational programs and hold Sunday services.

There will be campfire hymn fests, family and personal counseling, camping retreats and Bible courses.

In other words, Ost points out, all the services available at a city church will be provided in the outdoor churches — and then some.

The extreme height to which Douglas fir trees will grow is hard to record, because most of these older trees have broken tops.

NOW DO YOU BELIEVE IT?—Orland Davig offers evidence to the scoffers who hooted at reports that hail as big as baseballs fell at La Crosse, Wis., recently. He holds two hailstones and a baseball. The baseball is the smallest item, the one with stitches. (AP Photofax)

Tonsils Perform "Body Guard" Duty

By MARGUERITE DAVIS

CHICAGO (UPI) — This is a time of year, with the vacation period coming up, when many a parent looks at junior and wonders, "should I have his tonsils out?"

There's no flat yes or no answer.

Tonsils serve a valuable purpose, according to widespread medical opinion, and should be left alone unless there is positive evidence they should be removed.

Dr. Francis L. Lederer, professor and head of the Department of Otalaryngology at the University of Illinois Medical College, defines this evidence as acute and repeated infection of the tonsils. He emphasizes that neither a sore throat nor enlarged tonsils necessarily indicates an infection.

Time was when tonsils were considered useless, likely to breed disease, and best removed. The tonsillectomy was regarded as a simple operation that held little if any threat for the patient, and approximately two million children were separated from their tonsils every year.

Serve As Germ Catcher

Lederer deplores both beliefs.

Tonsils, he says, serve as a sort of whipping post for the body, catching germs and helping the body develop immunity. They perform a protective ring in the throat, and become sore and inflamed only when they are performing their "body guard" duty.

Statistics disprove the old wives' tale that removing tonsils will prevent colds, according to Lederer.

As for the tonsillectomy being a simple operation, "it's the simplest to do poorly," is the way he describes it.

"The more experience the surgeon has in removing tonsils, the more respect he has for the operation," Lederer told UPI. "He carefully weighs the risks of surgery against the returns to be gained."

The judicious use of antibiotics to fight infection has helped reduced the need for surgery, Lederer said, but if these have not been effective there are some "absolute indications" which point to the operating room.

The indications include frequent attacks of acute tonsillitis with fever and general discomfort, repeated attacks of middle ear abscess, recurring or persistent swelling and soreness of the neck glands, and swelling of the tonsils and-or adenoids to the point that they interfere with breathing, swallowing and talking.

There also are certain danger signals which spell possible trouble: repeated sore throats, unexplained fevers, a dry tickling or spasmodic cough, chronic earaches, failure of the child to gain weight, and frequent colds.

Tell Everything To Child

What if the tonsils should be removed?

"The doctor should tell the child that his tonsils have been causing the sore throats and earaches that kept him in bed so he couldn't go outside and play," Lederer said.

"He should be told the tonsils must be removed, and that he will be taken to a special place to have this done. Explain that he will be given medicine so he won't be frightened, and that doctors and nurses will come see him and wheel him on a cart to the operating room."

Fruit Marketing Control Program Runs Smoothly

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam operates one kind of farm control program that functions so smoothly and quietly that few people know it exists.

It is a marketing control program covering fresh fruits and vegetables and some tree nuts. Under it farmers send around a billion dollars worth of products to markets annually.

Authorized by Congress in 1937 the program has won rather general approval of all agricultural groups. The Eisenhower administration, which opposes most farm control measures, endorses this one.

The program is called the "Marketing Agreement and Order" system. At present, it regulates the marketing of oranges, grapefruit, tangelos, lemons, nectarines, limes, avacados, peaches in several states, plums, pears, apricots, sweet cherries, tokay grapes, dates, dried figs, dried prunes, raisins, potatoes in 16 states, tomatoes grown in Florida and the Rio Grande Valley of Texas, cucumbers grown in Florida, peas and cauliflower grown in Colorado, onions grown in Idaho and Oregon, almonds, filberts and walnuts.

The purpose of this program is to provide fair and stable prices to producers, and to assure consumers of quality products.

A marketing order program for a given product may be set up after the Agriculture Department holds a public hearing and conducts a referendum among affected producers. The program requires the approval of at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum.

The individual programs are administered by committees of producers and handlers of the regulated commodity. These committees are appointed by the secretary of agriculture from nominees offered by the producer and handler groups.

The programs seek to stabilize grower prices by regulating the flow of the commodity to market. Regulation may be made through a variety of measures.

One is through regulation of the grade, size, quality or degree of maturity of the product. Another is by means of restrictions on the quantity that may be marketed. Some of the orders provide for reserve pools into which a temporary excess supply is stored until needed to meet consumer demands.

Some also provide for surplus pools. The part of the production placed in such pools often is diverted into byproduct uses or into export markets under aid of a government subsidy.

WASHINGTON — Much ado about fall-out — Much has been said and written about the "dangers of radioactive fall-out" from nuclear tests. A Senate committee has taken up a bill designed "to vest responsibility in the Public Health Service for protecting the public from radiation."

Civilian scientists, advisers to the Atomic Energy Commission, have made a study and reported this conclusion: "The amount of total body external radiation resulting from fall-out to date, together with future fall-out from previous weapon tests, is less than 5 per cent of the estimated average radiation exposure of the American public to X ray for medical purposes." Human beings have lived for generations in parts of the world having 100 times the average amount of radiation the United States gets from fall-out. The amount of radioactive fall-out found in food and water is "less of a hazard than the amount of radium normally present" in drinking water used for decades in some part of the United States, the scientists reported.

The Big-4 Conference On Berlin — Here we go again! Another of these East-West affairs could be good. Yet we face the sobering fact that in the past these functions have proved disappointing. So, what are we in for this time? Is this to be just another whirl on the familiar merry-go-round? Why should we indulge in another potentially futile exercise?

Well, someday, at some session such as the one now taking place, a leaf of history is going to be turned. And, for all we know, it could happen here. Be it a balmy spring afternoon or some turbulent winter's night, a Frenchman or a Briton, an American, or a Soviet Communist, is going to put forward or accept the one rightful idea that will commence to unsnarl this massive, worrisome log jam.

So it is good that we are having another run-through. It may prove futile. Then again, it may not be so hopeless as it seems. Anyhow, here we go!

Maryland Park And Parkways — This past week I appeared before the Senate Appropriations Committee twice — first, to support an appropriation for the Federal government's share in stream-valley park land acquisition in Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, and, second, to support an appropriation for the Federal share of the cost of building the Prince Georges segment of the George Washington Memorial Parkway. I called attention to the fact that the Federal government committed itself long ago to both projects and that Maryland had proceeded with its planning in good faith. I expressed the opinion that someday Congress would make good on the Federal government's commitment, and I asked: "Will the taxpayers damn this Congress for passing up the opportunity to complete these necessary projects now when the cost is low?"

Holidays For Federal Employees — On its way to the Senate from the House of Representatives is a bill giving Federal workers Friday off whenever a legal holiday falls on Saturday. This seems fair. It is a provision already made by many private companies.

Staggering Cost Of Farm Price Support — The President, in a special message to Congress on Wednesday, took to task the Majority in the Congress for its failure to deal with his recommendation for corrective legislation to deliver us from the mounting failures of the mandatory farm price support program, "with its staggering cost to increasingly frustrated and impatient taxpayers."

Other Senate Items — On Tuesday the members of the Senate marched over to the House Chamber to meet in joint session to receive King Baudouin of the Belgians.

The Senate passed our committee bill relating to reserves required by Federal Reserve banks, and took up our bill providing safeguards against bank mergers. The Committee on Banking and Currency continued its study of mortgage credit.

Our Senate District Committee received a report from Chief Murray of the Metropolitan Police regarding D. C. crime. We also worked on legislation having to do with taxation on certain real property.

Our Committee on Armed Services completed its work on the military construction bill.

Military Preparedness — Air Force missile experts have designed a rocket train from which the upcoming solid-fuel Minuteman ICBM could be fired. The launch-car has a hinged cover through which the missile would be raised for firing. Other cars would carry control equipment, and house the crew.

The Air Force's intercontinental ballistic missile, Titan, passed its fourth test, the toughest so far. Seventy miles above the Atlantic, tiny explosions broke the 90-foot missile in two on schedule, left the second-stage rocket and warhead coasting free. Next, a test firing of the second-stage, which may prove the missile's 9,000-mile range.

The Army wants to build a missile test range at Fairbanks, Alaska. Officials of the Interior Department have been asked to okay the setting aside of nearly 610,000 acres of government land for this.

Plans for a huge, semi-rigid, atomic-powered airship that could zip along indefinitely at more than 400 miles per hour are being drawn up by Navy designers. The nuclear-driven jet engines would be slung far aft of the cockpit and crew's quarters, thus eliminating the need for heavy shielding against the nuclear explosions.

The Soldier Of The Future — Major General Marshall Stubbs, Chief Chemical Officer of the Army, presents an interesting picture of the soldier of tomorrow. He says that the supertrooper will hurdle obstacles and jump ditches with a rocket booster strapped on his back. His helmet will have a built-in radio and a screen to protect him from chemical and atomic attack. He won't even be digging his own foxholes. All he'll have to do is ram a pencil-like foxhole digger into the ground, detonate it, and then crawl in. He'll eat compact meals of irradiated food and when he's not jetting over streams or strolling with his pressureless boots, he will scud about in a saucer-like air jeep. That's what the Major General says.

THAT DIRTY WORD, "NEPOTISM" — The annual Women's National Press Club banquet opened with this greeting to Capitol Hill guests: "Welcome, Senators and Congressmen! And a special welcome to your sons, your daughters, your nieces, your nephews, and your cousins — in short, to all your administrative assistants!"

I hasten to add that no relative of mine is on my payroll.

Sincerely yours,
J. GLENN BEALL.

WASHINGTON — One of the more amazing phenomena of present-day life is the prominence given the utterances of the Americans for Democratic Action, sometimes known as the ADA. Few other organizations of similar or contrary purpose enjoy the same degree of attention — a condition which prompted a nationally syndicated columnist the other day to say that the ADA's influence has been "vastly overrated." By what process, then, do the pronouncements of these so-called "liberals" germinate and attract the national spotlight! By what process have their falsetto declarations been able to move to the front pages of the daily press!

Since 1947, the ADA, an outgrowth of the Union for Democratic Action, has diligently attempted to influence and bend public opinion to the left-wing viewpoint. It has been regularly engrossed in the election of "liberal" candidates and the promotion of left-wing issues. The words "liberal" and "democracy" are conspicously displayed in ADA literature, with the words "control" and "policy" following close behind. Both the aim and character of the ADA have always been shrouded in double talk, but its enchantment for socialistic schemes is clear.

Among other things, the ADA has attacked the FBI . . . opposed the Subversive Control Act of 1950 . . . defended certain Communist ideas . . . opposed the rebuilding of Germany . . . advocated the admission of Red China to the United Nations . . . advocated "world government with powers adequate to prevent war" . . . pushed for compulsory union membership and repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act . . . advocated Federal price, wage and rent controls and compulsory health insurance . . . recommended Executive power "to modify rates of taxes and expenditures to meet changing conditions." Obviously, the ADA favors big spending programs, government controls and world government.

Last week, this aggregation of self-anointed saints of liberalism ran true to form and at their annual convention suggested that monetary inflation does not really exist and that our Government has been insensitive to the problems of unemployment. This action preceded by one day an Administration report indicating that some 735,000 persons were returned to gainful employment in April. If inflation has indeed perished, let these spurious liberals explain the decreased purchasing power of the dollar to the American families who daily strive "to make ends meet."

To succumb to the hocus-pocus of the ADA is to return to the days of the discredited New and Fair Deals. Incredibly, there are still those in high places who succumb.

Flying Saucer "Developer" Arraigned

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Norman Colton, vice president and man who says he has developed publicity director; Wayne S. Aho, a flying saucer has been charged retired Army major and public in- with violating Oklahoma securities formation director, and Lari Ken- laws.

Otis T. Carr, head of OTC Enterprises, Inc., was arraigned here on a charge of selling securities without a state license. He was freed on bond of $1,000 after pleading innocent in Justice of the Peace Court. Preliminary hearing was set for June 12.

Also charged Tuesday were three officials of the company; drick, sales director of the firm.

Art Minnick, investigator in the office of County Atty. James W. Bill Berry, said his investigation indicated the Carr firm had sold some $50,000 worth of stock without a license.

Boost In Crop Output Seems World-Wide

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The upward trend in crop production volume appears to be general throughout the world.

The Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS) keeps statistics on 33 major crops involved in world trade. Of these, production of 31 has increased in the last 10 years.

Each of the six most important crops in world trade — coffee, cotton, wheat, sugar, rice, and tobacco — showed production increases during the period.

The biggest percentage increase was in sunflower seed, production of which in 1958-59 was more than 50 per cent above the 1950-54 average. Coffee and soybeans each increased by more than 40 per cent.

The two crops in which production declined were abaca and sesame seed. Abaca, a fiber, dropped nearly 18 per cent because world demand waned. As a result, the Philippines — the main supplier — is producing less. Sesame, an oil seed, declined 20 per cent. A large part of the decrease came about when Red China, once the world's leading grower, dropped it from its production plan in 1956. India now leads in world output of sesame.

The big increase in sunflower seed occurred in Russia where about a third is used in margarine, and some for cooking and soap.

A large part of the coffee expansion occurred in the last two years and was attributable to favorable crop conditions in Brazil. Expanded acreage and yields in the United States accounted for the major portion of the soybean increase.

Of the six most important crops in world trade, coffee — the leader — and sugar were in the top group showing largest expansion in production. They differ, however, in that sugar supplies are not burdensome.

Cotton output was increased nearly 14 per cent despite a 3 per cent drop in acreage. Yield per acre rose 17 per cent from 227 pounds during the 1950-54 period to 266 pounds in 1958.

More acreage is planted to wheat — the third most important crop — than any other in the world. Production is up 25 per cent because of marked expansion in Russia and Red China and a shift in world acreage from rye to wheat.

Rice acreage has expanded rapidly in recent years. Despite larger supplies in exporting countries, larger crops and foreign exchange difficulties in importing countries and relatively low prices of other cereals may prevent any marked increase in the volume of rice trade.

Pere Marquette and Louis Joliet were French explorers in the upper Mississippi and Great Lakes section.

Radio 'Scopes Open Up New Space 'Window'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy's top scientist says radio telescopes have opened a window into space that may let man see the earth as it existed before his ancestors first walked upright.

Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett, the Navy's chief of research, writing in the current issue of Naval Research Reviews, said the relatively new science of radio astronomy "has opened a new window" into space that is "many time wider than that available to an optical telescope."

Whether man will ever see his world as it existed before the advent of intelligent life depends upon whether the late Albert Einstein was right when he theorized that the universe does not go on forever. Eistein's theory was that the universe curves back upon itself.

Rawson said: "It is the radio telescope that will in the not too distant future take us to the very edge of the universe, and eventually—if Einstein's theory of the curvature of the universe is correct—back around to our own world as it existed millions or billions of years ago."

Radio astronomy is only a dozen years old and its instruments "are still primitive," Rawson said.

Inflation Inevitable? Researchers Say No

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recent research sharply contradicts the popular idea that long term "creeping inflation" historically has been a built-in feature of the U.S. economy.

It shows that there is nothing "historically inevitable" about the steady uptrend in prices that has prevailed in this country for the past 20 years.

On the contrary. If history repeats itself, the United States can look for a prolonged decline in price levels. When it may start is anybody's guess. On the basis of past experience, it is already overdue.

These observations are based on a significant new study of historical trends in wholesale price levels. It was made for the Joint Congressional Economic Committee by Miss Ethel D. Hoover, chief of the commodities and services branch of the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, and Dr. George Rogers Taylor, professor of economics at Amherst College.

Through painstaking research, which included digging into dusty market records in cities like Charleston, S.C., and Philadelphia that were major trading centers in colonial days, the economists constructed an index of wholesale prices in this country going all the way back to 1720.

They chose the period 1850-59—the reasonably stable economic era immediately preceding the Civil War — as a base. Prices in that period were assigned an index figure of 100.

Stood At 78

The War for Independence led to a dizzy rise in prices. The index shot up to 329 in 1777, to 2,969 in 1779, and finally to an incredible 10,544 in 1780.

Prices began to drop sharply, however, almost as soon as the war was over. By 1789, when the U.S. Constitution took effect, the price index was back to 94.

The next sharp peak on the price chart coincided with the War of 1812. But once again, a decline set in almost immediately after the war. From a high of 184 in 1814, the index dropped steadily for 16 straight years until it reached 90 in 1830.

For the next 30 years, the price index was reasonably stable. Then came the Civil War, and it shot up again, reaching a peak of 220 in 1865.

Steady price decline set in almost as soon as the war was over. By 1879, the index was down to 98.

Relative Price Stability

As before, there was a long period of relative price stability. From 1879 to 1911, a span of 35 years, the index fluctuated in a narrow range, never dropping below 77 nor rising above 112.

World War I sent prices skyrocketing once more. And this time, the rise continued for about two years after the war ended, with the index reaching a peak of 249 in 1920. Once prices did turn down, they fell more precipitately than at any time since the revolution. By 1922 the index was down to 156. It stuck at about that level for seven years until the Wall Street crash of 1929 ushered in the Great Depression.

At this point there appears the first evidence that some wartime inflation had become imbedded in the price structure. Even in the worst years of the depression, the wholesale price level never sank back to its pre-civil war level—of 100. The low point, reached in 1932, was 104.

Economic recovery brought a gradual rise in the index. In 1940, it stood at 126.

Started To Climb

When the United States entered World War II, the index, as usual, started to climb. But stabilization controls moderated the rise and the wartime peak of 170, reached in 1945, was well below the peaks reached in the four previous wars of the nation's history.

Now comes the part of the story that has baffled many economists.

When World War II was over, the price index did not decline, as it always had in the past. It just kept on going up. Except for brief downturns in the recessions of 1949 and 1953, it has been in a continuous uptrend since the end of the war.

It now stands at 296, which means that prices are about 50 per cent higher than they were at the end of the war. And three times as high as the "normal" level that prevailed for so many years before and after the civil war.

The economists who made this study are historians, not prophets. They do not profess to know whether, or when, a long - term price decline will set in to compensate for the inflation that has taken place since the start of World War II.

They only know what has happened to the U. S. economy in the past.

Theory China Reds Blundered In Tibet Facing Tests In Asia

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Political developments in several Southeast Asian states are providing testing points for the theory that Chinese Red policy in Tibet has seriously damaged the future of communism in the area.

The scales dip first one way and then another, and there are so many shadings of political alignment that black and white charts can not be drawn.

In Ceylon, for instance, a neutralist government is on the teeter-totter after the resignation of three leftist (but not international Communist) Cabinet ministers. The government has been a coalition of moderates, Trotskyites and other Marxists. The leftist parties have gone over to the opposition in Parliament, and whether the government can survive is a question. The Communists, who received only 4.5 per cent of the vote in last year's elections, are working desperately to foster a chaotic situation in which they hope to gain strength.

Three years ago there was a strong leaning in Ceylon toward closer affiliation with Moscow and international communism. But Communist economic assistance turned out to be a mirage, and a U.S. State Department intelligence estimate last January reported a considerable decline in Red prestige. What happens in the current crisis will have a considerable bearing on the continuing validity of this report.

Newly independent Malaya is pushing the anti-Communist campaign which succeeded its victorious war with Communist guerrillas, and working against the election of a leftist government for the new state of Singapore which will vote next week.

The betting is, however, that heavily Chinese Singapore will elect a government strongly sympathetic toward Red China.

Recent reports from India are that active expression of criticism of Red China in the Tibetan affair has died down. The New Delhi government remains wedded to its policy of coexistence with Peiping. There is hardly any doubt, however, that its faith in this policy has been shaken.

MICROWAVES PUT FUTURE IN THE SKY—A wireless microwave beam powers a radar station in the sky over a city of the future in this artist's drawing. The "weightless fuel" will be beamed in narrow searchlight paths to the platforms, where it can be converted into heat energy to keep them aloft and in operation. Possibility of such stations grew with the development by the Raytheon Company of a high-frequency, high-power microwave tube called the Amplitron. Platforms might be used as sky lighthouses, with gas-filled bulbs lighted by power which misses the converter. Microwave radiation falling on these bulbs would be converted instantaneously to light which would be radioed in all directions. Different gases could be used to provide distinctive colors. For example, a bulb filled with neon over Chicago would give off a red-orange glow which would indicate to high-flying jet pilots as much as 450 miles away that they were approaching Chicago. A neon bulb over New York would shine with a blue light. (Central Press)

"Average" Hit By Underwood

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Cecil H.Underwood of West Virginia, an educator before he became the state's chief executive, said Wednesday one free-thinking gifted American was worth 10,000 regimented Russian minds.

But he criticized American education standards for not encouraging the more intelligent to reach their full capacities of learning.

Our present system, he told a Baltimore Advertising Club luncheon, has led us to "overemphasize the average. We have assembled average teachers. In our desire to pay all teachers equally, we have discouraged those with special talents and encouraged those with only average talents."

He said our educational program has been geared too much to the "middle-of-the-road."

The luncheon honored the independent colleges. And Underwood, as an official of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Small Colleges, spoke highly of what the smaller colleges were accomplishing.

He said he did not imply the universities were not doing a good job, but that the smaller institutions were doing more for the individual to permit him to seek his own level.

Theory China Reds Blundered In Tibet Facing Tests In Asia

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Political developments in several Southeast Asian states are providing testing points for the theory that Chinese Red policy in Tibet has seriously damaged the future of communism in the area.

The scales dip first one way and then another, and there are so many shadings of political alignment that black and white charts can not be drawn.

In Ceylon, for instance, a neutralist government is on the teeter-totter after the resignation of three leftist (but not international Communist) Cabinet ministers. The government has been a coalition of moderates, Trotskyites and other Marxists. The leftist parties have gone over to the opposition in Parliament, and whether the government can survive is a question. The Communists, who received only 4.5 per cent of the vote in last year's elections, are working desperately to foster a chaotic situation in which they hope to gain strength.

Three years ago there was a strong leaning in Ceylon toward closer affiliation with Moscow and international communism. But Communist economic assistance turned out to be a mirage, and a U.S. State Department intelligence estimate last January reported a considerable decline in Red prestige. What happens in the current crisis will have a considerable bearing on the continuing validity of this report.

Newly independent Malaya is pushing the anti-Communist campaign which succeeded its victorious war with Communist guerrillas, and working against the election of a leftist government for the new state of Singapore which will vote next week.

The betting is, however, that heavily Chinese Singapore will elect a government strongly sympathetic toward Red China.

Recent reports from India are that active expression of criticism of Red China in the Tibetan affair has died down. The New Delhi government remains wedded to its policy of coexistence with Peiping. There is hardly any doubt, however, that its faith in this policy has been shaken.

TO START DRILLING

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Barnhart Morrow Consolidated Oil Co. Wednesday announced acquisition of a 923 acre block in Hardin County, Ky., on which drilling will be started in the next few weeks with W. C. McBride Oil Co. and Gulf Oil Corp. participating.

PLANS TO OPEN STORES

NEW YORK (UPI)—S. H. Kress & Co. chairman, Paul L. Troast, told the annual stockholders meeting the company plans to open 20 to 25 new stores annually beginning in 1960. He said the company expects a better overall year in 1959, but declined to reveal March quarter results.

ARRANGES LOAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cinerama, Inc. has arranged to borrow 12-million dollars from Prudential Insurance Co. of America and Robin International Inc., its overseas licensee and exhibitor, to finance production of a series of cinerama movies as well as completion of a program to improve its widescreen process, it was announced Wednesday.

SELLS RANCH

MICROWAVES PUT FUTURE IN THE SKY—A wireless microwave beam powers a radar station in the sky over a city of the future in this artist's drawing. The "weightless fuel" will be beamed in narrow searchlight paths to the platforms, where it can be converted into heat energy to keep them aloft and in operation. Possibility of such stations grew with the development by the Raytheon Company of a high-frequency, high-power microwave tube called the Amplitron. Platforms might be used as sky lighthouses, with gas-filled bulbs lighted by power which misses the converter. Microwave radiation falling on these bulbs would be converted instantaneously to light which would be radioed in all directions. Different gases could be used to provide distinctive colors. For example, a bulb filled with neon over Chicago would give off a red-orange glow which would indicate to high-flying jet pilots as much as 450 miles away that they were approaching Chicago. A neon bulb over New York would shine with a blue light. (Central Press)

"Average" Hit By Underwood

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. Cecil H.Underwood of West Virginia, an educator before he became the state's chief executive, said Wednesday one free-thinking gifted American was worth 10,000 regimented Russian minds.

But he criticized American education standards for not encouraging the more intelligent to reach their full capacities of learning.

Our present system, he told a Baltimore Advertising Club luncheon, has led us to "overemphasize the average. We have assembled average teachers. In our desire to pay all teachers equally, we have discouraged those with special talents and encouraged those with only average talents."

He said our educational program has been geared too much to the "middle-of-the-road."

The luncheon honored the independent colleges. And Underwood, as an official of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Small Colleges, spoke highly of what the smaller colleges were accomplishing.

He said he did not imply the universities were not doing a good job, but that the smaller institutions were doing more for the individual to permit him to seek his own level.

Problems Of Substandard Housing Begin At Home For Many Governors

By HUGH MULLIGAN
Associated Press Writer

For the governors of many of our states, problems of substandard housing begin right at home.

After striving for years to get to the top of the political ladder, many governors find what almost any home owner finds at the top of a ladder. Namely that the roof leaks, the gutters are clogged and the shingles are falling off.

Gov. James T. Blair of Missouri, for instance, goes about wadding newspaper into the window cracks of his drafty mansion, an 88-year-old French - Italian structure that is kept under 24-hour fire guard.

Two years ago Blair refused to move into the mansion on grounds it was impossible to heat, rat-infested and failing down. But Sylvester, the mansion cat, has taken care of the rat problem and a $40,000 repair job enabled the Blairs to camp out in the redone second floor.

When Nevada Gov. Grant Sawyer moved into the state's 50-year-old colonial mansion in January, he found something lacking in the upstairs bedrooms. Beds, for instance. The rest of the house was only partly furnished. The Legislature finally put up $29,000 for furnishings.

Kentucky finally got around to curing its mansion of a dangerous case of hot wires after one governor complained of using "fuses by the bushel."

Georgia has killed off several moves to replace its 50-year-old native stone mansion, considered obsolete and badly in need of repairs. "We got it patched up and the rains haven't bothered us recently," said Secretary of State Ben Fortson, whose office is charged with mansion maintenance.

Gov. Price Daniel of Texas was welcoming a delegation of women to his 105-year-old mansion when a large chunk of the entrance hall ceiling suddenly gave way.

The roof also fell in on Wyoming's 50-year-old mansion, narrowly missing the cook. An $18,000 repair bill patched things up a bit.

The California mansion, another batch of gingerbread from the Victorian oven, stands on the fringes of downtown Sacramento with a busy U. S. highway running past its iron picket fence. It is flanked by a motel, gas station and physical culture salon. But the ornately paneled, velvet draped rooms have a certain fading charm, especially the fine old Italian marble fireplaces, each different and each condemned by the fire marshal.

At least 10 states, including some large ones like Michigan and Massachusetts, provide no mansions for their governors. In Vermont, Gov. Robert Stafford lives in a hotel near the State House. Massachusetts gives its governors a $10,000 a year living allowance. Oregon rents them a state-owned house, but the present governor, Mark Hatfield, has bought a 75-year-old private house and is remodeling it for himself.

Kansas has two governors mansions. Gov. George Docking lives in the 72-year-old official residence and wants no part of "Cedar Crest," a brooding French castle on a high bluff outside Topeka willed to the state two years ago. Docking says the new one is so far out of town, "I have a hard time finding it."

Pennsylvania has two mansions and is thinking of building a third.

Gov. David Lawrence lives in the drafty official manse, an architectural hodge-podge on the banks of the Susquehanna that was converted from a private home in 1864 and since has been enlarged by such helter-skelter additions that it is now actually two houses hiding behind a false front. Many previous governors fled permanently to the comfortable summer mansion at nearby Indiantown Gap. For nearly 15 years the state has been planning to erect a modern mansion, patterned after Independence Hall. The 2½ million dollar price tag has been the main drawback.

"Morven," the New Jersey mansion at Princeton, is both the oldest and one of the newest. It was built in 1701, acquired by the state ment of the Gen. Cornwallis bed. Gov. Robert Meyner moved in two years ago as the first official occupant.

Nebraska's new $250,000-mansion has developed a case of shaky floors. North Dakota has had trouble finding an architect who will keep within the available $193,000 and not go wild on modern design. Montana scraped up $125,000 to build a mansion in 1953, added $50,000 more two years later and still ran out of money. The current Legislature put up $124,000 to finish the place.

Wisconsin acquired a new mansion 10 years ago, a 34-room Italian Renaissance structure that was built in 1929 and undoubtedly holds the gubernatorial bathroom record. It has 12.

Whether acquired or built, the newer mansions average about a quarter million dollars in cost and contain 12 to 15 rooms.

The earliest known glove makers were the monks under Charlemagne who were granted the right of hunting in return for making gloves from the skins of deer they killed.

Congress Must Spell It Out

Congress has a bill before it which would go far toward clearing up future legislative and judicial muddles over federal versus states' rights. The bill, authored by Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia, would require Congress to spell out in each piece of legislation whether it intends that law to supersede or complement similar enactments in the various states.

There was no need for this legislation until a few years ago. Legal experts took it for granted that the tenth article of the Bill of Rights, which says, "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people," meant what it said.

A liberal Supreme Court, however, began adopting what it called a policy of preemption, which holds that federal and state laws on the same subject only confuse the picture, and the court has specifically accepted federal law as superseding similar ones in the states, although such intention was never voiced by Congress nor written into the law. The tendency has been to avoid federal-state squabbles by the simple expedient of denying the states jurisdiction in areas covered by national laws.

Among the more famous Supreme Court decisions incorporating the policy of preemption was that which upset the conviction of Pennsylvania's top communist, Steve Nelson, under a state subversive act. The Supreme Court, in effect, held that federal acts preempt the field of subversive control and state laws are invalid.

If the Constitution is not to be flavored by changing political philosophies, Congress must be more specific in its legislative intent.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Why Is It So?

The President of Cornell University, Deane W. Malott, spent some time in Soviet Russia last summer as a member of a team of seven university presidents. He was impressed by the educational advances in Soviet Russia. He commented:

"Education is made to serve their purposes well. Those purposes are not our purposes; their objectives are not ours. But if America can support education with the same devotion and strength, if we can muster as strong a focus upon our free way of life as they have in fitting education to the needs of a monolithic state, we shall remain forever ahead of the dubious and capricious aims of the dictators. But no visitor to the Soviet Union returns without grave concern for the lack of support for education in this country, the lack of enthusiasm for intellectual accomplishment, and the lack of appreciation for the position of the teacher in our society."

There is no lack of support for education in this country. Every citizen in every state is taxed for educational purposes. In addition, there are the large number of private non-profit universities, supported by contributions, as well as student fees; there are tremendous expenditures for parochial schools, high schools and universities of various denominations.

The United States can show the largest number of elementary schools in the world, about 117,000; about 30,000 high schools, with an enrollment of about 40,000,000 students. There are about 1,900 institutions of higher education, that is universities, colleges and professional schools in this country; the cost of all educational institutions is about $22,268,000,000 per annum.

These are a few figures picked at random only to establish the fact that our educational plant is enormous; that the cost is high; and that the subject is not neglected. Then we might go back to President Malott's statement about our need to support "education with the same devotion and strength" as Soviet Russia. "The lack of enthusiasm for intellectual accomplishment, and the lack of appreciation for the position of the teacher in our society" really need not concern us so much.

There is support in this country for education; there is not a very noticeable respect for the educator. It was not always so. An older generation recalls the days of Charles W. Eliot of Harvard, Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, Woodrow Wilson of Princeton, Arthur Hadley of Yale and even David Starr Jordan of Stanford University and so many others who stood before the American people as leaders. How many university presidents today hold comparable positions in American life?

Perhaps President Malott will reply that the men holding identical offices are as scholarly, as genteel, as significant as the ancients to whom I refer.

It has been usual throughout human history for people to respect the scholar, the intellectual. In countries and periods where literacy has been low, the person who could read was placed on a pedestal. The scholar stood out as a man apart, a man above men.

Is it possible that mass education has something to do with equalizing the scholar in a community that can read? Or is it possible that scholars who are mere administrators, busying themselves with brooms and dust pans, with bricks and mortar are not being taken as moral guides by those who come to their universities?

Or is it possible that students, male and female, who dress like Beatniks, wear soiled shoes, dirty white socks, blue-jeans, shirts outside their slacks, and the conglomeration of untidy ugliness which marks the current student — bearded or with straggly hair — represent a weariness with respect and propriety, with appreciation of culture? Is it that the university degree is no longer a mark of honor but a certificate for a job?

Take Commencement Day at a modern large university. There is no time or patience for each of the thousands of students who graduate, to have his or her name called, to walk up for the diploma, a precious document, to be cherished forever. Is this corny stuff! The diplomas are mailed or are distributed after Commencement in the university gym!

Or even more important—what is the inspiration of the university? Does one find himself coming out of it with a sense of moral grandeur, with overwhelming loyalty to his country, its institutions or its history? Corney stuff! Everything is corny stuff! Everything is debunked until the student himself is just a lot of corny stuff, looking for a job with plenty of security.

Of that no dreams are made, no castles built!

No Summit Conference Under Duress, Herter Says

By David Lawrence

GENEVA—Face to face, the Secretary of State of the United States, Christian Herter, has told the Foreign Minister of the Soviet Union, Andrei Gromyko, that America will not go to the "Summit" Conference under duress—that is, while any threat to impose a new military setup in West Berlin is still in effect.

This episode, which occurred at a dinner given here by the British Foreign Secretary, Selwyn Lloyd, a few months ago, means more than all the so-called "package" proposals and counter-proposals which have been aired at the formal sessions of the four-power conference of foreign ministers in Geneva.

Mr. Gromyko argued that, in the ultimatum to the Western Allies to get out of Western Berlin, the deadline of May 27 was just a date pulled out of the air and that he did not intend to mention it till the end of the current conference. It was the Soviet Foreign Ministers' hint that the Moscow government might revive the threat which prompted Secretary Herter to say very calmly but firmly that a revival of the duress factor would cause President Eisenhower to absent himself from any "Summit" Meeting later on.

Actually there is no "duress" being exercised today in a formal sense, for the Soviets withdrew their ultimatum before the present conference began and simply said they were considering the signing of a peace treaty with East Germany. The brief conversation, however, between Mr. Herter and Mr. Gromyko not only illustrates the shiftiness of the Communists but demonstrates the utter futility of these foreign ministers' conferences and "Summit" meetings. For there is really no evidence at all of an intention by the Soviets to negotiate in good faith.

Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko has flagrantly disregarded even the rule of the conference that the East or West German envoys should speak only if no objection is raised by the members of the four-power conference. It had been agreed at the outset that, when either the East or West German representative wanted to talk, the chairman would ask the other foreign ministers if there were any objection. Mr. Gromyko took advantage of his turn as chairman to let the East German representative make a speech without giving the other three foreign ministers a chance to object. Mr. Herter was scheduled to speak, but Mr. Gromyko went ahead and gave the nod to the East German, anyhow. The incident was not important in itself, but it showed how untrustworthy is the word of the Soviets. They have been eager to give the impression that this is a "six-power" conference and that East Germany is on a basis of equality with all the other countries here. This is supposed to be effective propaganda behind the Iron Curtain.

But incidents like these are rapidly steering the conference into the realm of deadlock and failure. The Soviets now have taken advantage of the widely reported story that, if the present conference fails, there will be a "Summit" Meeting anyhow and that no agreement is even then necessary because there would be a succession of "Summit" conferences thereafter. This writer asked someone close to one of the Western delegations whether this concept was favored and was told that the proposal was regarded as a big mistake, originated by Senator Fulbright, Democrat, chairman of the U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It's an example of Congressional meddling in diplomatic negotiations, responsibility for the conduct of which is really vested by the Constitution in the Executive Branch of the United States Government

For, if a series of foreign ministers' conferences and "Summit" meetings are to be promised, then there is no pressure for agreement now—indeed, no sense of urgency at all. That's why the current conference is floundering.

One of the chief difficulties here is the propaganda build-up in advance of the conference. The word from America was that the President couldn't possibly turn down a bid to go to a "Summit" Meeting because of political opposition. Also the news reports implied that the allies had a "package" plan but already were prepared for "fall back" proposals. This was given a wrong twist this week in some newspaper articles, which said that American officials were ready to talk about the status of Berlin alone and had abandoned their advocac, of the "package" plan. The truth is that, in a general discussion the other day, some officials said, in effect, that, if the conference failed to reach any agreement on the whole "package," it might have to decide on the status of Berlin during any recess or adjournment.

For there is one thing clear. The United States is not going to proceed on the assumption that the signing of a "peace treaty" between East Germany and the Soviet Union changes one iota the legal rights of the allies to police the area known as West Berlin as specified in previous agreements approved by the wartime allies, including the Soviet Union.

It would be tragic, of course, if no progress were made at the current conference, but the whole proceeding may be of great value nevertheless as an eye-opener to the many credulous persons on this side of the Iron Curtain who have thought the Soviet regime was abandoning its trickery and was ready to qualify as a respectable and honest government in world society.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

One area where Congress is kicking over the traces is Presidential appointments. These range from postmasterships, through judges, up to cabinet rank.

The Senate is sitting on literally thousands of postmaster nominations in the hope that as the session progresses there will be a compromise whereby at least some Democratic hopefuls will be confirmed.

The Senate also has failed to act on a number of federal judgeship appointments and there are indications that it may stall in the hope of winning the White House next year and supplanting them with Democratic appointees.

The emotional explosion over the nominations of Clare Boothe Luce as ambassador to Brazil, and her subsequent resignation is just now dying down in the Capitol and is being replaced by the far more serious argument over the confirmation of Lewis Strauss as Secretary of Commerce.

There is real opposition to Strauss, primarily from Senators who dealt with him while he was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. But a good measure of opposition is designed to embarrass the President and his Administration.

It is questionable now whether Strauss will win confirmation. In any event the vote will be extremely close either way.

How A Sleepy Physician Beat Narcolepsy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Narcolepsy is an uncontrollable desire to sleep whenever the victim of this disorder relaxes his attention. The drowsy spell may develop when talking, driving a car, cooking, eating, walking, or watching television. The person nods, closes his eyes, and takes 40 winks.

Dr. Malcolm Park (pseudonym) told of his 28 year experience with narcolepsy in a story that appeared in the book, "When Doctors Are Patients." The bouts began in high school and they caused him such feelings of guilt and shame, he kept the secret of his sleepy spells to himself.

He was forced on many occasions to lower his head on the desk for a short nap and, on coming to, was surprisingly refreshed and alert. His college and medical school notebooks showed places where the clear handwriting faded into an illegible scrawl and then suddenly picked up again.

The handicap was more noticeable when he became an intern, especially when sleep overcame him while attending an operation or visiting patients in the wards. He held off as long as he could, excused himself, went to his room, flopped on the bed, and slept soundly for 10 to 20 minutes. He found out that the longer he postponed sleep the longer he slept when he gave into the urge, and vice versa.

By the time he started practicing he realized he had narcolepsy. He tried to ward off the attacks by taking a nap every three to four hours. Having his office at home helped in this respect. In addition, he took benzedrine and drank 10 to 12 cups of coffee a day. When it was necessary to drive the car, he usually selected a route that included parking facilities.

Despite everything, the sieges became more frequent and he began to doze five minutes after getting up from a full night's sleep. He decided to change tactics — to fight sleep to the bitter end — under the assumption that for him sleep was a bad habit. The ensuing struggle was worse than trying to break the smoking, drinking, and drug habits combined. But he won. Now he is able to, throw off the urge to sleep when it tries to trap him.

HIGH HEELS

R. P. writes: Does wearing high heeled shoes daily cause a tipped womb?

REPLY

No. Retrodisplacement of the uterus usually can be traced to childbirth. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this subject.

NO PERFECT PREVENTIVE

D. M. writes: Will taking things easy ward off a heart attack?

REPLY

It helps but the problem of heart attacks is more complex that this. The majority are caused by hardening of the coronary arteries and some persons develop arteriosclerosis of these vessels regardless of how they live or behave, in general, the likelihood of coronary thrombosis can be decreased by remaining active and following the rules of health on diet, rest, and moderation in all things.

ANEMIC OVERWEIGHT

Mrs. T. writes: Is it safe for an anemic woman who is too fat to go on a reducing diet?

REPLY

Yes, but she should continue to receive iron or vitamin B12 for her anemia. These products have no calories and will not hinder the dietary regimen. Moreover, the blood building foods such as meats and fruits are not as high in calories as most of the low-iron foods.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A 70-year-old banker defiantly faced his board of directors and announced he was going to marry an 18-year-old telephone operator.

"But J. B.," protested the vice-president, "isn't she just a wee bit on the young side for you?"

"Ridiculous!" snorted the banker. "Women of my own age are bossy, extravagant, and always dragging me off somewhere."

"Young girls are the same," persisted the vice-president.

"Sure they are," agreed the banker. "But who cares?"

Two angry young members of the downbeat generation went to the desert to see the flight of an experimental jet plane. In the course of same, the button was pressed on a new ejection seat, and the co-pilot floated lazily to earth by parachute.

Big Airplane Companies Lose First Round Over More Profits

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The big airplane companies which have a strangle-hold on defense missile production have lost round 1 in their lobbying to increase profits.

They've been trying to knock out the renegotiation clause in defense contracts, by which the Pentagon can recover excess profits. This clause expires June 30. And the big aircraft lobby backed by the National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has hired an interesting lobbyist.

He is Barron K. Grier, former clerk of the House Ways and Means Committee. Grier wasn't hired by accident. The Ways and Means Committee happens to be the key group which must pass on the extension of the renegotiation bill.

Most taxpayers don't realize it, but the largest hunk of their income tax goes for defense spending. And the largest part of defense spending goes to the big airplane and missile companies. They haven't been doing badly.

Boeing, which has now surpassed General Motors as the No. 1 defense contractor, averaged a profit on invested capital (after taxes) of 53 per cent in 1952, 1953 and 1954. Douglas Aircraft averaged about 85 per cent profit in 1953 and '54. Fairchild made 173 per cent profit in 1953, Grumman profited 71 per cent on capital investment in 1953; Lockheed profited 79 per cent in the same year. Glenn Martin averaged 78 per cent in '53 and '54; North American Aviation averaged 294 per cent in 1953-54; Tenco Aircraft averaged 41 per cent in 1952 and 1953.

Nevertheless these big beneficiaries from defense spending want to kill the renegotiation clause by which the government can take a second look at any company which makes too much money.

One argument is their "capital risks" involved. It took crusty old Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, to blow this claim out of the water. He pointed out to the Ways and Means Committee that it's the American taxpayers, not the private companies who "risk" capital in missile contracts. Vinson showed that in recent years both the plants and the facilities furnished to missile-makers by the government constitute up to 15 times the value of private invested capital.

The Ways and Means Committee listened to Vinson, voted to continue the renegotiation clause.

Highlights And Footnotes

The Federal Reserve Board is worried about consumer credit and installment buying. It reports that American families are plunging into debt at an alarming rate. Americans are able to buy anything from swimming pools to vacations on the installment plan, and installment payments are now the highest in history. Overextended credit, says the Federal Reserve Board, was one cause of the last depression. . . . The alarming lag in putting missiles in the 49th State will be televised by this writer — NBC, 6:30 p. m. EDT, this Sunday. Though Alaska is cheek-and-jowl with Siberia, no missiles (except short-range Nikes) have been placed in Alaska yet.

Two Friendly Ambassadors

If Democrats and Republicans on the national scene exercised the same good humor that prevails between Robert C. Hill, Republican, present U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, and William O'Dwyer, Democrat, ex-Ambassador to Mexico, politics might be a more amiable profession.

The other day, Republican Hill gave a luncheon for officers of the Mexican Chambers of Commerce and the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico. Democrat O'Dwyer, U. S. envoy from 1950 to 1953, now a partner in a Mexico City law firm, was an honored guest.

One after another of the Mexican businessmen, introduced by Hill, spoke briefly and extolled their host as "the best ambassador the United States ever sent down here."

Finally Hill — who has consulted O'Dwyer on numerous matters since assuming the diplomatic post in 1957 — called on New York City's former mayor to speak.

"I agree with the gentlemen who preceded me," O'Dwyer began. "Bob Hill is certainly the best ambassador we ever had in Mexico." When the applause for this generous gallantry had died down, the onetime Brooklyn cop grinned slyly and added:

"But you know I used to live here too, once upon a time — and come 1960, I just might be moving back in. Then maybe Bob will come around and ask me for a job."

A moment later Ambassador Hill was back at the microphone.

"What Bill was hinting about the fortunes of politics," he told his 200 guests, "reminds me of a story I heard during my last visit to the south.

"They told an old colored man named Sam that he was going to be allowed to vote for the first time, so he went down to the courthouse to see about it.

" 'Can you read and write?' the county clerk asked, and Sam said he could, so they handed him a newspaper to read. But the newspaper was in Chinese, and Sam kept turning it around and around, not saying anything.

" 'Come on, Sam,' the clerk urged. 'If you can really read what's it say there?'

" 'Course I can read!' Sam insisted. 'And it says here that doggoned few Republicans is goin' to be votin' in the south this year.' "

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

He was a good boy . . .

His name was Jesse W. James. At the age of 20, he wasn't much to look at: 5 feet 9, reddish hair, a scraggly beard, 140 pounds, and eyes the color of Dutch kitchen tiles. The year was 1867. The war was over. Quantrill's Raiders had disbanded. Neither Jesse nor Frank could stand farming after the war.

Frank was almost five years older, but Jesse was the nervous leader. He laughed quick. He wept quick. He fired quick. He knew more about religion than any boy around Centerville, Missouri, and as much as any youngster in Clay County. His father had been a Baptist Minister. His mother was a conscience-stricken Catholic. Jesse and Frank were known as good, quiet boys.

Jesse left the farm and picked up the three Younger Brothers. Their names were Coleman, Robert and James. They too were young. They too had fought for the South. Now they were restless. The days dragged. The sun always seemed be high over the farm. Life was work work work and no money, no girls, no excitement.

The James boys decided to rob banks. Their nerve was good, their horses strong. They loped into a town, hitched, loafed, stared, and moved in to the bank silently, swiftly and mercilessly. In time, the gang became colored pins on marshals' maps.

In the middle of the summer of 1871, seven of them showed up at Adair, Iowa, and held up a Rock Island train. It was their first train, and Jesse split his men so that one was in the locomotive, three in the cars, two rode horses up and down the flanks of the train, and one was at the back of the rear coach, with gun at the ready.

Success breeds success. For ten years, the Jesse James gang robbed banks, trains and stagecoaches. Jesse did so well that he took some time off, in the spring of 1874, to marry his cousin, Zerelda. In time, he became the father of a boy and a girl. It was about that time that he became suspicious. He lost his temper more easily; he fired his revolver on any provocation; he seldom allowed his own men out of his sight.

On September 7, 1876, the James gang moved into Northfield, Minnesota. They were going to rob the bank, as they had so many others. This one was different. Jesse James rode in to town with seven men. He left with one—his brother, Frank. Three of the bandits were shot dead in and around the bank. The three Yoounger brothers were wounded and captured.

Jesse went into hiding. It took three years to get his nerve back. When it came, he recruited a new gang, and robbed three trains. This was like the old days. And it might have remained that way except that, in 1880, William H. Wallace was elected prosecutor of Jackson County, Missouri, on his campaign to get rid of the James gang.

At one time, it was easy to find a place as a hideout. Many of the citizens admired Jesse. The citizens grew up. Jesse didn't. He couldn't find house room anywhere. Three of the gang were arrested and sent to prison; another shot one of the gang and surrendered to Wallace. James shot another man to death on suspicion of dealing with Wallace.

Again Jesse gave up gang life. He lived in St. Joseph as Thomas Howard. On April 3rd, 1882, one of his gang chatted with him a while, walked behind Jesse and fired a bullet through the back of James' head. He died in an hour.

Frank James was 39, old for a hard-riding bandit. He was broke. All of his money from all of the robberies was gone. No one would give him a meal or a drink. In the autumn of 1882 he surrendered. This, he thought, was the end. It had come quickly to Jesse. For Frank it would be slow.

It wasn't. No jury would convict him. He was tried twice on separate counts and acquitted. He had committed more crimes than most men could tally, but he went home, shaking his head. Frank James lived to be 72, a long time for a sedentary man to think, and wonder, and wish that he could undo so many things.

Frank never thought it was funny that Jesse died as a pious churchgoer. Frank attended services to the end of his days.

They were good boys . . .

Actually there is no "duress" being exercised today in a formal sense, for the Soviets withdrew their ultimatum before the present conference began and simply said they were considering the signing of a peace treaty with East Germany. The brief conversation, however, between Mr. Herter and Mr. Gromyko not only illustrates the shiftiness of the Communists but demonstrates the utter futility of these foreign ministers' conferences and "Summit" meetings. For there is really no evidence at all of an intention by the Soviets to negotiate in good faith.

Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko has flagrantly disregarded even the rule of the conference that the East or West German envoys should speak only if no objection is raised by the members of the four-power conference. It had been agreed at the outset that, when either the East or West German representative wanted to talk, the chairman would ask the other foreign ministers if there were any objection. Mr. Gromyko took advantage of his turn as chairman to let the East German representative make a speech without giving the other three foreign ministers a chance to object. Mr. Herter was scheduled to speak, but Mr. Gromyko went ahead and gave the nod to the East German, anyhow. The incident was not important in itself, but it showed how untrustworthy is the word of the Soviets. They have been eager to give the impression that this is a "six-power" conference and that East Germany is on a basis of equality with all the other countries here. This is supposed to be effective propaganda behind the Iron Curtain.

But incidents like these are rapidly steering the conference into the realm of deadlock and failure. The Soviets now have taken advantage of the widely reported story that, if the present conference fails, there will be a "Summit" Meeting anyhow and that no agreement is even then necessary because there would be a succession of "Summit" conferences thereafter. This writer asked someone close to one of the Western delegations whether this concept was favored and was told that the proposal was regarded as a big mistake, originated by Senator Fulbright, Democrat, chairman of the U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It's an example of Congressional meddling in diplomatic negotiations, responsibility for the conduct of which is really vested by the Constitution in the Executive Branch of the United States Government

For, if a series of foreign ministers' conferences and "Summit" meetings are to be promised, then there is no pressure for agreement now—indeed, no sense of urgency at all. That's why the current conference is floundering.

One of the chief difficulties here is the propaganda build-up in advance of the conference. The word from America was that the President couldn't possibly turn down a bid to go to a "Summit" Meeting because of political opposition. Also the news reports implied that the allies had a "package" plan but already were prepared for "fall back" proposals. This was given a wrong twist this week in some newspaper articles, which said that American officials were ready to talk about the status of Berlin alone and had abandoned their advocacy of the "package" plan. The truth is that, in a general discussion the other day, some officials said, in effect, that if the conference failed to reach any agreement on the whole "package," it might have to decide on the status of Berlin during any recess or adjournment.

For there is one thing clear. The United States is not going to proceed on the assumption that the signing of a "peace treaty" between East Germany and the Soviet Union changes one iota the legal rights of the allies to police the area known as West Berlin as specified in previous agreements approved by the wartime allies, including the Soviet Union.

It would be tragic, of course, if no progress were made at the current conference, but the whole proceeding may be of great value nevertheless as an eye-opener to the many credulous persons on this side of the Iron Curtain who have thought the Soviet regime was abandoning its trickery and was ready to qualify as a respectable and honest government in world society.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

One area where Congress is kicking over the traces is Presidential appointments. These range from postmasterships, through judges, up to cabinet rank.

The Senate is sitting on literally thousands of postmaster nominations in the hope that as the session progresses there will be a compromise whereby at least some Democratic hopefuls will be confirmed.

The Senate also has failed to act on a number of federal judgeship appointments and there are indications that it may stall in the hope of winning the White House next year and supplanting them with Democratic appointees.

The emotional explosion over the nominations of Clare Boothe Luce as ambassador to Brazil, and her subsequent resignation is just now dying down in the Capitol and is being replaced by the far more serious argument over the confirmation of Lewis Strauss as Secretary of Commerce.

There is real opposition to Strauss, primarily from Senators who dealt with him while he was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. But a good measure of opposition is designed to embarrass the President and his Administration.

It is questionable now whether Strauss will win confirmation. In any event the vote will be extremely close either way.

How A Sleepy Physician Beat Narcolepsy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Narcolepsy is an uncontrollable desire to sleep whenever the victim of this disorder relaxes his attention. The drowsy spell may develop when talking, driving a car, cooking, eating, walking, or watching television. The person nods, closes his eyes, and takes 40 winks.

Dr. Malcolm Park (pseudonym) told of his 28 year experience with narcolepsy in a story that appeared in the book, "When Doctors Are Patients." The bouts began in high school and they caused him such feelings of guilt and shame, he kept the secret of his sleepy spells to himself.

He was forced on many occasions to lower his head on the desk for a short nap and, on coming to, was surprisingly refreshed and alert. His college and medical school notebooks showed places where the clear handwriting faded into an illegible scrawl and then suddenly picked up again.

The handicap was more noticeable when he became an intern, especially when sleep overcame him while attending an operation or visiting patients in the wards. He held off as long as he could, excused himself, went to his room, flopped on the bed, and slept soundly for 10 to 20 minutes. He found out that the longer he postponed sleep the longer he slept when he gave into the urge, and vice versa.

By the time he started practicing he realized he had narcolepsy. He tried to ward off the attacks by taking a nap every three to four hours. Having his office at home helped in this respect. In addition, he took benzedrine and drank 10 to 12 cups of coffee a day. When it was necessary to drive the car, he usually selected a route that included parking facilities.

Despite everything, the sieges became more frequent and he began to doze five minutes after getting up from a full night's sleep. He decided to change tactics — to fight sleep to the bitter end — under the assumption that for him sleep was a bad habit. The ensuing struggle was worse than trying to break the smoking, drinking, and drug habits combined. But he won. Now he is able to throw off the urge to sleep when it tries to trap him.

TOMORROW: The hour, day, and month of births.

HIGH HEELS

R. P. writes: Does wearing high heeled shoes daily cause a tipped womb?

REPLY

No. Retrodisplacement of the uterus usually can be traced to childbirth. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this subject.

NO PERFECT PREVENTIVE

D. M. writes: Will taking things easy ward off a heart attack?

REPLY

It helps but the problem of heart attacks is more complex that this. The majority are caused by hardening of the coronary arteries and some persons develop arteriosclerosis of these vessels regardless of how they live or behave, in general, the likelihood of coronary thrombosis can be decreased by remaining active and following the rules of health on diet, rest, and moderation in all things.

ANEMIC OVERWEIGHT

Mrs. T. writes: Is it safe for an anemic woman who is too fat to go on a reducing diet?

REPLY

Yes, but she should continue to receive iron or vitamin B12 for her anemia. These products have no calories and will not hinder the dietary regimen. Moreover, the blood building foods such as meats and fruits are not as high in calories as most of the low-iron foods.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A 70-year-old banker defiantly faced his board of directors and announced he was going to marry an 18-year-old telephone operator.

"But J. B.," protested the vice-president, "isn't she just a wee bit on the young side for you?"

"Ridiculous!" snorted the banker. "Women of my own age are bossy, extravagant, and always dragging me off somewhere."

"Young girls are the same," persisted the vice-president.

"Sure they are," agreed the banker. "But who cares?"

Two angry young members of the downbeat generation went to the desert to see the flight of an experimental jet plane. In the course of same, the button was pressed on a new ejection seat, and the co-pilot floated lazily to earth by parachute.

Big Airplane Companies Lose First Round Over More Profits

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The big airplane companies which have a strangle-hold on defense missile production have lost round 1 in their lobbying to increase profits.

They've been trying to knock out the renegotiation clause in defense contracts, by which the Pentagon can recover excess profits. This clause expires June 30. And the big aircraft lobby backed by the National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has hired an interesting lobbyist.

He is Barron K. Grier, former clerk of the House Ways and Means Committee. Grier wasn't hired by accident. The Ways and Means Committee happens to be the key group which must pass on the extension of the renegotiation bill.

Most taxpayers don't realize it, but the largest hunk of their income tax goes for defense spending. And the largest part of defense spending goes to the big airplane and missile companies. They haven't been doing badly.

Boeing, which has now surpassed General Motors as the No. 1 defense contractor, averaged a profit on invested capital (after taxes) of 53 per cent in 1952, 1953 and 1954. Douglas Aircraft averaged about 85 per cent profit in 1953 and '54. Fairchild made 173 per cent profit in 1953, Grumman profited 71 per cent on capital investment in 1953; Lockheed profited 79 per cent in the same year. Glenn Martin averaged 78 per cent in '53 and '54; North American Aviation averaged 294 per cent in 1953-54; Tenco Aircraft averaged 41 per cent in 1952 and 1953.

Nevertheless these big beneficiaries from defense spending want to kill the renegotiation clause by which the government can take a second look at any company which makes too much money.

One argument is their "capital risks" involved. It took crusty old Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, to blow this claim out of the water. He pointed out to the Ways and Means Committee that it's the American taxpayers, not the private companies who "risk" capital in missile contracts. Vinson showed that in recent years both the plants and the facilities furnished to missile-makers by the government constitute up to 15 times the value of private invested capital.

The Ways and Means Committee listened to Vinson, voted to continue the renegotiation clause.

Highlights And Footnotes

The Federal Reserve Board is worried about consumer credit and installment buying. It reports that American families are plunging into debt at an alarming rate. Americans are able to buy anything from swimming pools to vacations on the installment plan, and installment payments are now the highest in history. Overextended credit, says the Federal Reserve Board, was one cause of the last depression. . . . The alarming lag in putting missiles in the 49th State will be televised by this writer — NBC, 6:30 p. m. EDT, this Sunday. Though Alaska is cheek-and-jowl with Siberia, no missiles (except short-range Nikes) have been placed in Alaska yet.

Two Friendly Ambassadors

If Democrats and Republicans on the national scene exercised the same good humor that prevails between Robert C. Hill, Republican, present U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, and William O'Dwyer, Democrat, ex-Ambassador to Mexico, politics might be a more amiable profession.

The other day, Republican Hill gave a luncheon for officers of the Mexican Chambers of Commerce and the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico. Democrat O'Dwyer, U. S. envoy from 1950 to 1953, now a partner in a Mexico City law firm, was an honored guest.

One after another of the Mexican businessmen, introduced by Hill, spoke briefly and extolled their host as "the best ambassador the United States ever sent down here."

Finally Hill — who has consulted O'Dwyer on numerous matters since assuming the diplomatic post in 1957 — called on New York City's former mayor to speak.

"I agree with the gentlemen who preceded me," O'Dwyer began. "Bob Hill is certainly the best ambassador we ever had in Mexico." When the applause for this generous gallantry had died down, the onetime Brooklyn cop grinned slyly and added:

"But you know I used to live here too, once upon a time — and come 1960, I just might be moving back in. Then maybe Bob will come around and ask me for a job."

A moment later Ambassador Hill was back at the microphone.

"What Bill was hinting about the fortunes of politics," he told his 200 guests, "reminds me of a story I heard during my last visit to the south.

"They told an old colored man named Sam that he was going to be allowed to vote for the first time, so he went down to the courthouse to see about it.

" 'Can you read and write?' the county clerk asked, and Sam said he could, so they handed him a newspaper to read. But the newspaper was in Chinese, and Sam kept turning it around and around, not saying anything.

" 'Come on, Sam,' the clerk urged. 'If you can really read what's it say there?'

" 'Course I can read!' Sam insisted. 'And it says here that doggoned few Republicans is goin' to be votin' in the south this year.' "

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

He was a good boy . . .

His name was Jesse W. James. At the age of 20, he wasn't much to look at: 5 feet 9, reddish hair, a scraggly beard, 140 pounds, and eyes the color of Dutch kitchen tiles. The year was 1867. The war was over. Quantrill's Raiders had disbanded. Neither Jesse nor Frank could stand farming after the war.

Frank was almost five years older, but Jesse was the nervous leader. He laughed quick. He wept quick. He fired quick. He knew more about religion than any boy around Centerville, Missouri, and as much as any youngster in Clay County. His father had been a Baptist Minister. His mother was a conscience-stricken Catholic. Jesse and Frank were known as good, quiet boys.

Jesse left the farm and picked up the three Younger Brothers. Their names were Coleman, Robert and James. They too were young. They too had fought for the South. Now they were restless. The days dragged. The sun always seemed be high over the farm. Life was work work work and no money, no girls, no excitement.

The James boys decided to rob banks. Their nerve was good, their horses strong. They loped into a town, hitched, loafed, stared, and moved in to the bank silently, swiftly and mercilessly. In time, the gang became colored pins on marshals' maps.

In the middle of the summer of 1871, seven of them showed up at Adair, Iowa, and held up a Rock Island train. It was their first train, and Jesse split his men so that one was in the locomotive, three in the cars, two rode horses up and down the flanks of the train, and one was at the back of the rear coach, with gun at the ready.

Success breeds success. For ten years, the Jesse James gang robbed banks, trains and stagecoaches. Jesse did so well that he took some time off, in the spring of 1874, to marry his cousin, Zerelda. In time, he became the father of a boy and a girl. It was about that time that he became suspicious. He lost his temper more easily; he fired his revolver on any provocation; he seldom allowed his own men out of his sight.

On September 7, 1876, the James gang moved into Northfield, Minnesota. They were going to rob the bank, as they had so many others. This one was different. Jesse James rode into town with seven men. He left with one—his brother, Frank. Three of the bandits were shot dead in and around the bank. The three Yoounger brothers were wounded and captured.

Jesse went into hiding. It took three years to get his nerve back. When it came, he recruited a new gang, and robbed three trains. This was like the old days. And it might have remained that way except that, in 1880, William H. Wallace was elected prosecutor of Jackson County, Missouri, on his campaign to get rid of the James gang.

At one time, it was easy to find a place as a hideout. Many of the citizens admired Jesse. The citizens grew up. Jesse didn't. He couldn't find houseroom anywhere. Three of the gang were arrested and sent to prison; another shot one of the gang and surrendered to Wallace. James shot another man to death on suspicion of dealing with Wallace.

Again Jesse gave up gang life. He lived in St. Joseph as Thomas Howard. On April 3rd, 1882, one of his gang chatted with him a while, walked behind Jesse, and fired a bullet through the back of James' head. He died in an hour.

Frank James was 39, old for a hard-riding bandit. He was broke. All of his money from all of the robberies was gone. No one would give him a meal or a drink. In the autumn of 1882, he surrendered. This, he thought, was the end. It had come quickly to Jesse. For Frank it would be slow.

It wasn't. No jury would convict him. He was tried twice on separate counts and acquitted. He had committed more crimes than most men could tally, but he went home, shaking his head. Frank James lived to be 72, a long time for a sedentary man to think, and wonder, and wish that he could undo so many things.

Frank never thought it was funny that Jesse died as a pious churchgoer. Frank attended services to the end of his days.

Berserk Miner Found Dead After Shooting His Wife

PINEVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — An apparently - berserk Wyoming County coal miner shot and killed himself Thursday while authorities searched for him in connection with the fatal shooting of his wife and wounding of a mother and her 15-year-old daughter.

The body of Drewery Lawrence, 44, of Clear Fork District, was found in a field near Long Branch where he apparently took refuge from police following the shootings Wednesday night.

Authorities said Lawrence, brother of Wyoming County Deputy Sheriff Bernie Lawrence, wounded Mrs. Audry Lester, 35, and her daughter, Judy, at their nearby Ikes Fork home and then went to his home and shot his wife, Maxine, 35.

According to police, Lawrence took two of their three children to a sister in Accoville, Logan County, and went to a field above a potato patch near Long Branch where he shot himself.

Mrs. Lester was admitted at Welch Emergency hospital where she was reported in fair condition. Her daughter was treated for a bullet wound in the chest and released.

President Will Help St. John's College

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — President Eisenhower will help tiny St. John's College dedicate a modern $2,100,000 complex of buildings on its 18th century campus Friday.

They include a memorial auditorium named for Francis Scott Key, author of the National anthem and an alumnus of the college; a laboratory building named for Paul Mellon, Upperville, Va. philanthropist who helped the college regain a financial footing; and a planetarium named for former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The sweeping complex is located on the back campus of St. John's and stands in striking contrast to some of its older buildings such as McDowell hall, the administration building which has been in use since colonial days.

President Eisenhower is scheduled to arrive by helicopter at 11:30 a.m. on his visit to the liberal arts school which has hosted three other U.S. presidents and in recent years has become famous for its curriculum based on the great books of Western civilization.

Meeting the President's plane when it lands on the campus near the new buildings will be Dr. Richard D. Weigle, college president, and Richard F. Cleveland, chairman of its board of visitors and governors. Cleveland, a Baltimore attorney, is a son of former President Grover Cleveland.

The President will join the St. John's faculty and senior class for a processional from McDowell hall to the new buildings. The school has only 200 students but an average of one tutor (professor) for every seven students.

Getty Praises Flynn's Work

James S. Getty, state's attorney for Allegany County, yesterday praised the work of R. Emmett Flynn who retired Monday as Police Chief of Cumberland.

Getty said the announcement of Flynn's retirement was accepted by the State's Attorney's office with mixed emotion. First with regret from the standpoint of losing an able and devoted public servant for whom he (Getty) has great admiration and respect, and at the same time with pleasure in knowing that the chief has accepted a less arduous and time-consuming position which will provide him with leisure time which he had not had for many years.

Getty said he knew that as Chief of Police, Flynn had neither leisure hours nor quiet nights.

Getty said that during Chief Flynn's administration he established, maintained and made possible splendid cooperation between the Police Department and the State's Attorney's Office.

Lawrence Jackson said he has been in poor health ever since surgeons of the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital operated on him for gastric ulcer March 31, 1954.

The suit claims the needle was discovered by doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital a year later, but it was not removed and Jackson was not told about it. Jackson was told of the needle this month by a private doctor who said it must be removed, the suit said.

Father, Son Get $50,600 In Damage Suit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Damages totaling $50,600 were awarded Thursday to the husband and son who survived a crash which killed a Hyattsville woman last fall.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen made the award in favor of Francis X. Gaegler Jr., 31, Washington attorney who lives (at 5723 29th Ave.) in Hyattsville, and his son Francis X. 3rd.

Mrs. Mary S. Gaegler, 32, an executive secretary with the AFL-CIO in Washington, died shortly after the car she was driving collided head on with a pick-up truck on Maryland 202 in Prince Georges County last Sept. 13.

The 4 - year - old son suffered broken bones and bruises in the accident and the husband's ulcer recurred.

Judge Thomsen awarded $28,600 to Gaegler for loss of his wife, his own injuries and his son's expenses, $19,000 to the boy for loss of his mother and his injuries and $3,000 for the mother's pain and suffering and for funeral expenses.

Judgments were against the truck driver, Leo Thomas of (16 E St. N.E.) Washington, and Henry C. Bungie of (928 48th St. N.E.) Washington. Bungie was operator of the Washington - Solomons Freight Line, owner of the truck.

The judge said in a written opinion that Thomas was driving on the wrong side of the road. Bungie denied he was liable for Thomas' negligence.

But the court held that on the day of the accident, Thomas had hauled milk to a farm to feed some hogs, including one in which they each had a half interest.

Berserk Miner Found Dead After Shooting His Wife

PINEVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — An apparently - berserk Wyoming County coal miner shot and killed himself Thursday while authorities searched for him in connection with the fatal shooting of his wife and wounding of a mother and her 15-year-old daughter.

The body of Drewery Lawrence, 44, of Clear Fork District, was found in a field near Long Branch where he apparently took refuge from police following the shootings Wednesday night.

Authorities said Lawrence, brother of Wyoming County Deputy Sheriff Bernie Lawrence, wounded Mrs. Audry Lester, 35, and her daughter, Judy, at their nearby Ikes Fork home and then went to his home and shot his wife, Maxine, 35.

According to police, Lawrence took two of their three children to a sister in Accoville, Logan County, and went to a field above a potato patch near Long Branch where he shot himself.

Mrs. Lester was admitted at Welch Emergency hospital where she was reported in fair condition. Her daughter was treated for a bullet wound in the chest and released.

President Will Help St. John's College

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — President Eisenhower will help tiny St. John's College dedicate a modern $2,100,000 complex of buildings on its 18th century campus Friday.

They include a memorial auditorium named for Francis Scott Key, author of the National anthem and an alumnus of the college; a laboratory building named for Paul Mellon, Upperville, Va. philanthropist who helped the college regain a financial footing; and a planetarium named for former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The sweeping complex is located on the back campus of St. John's and stands in striking contrast to some of its older buildings such as McDowell hall, the administration building which has been in use since colonial days.

President Eisenhower is scheduled to arrive by helicopter at 11:30 a.m. on his visit to the liberal arts school which has hosted three other U.S. presidents and in recent years has become famous for its curriculum based on the great books of Western civilization.

Meeting the President's plane when it lands on the campus near the new buildings will be Dr. Richard D. Weigle, college president, and Richard F. Cleveland, chairman of its board of visitors and governors. Cleveland, a Baltimore attorney, is a son of former President Grover Cleveland.

The President will join the St. John's faculty and senior class for a processional from McDowell hall to the new buildings. The school has only 200 students but an average of one tutor (professor) for every seven students.

The President will speak informally at the noon exercises.

Getty Praises Flynn's Work

James S. Getty, state's attorney for Allegany County, yesterday praised the work of R. Emmett Flynn who retired Monday as Police Chief of Cumberland.

Getty said the announcement of Flynn's retirement was accepted by the State's Attorney's office with mixed emotion. First with regret from the standpoint of losing an able and devoted public servant for whom he (Getty) has great admiration and respect, and at the same time with pleasure in knowing that the chief has accepted a less arduous and time-consuming position which will provide him with leisure time which he had not had for many years.

Getty said he knew that as Chief of Police, Flynn had neither leisure hours nor quiet nights.

Getty said that during Chief Flynn's administration he established, maintained and made possible splendid cooperation between the Police Department and the State's Attorney's Office.

Lawrence Jackson said he has been in poor health ever since surgeons of the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital operated on him for gastric ulcer March 31, 1954.

The suit claims the needle was discovered by doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital a year later, but it was not removed and Jackson was not told about it. Jackson was told of the needle this month by a private doctor who said it must be removed, the suit said.

Father, Son Get $50,600 In Damage Suit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Damages totaling $50,600 were awarded Thursday to the husband and son who survived a crash which killed a Hyattsville woman last fall.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen made the award in favor of Francis X. Gaegler Jr., 31, Washington attorney who lives (at 5723 29th Ave.) in Hyattsville, and his son Francis X. 3rd.

Mrs. Mary S. Gaegler, 32, an executive secretary with the AFL-CIO in Washington, died shortly after the car she was driving collided head on with a pick-up truck on Maryland 202 in Prince Georges County last Sept. 13.

The 4 - year - old son suffered broken bones and bruises in the accident and the husband's ulcer recurred.

Judge Thomsen awarded $28,600 to Gaegler for loss of his wife, his own injuries and his son's expenses, $19,000 to the boy for loss of his mother and his injuries and $3,000 for the mother's pain and suffering and for funeral expenses.

Judgments were against the truck driver, Leo Thomas of (16 E St. N.E.) Washington, and Henry C. Bungie of (928 48th St. N.E.) Washington. Bungie was operator of the Washington - Solomons Freight Line, owner of the truck.

The judge said in a written opinion that Thomas was driving on the wrong side of the road. Bungie denied he was liable for Thomas' negligence.

But the court held that on the day of the accident, Thomas had hauled milk to a farm to feed some hogs, including one in which they each had a half interest.

Password To Good Eating—Flank Steak

It's no secret that one password to good eating centers around the term, flank steak. What is this meat cut and from what section of the animal does it come?

This steak is a less-tender beef cut which comes from the flank section of the animal. It is best prepared when a moist heat method of meat cookery is applied.

In this particular recipe, the flank steak is fashioned into a party meat entree. Mushrooms, frozen chopped spinach, onion, seasonings, rice and condensed mushroom soup comprise the tempting stuffing used as the peppy partner for this less-tender beef cut.

Fancy Stuffed Flank Steak

2 beef flank steaks (about 1 pound each)
1 can (4 ounces) chopped mushrooms
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well drained
1 tablespoon chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked rice
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
¼ cup water

Pound or lightly score flank steak on both sides. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Combine mushrooms, spinach, onion, salt and rice. Spread half the mixture (about 1 cup) on each flank steak and roll as a jelly roll. Tie steaks with string and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine mushroom soup, mushroom liquid and water. Pour over steaks. Cover and cook slowly 1½ hours or until tender. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

A bowl of thick, sturdy vegetable soup plus a dish of canned apple sauce topped with crumbled peanuts add up to a light lunch — but a most satisfying one, at that.

Pickle Fans Garnish Many Dishes

Pamper your salads, meat platters and soups. Don't skip the little garnishes that make the simplest of fare more appetizing.

As a change from staid carrot sticks, celery curls and radish roses, consider the zestful food decorations that can be fashioned from pickles. Easy little tricks with them can make the ordinary dish seem extraordinary.

Among the more familiar appetizer-garnishes, perhaps, are pickle fans. All you do is slice sweet pickles into strips starting from the small end to within half an inch of the large end. Pull the strips out gently to form a fan.

Even easier to make are these cheese pickles, anchovy gherkins and pickle sticks.

CHEESE PICKLES: Cut ends from whole pickles and scoop out center with an apple corer. Wipe the cavities with paper towels. Season cottage cheese with salt and pepper and pack sieved cottage cheese into the pickle cavities. Refrigerate for several hours. Then slice thin and arrange three or four pieces on individual fruit salad plates.

ANCHOVY GHERKINS: Wrap small sweet gherkins with strips of anchovy and skewer. Garnish plates of tossed greens with two or three of them.

PICKLE STICKS: Slice large, whole pickles into narrow sticks or use the commercial pickle sticks. Insert two narrow strips of the pickle through a large pitted Spanish green olive. Surround a platter of cold cuts with several of these.

SOUP GARNISH: Sprinkle finely minced dill pickle on top of servings of any cream soup.

Spanish Spring In Pitcher

Wine drinks poured from a pitcher are favorite drinks when warm weather comes to Spain, and the basis of many of them is a bottle of Spanish sherry. An orange and a lemon are peeled; first the peels and then the juices are poured into a pitcher. A few pieces of any fruit available — strawberries, pineapple sticks, and even cucumber slices — are added, along with a bottle of dry fino or nutty amontillado sherry, and ice. The drink is sweetened to taste with white or brown sugar, honey, or Grenadine. Glasses of this springtime nectar are served with slices of ham, sausage, nuts, olives and bits of cheese, as a between-meals snack.

Hidden Treasure

Try A Calico Tuna Mold

This season, strike a happy chord to the tune of a tuna mold —Calico style!

A decorative year-round taste treat, the mold gives a special lift, adding variety when you need it the most.

Prepare it in the afternoon, pop it into the refrigerator, and have it ready and waiting for a well-balanced family supper — high in protein, low in calories. It's also a sure hit as a late evening snack, making a stunning pink and green centerpiece to brighten any buffet.

The main ingredients are gelatine and tuna (although, if you're caught with the leftover blues, chicken, turkey, salmon or veal are ideal substitutes). The "Calico" flavor and eye-appeal is created by combining mayonnaise, lemon juice, diced celery, sweet pickles and green peas with tasty catsup, for added zest.

Try these short steps to prepare your Calico Tuna Mold:

Calico Tuna Mold

2 envelopes (tablespoons) plain gelatine
½ cup cold water
1½ cups boiling water
1 cup catsup
¾ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
2 T lemon juice
1 cup diced celery
2 T chopped sweet pickles
1½ cups cooked green peas (drained canned, cooked fresh or 1 10-ounce package frozen peas, cooked)
1 9¼-ounce can tuna fish, drained and flaked

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Stir in catsup, salad dressing and lemon juice and stir until smooth. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in celery, pickles, peas and fish. Pour into oiled individual molds or large fish mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens. Garnish with tomato wedges. Yield: 6 to 8 servings, 5½ cups.

Pecan Apple Cream Pie

2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 10" baked pastry shell
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 15-oz. can sweetened condensed milk
⅓ cup lemon juice
¼ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 eggs, separated
½ cup heavy cream
10-12 pecan nut meats

Reserve 16 perfect apple slices for garnish; combine remaining apples, sugar, water, cinnamon, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Bring to boiling point, simmer slowly until apples are slightly transparent. Combine cornstarch with a little cold water to form thin paste. Add to apples; cook until thickened, stirring gently. Pour into pastry shell. Soften gelatine in cold water 5 minutes; dissolve over boiling water. Combine condensed milk, ⅓ cup lemon juice and ¼ cup orange juice, orange rind and gelatine; mix well. Beat egg yolks; add. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in; pour over apples in shell. Chill. Just before serving, whip cream, use as garnish with reserved apple slices and pecans. Makes 8-10 servings.

Five-Minute Fino Ragout

Spanish sherry can make left-over foods taste like royal fare, and you can test the truism by cutting in cubes any left-over roast, combining this with half a cup of dry fino or nutty amontillado sherry, adding one or two cupfuls of your favorite vegetables, canned or fresh, such as carrots and peas, along with a small can of tomato paste, and such seasonings as oregano and garlic powder. Such stews are delicious with salad, crusty bread and glasses of sherry served chilled, on-the-rocks or with soda.

Taffy Float

Milk
1 scoop (¼ pint) vanilla, chocolate, or coffe ice cream

Put unsulphured molasses in 12-ounce glass; fill half full with milk. Add ice cream; stir vigorously. Fill glass to top with milk. Yield: 1 serving.

For variation: Add 2 teaspoons instant coffee to molasses-milk blend, before adding ice cream and remainder of milk.

Pot roast, either hot or cold, takes on new zest when served with canned apple sauce. Another congenial twosome is canned apple sauce with potato pancakes.

Showy Salads

Be showy with the tossed salads you prepare for guest meals. Use a variety of greens and have them crisp and cold. Any of the different kinds of lettuce, endive, romaine and watercress are good.

Pique interest by tossing in an assortment of special tidbits. Sliced eggs, canned artichoke hearts, avocado wedges and stuffed olives provide flavor and color contrast.

For those who enjoy the crunch of almond or nibble of anchovy in a salad — but not too much — home economists recommend the new anchovy and almond stuffed olives now on the market. Just drop the whole olives into the greens or slice them once, cross-wise, to expose their flavorful centers.

Drizzle on olive oil, making certain each leafy green is coated with oil. Then sprinkle a good wine vinegar over the mixture and season with salt and freshly ground pepper. A bit of oregano, thyme or crushed tarragon goes well in such salads, too.

Pour unsulphured molasses over vanilla ice cream. Serve plain or with chopped nuts, flaked coconut, crushed pineapple, or chopped maraschino cherries.

It's no secret that one password to good eating centers around the term, flank steak. What is this meat cut and from what section of the animal does it come?

This steak is a less-tender beef cut which comes from the flank section of the animal. It is best prepared when a moist heat method of meat cookery is applied.

In this particular recipe, the flank steak is fashioned into a party meat entree. Mushrooms, frozen chopped spinach, onion, seasonings, rice and condensed mushroom soup comprise the tempting stuffing used as the peppy partner for this less-tender beef cut.

Fancy Stuffed Flank Steak

2 beef flank steaks (about 1 pound each)
1 can (4 ounces) chopped mushrooms
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well drained
1 tablespoon chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked rice
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
¼ cup water

Pound or lightly score flank steak on both sides. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Combine mushrooms, spinach, onion, salt and rice. Spread half the mixture (about 1 cup) on each flank steak and roll as a jelly roll. Tie steaks with string and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine mushroom soup, mushroom liquid and water. Pour over steaks. Cover and cook slowly 1½ hours or until tender. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

A bowl of thick, sturdy vegetable soup plus a dish of canned apple sauce topped with crumbled peanuts add up to a light lunch — but a most satisfying one, at that.

Pickle Fans Garnish Many Dishes

Pamper your salads, meat platters and soups. Don't skip the little garnishes that make the simplest of fare more appetizing.

As a change from staid carrot sticks, celery curls and radish roses, consider the zestful food decorations that can be fashioned from pickles. Easy little tricks with them can make the ordinary dish seem extraordinary.

Among the more familiar appetizer-garnishes, perhaps, are pickle fans. All you do is slice sweet pickles into strips starting from the small end to within half an inch of the large end. Pull the strips out gently to form a fan.

Even easier to make are these cheese pickles, anchovy gherkins and pickle sticks.

CHEESE PICKLES: Cut ends from whole pickles and scoop out center with an apple corer. Wipe the cavities with paper towels. Season cottage cheese with salt and pepper and pack sieved cottage cheese into the pickle cavities. Refrigerate for several hours. Then slice thin and arrange three or four pieces on individual fruit salad plates.

ANCHOVY GHERKINS: Wrap small sweet gherkins with strips of anchovy and skewer. Garnish plates of tossed greens with two or three of them.

PICKLE STICKS: Slice large, whole pickles into narrow sticks or use the commercial pickle sticks. Insert two narrow strips of the pickle through a large pitted Spanish green olive. Surround a platter of cold cuts with several of these.

SOUP GARNISH: Sprinkle finely minced dill pickle on top of servings of any cream soup.

Spanish Spring In Pitcher

Wine drinks poured from a pitcher are favorite drinks when warm weather comes to Spain, and the basis of many of them is a bottle of Spanish sherry. An orange and a lemon are peeled; first the peels and then the juices are poured into a pitcher. A few pieces of any fruit available — strawberries, pineapple sticks, and even cucumber slices — are added, along with a bottle of dry fino or nutty amontillado sherry, and ice. The drink is sweetened to taste with white or brown sugar, honey, or Grenadine. Glasses of this springtime nectar are served with slices of ham, sausage, nuts, olives and bits of cheese, as a between-meals snack.

Hidden Treasure

Try A Calico Tuna Mold

Calico Tuna Mold

This season, strike a happy chord to the tune of a tuna mold —Calico style!

A decorative year-round taste treat, the mold gives a special lift, adding variety when you need it the most.

Prepare it in the afternoon, pop it into the refrigerator, and have it ready and waiting for a well-balanced family supper — high in protein, low in calories. It's also a sure hit as a late evening snack, making a stunning pink and green centerpiece to brighten any buffet.

The main ingredients are gelatine and tuna (although, if you're caught with the leftover blues, chicken, turkey, salmon or veal are ideal substitutes). The "Calico" flavor and eye-appeal is created by combining mayonnaise, lemon juice, diced celery, sweet pickles and green peas with tasty catsup, for added zest.

Try these short steps to prepare your Calico Tuna Mold:

2 envelopes (tablespoons) plain gelatine
½ cup cold water
1½ cups boiling water
1 cup catsup
¾ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
2 T lemon juice
1 cup diced celery
2 T chopped sweet pickles
1½ cups cooked green peas (drained canned, cooked fresh or 1 10-ounce package frozen peas, cooked)
1 9¼-ounce can tuna fish, drained and flaked

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Stir in catsup, salad dressing and lemon juice and stir until smooth. Cool until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in celery, pickles, peas and fish. Pour into oiled individual molds or large fish mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens. Garnish with tomato wedges. Yield: 6 to 8 servings, 5½ cups.

Pecan Apple Cream Pie

2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 10" baked pastry shell
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 15-oz. can sweetened condensed milk
⅓ cup lemon juice
¼ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 eggs, separated
½ cup heavy cream
10-12 pecan nut meats

Reserve 16 perfect apple slices for garnish; combine remaining apples, sugar, water, cinnamon, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Bring to boiling point, simmer slowly until apples are slightly transparent. Combine cornstarch with a little cold water to form thin paste. Add to apples; cook until thickened, stirring gently. Pour into pastry shell. Soften gelatine in cold water 5 minutes; dissolve over boiling water. Combine condensed milk, ⅓ cup lemon juice and ¼ cup orange juice, orange rind and gelatine; mix well. Beat egg yolks; add. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in; pour over apples in shell. Chill. Just before serving, whip cream, use as garnish with reserved apple slices and pecans. Makes 8-10 servings.

Five-Minute Fino Ragout

Spanish sherry can make left-over foods taste like royal fare, and you can test the truism by cutting in cubes any left-over roast, combining this with half a cup of dry fino or nutty amontillado sherry, adding one or two cupfuls of your favorite vegetables, canned or fresh, such as carrots and peas, along with a small can of tomato paste, and such seasonings as oregano and garlic powder. Such stews are delicious with salad, crusty bread and glasses of sherry served chilled, on-the-rocks or with soda.

Taffy Float

Milk
1 scoop (¼ pint) vanilla, chocolate, or coffe ice cream

Put unsulphured molasses in 12-ounce glass; fill half full with milk. Add ice cream; stir vigorously. Fill glass to top with milk. Yield: 1 serving.

For variation: Add 2 teaspoons instant coffee to molasses-milk blend, before adding ice cream and remainder of milk.

Pot roast, either hot or cold, takes on new zest when served with canned apple sauce. Another congenial twosome is canned apple sauce with potato pancakes.

Showy Salads

Be showy with the tossed salads you prepare for guest meals. Use a variety of greens and have them crisp and cold. Any of the different kinds of lettuce, endive, romaine and watercress are good.

Pique interest by tossing in an assortment of special tidbits. Sliced eggs, canned artichoke hearts, avocado wedges and stuffed olives provide flavor and color contrast.

For those who enjoy the crunch of almond or nibble of anchovy in a salad — but not too much — home economists recommend the new anchovy and almond stuffed olives now on the market. Just drop the whole olives into the greens or slice them once, cross-wise, to expose their flavorful centers.

Drizzle on olive oil, making certain each leafy green is coated with oil. Then sprinkle a good wine vinegar over the mixture and season with salt and freshly ground pepper. A bit of oregano, thyme or crushed tarragon goes well in such salads, too.

Pour unsulphured molasses over vanilla ice cream. Serve plain or with chopped nuts, flaked coconut, crushed pineapple, or chopped maraschino cherries.

No breakfast or skimpy breakfasts are common practices among dieting teen-age girls. Nutritionists and doctors are concerned with the inadequate diets teen-agers follow when they try to reduce without supervision.

Research at the State University of Iowa has demonstrated that skipping or skimping on breakfast did not change young college women's weights provided the total number of calories for the day remained constant. In all cases the diets included an adequate breakfast which has been shown to be necessary to maintain efficiency in the late morning hours.

The recommended diet breakfast, shown on the left above, provides approximately one-fourth of the calories in a 1500-calorie diet. It provides one-fourth of the daily protein allowance, recommended by the National Research Council, for teen-age girls, 13 through 19 years of age. The orange juice, toast, and coffee breakfast falls far short of being an adequate reducing breakfast.

For health's sake, all dieting should be done under the supervision of a doctor.

Spanish Dessert Toast

Did you know that what we call "French toast" is really an adaptation of a Spanish dessert? Torrijas, the Spanish call it. However, the Spanish toast is made with a batter containing Spanish sherry. Slices of bread are soaked in a mixture of 2 beaten eggs, a cup of milk and 2 tablespoons of sherry of the oloroso type (this is enough for 6 slices of bread, crusts removed). When the bread has absorbed the mixture, the slices are fried in butter until crisp and golden on each side, then drained on absorbent paper. They may be served hot, topped with fruit preserves or syrup, or they may be served an hour or two after cooking, reheated in the oven then topped with a hot cinnamon-flavored sherry sauce. Along with the fried toast, oloroso sherry is served so that the diners may "toast" one another in tribute to a fine dessert.

Mandarin Rice Delight

- ½ cup raw white rice
- 3 cups hot water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 2 cups milk
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 8-oz. jar candied melon cubes or glace fruit cake mix
- Kumquats
- 1 6-oz. jar hard sauce

Add rice to hot water and salt. Cook 20 minutes, stirring occasionally with a fork. Drain. Combine and add sugar, vanilla, lemon rind, milk and butter. Mix gently. Cook over moderate heat, stirring occasionally, until most of liquid is absorbed. Candied fruit may be folded into pudding and/or used as garnish. To serve, spoon pudding into a deep dish and garnish with candied fruit, kumquats and generous spoonfuls of hard sauce. This pudding is at its best served warm so that the hard sauce melts down into it and imparts a delicious flavor. Makes 6 servings.

Hawaiian Veal Treat

Not just everyone can afford a Hawaiian vacation but everyone and anyone can dream, can't they?

Better yet, they can read about their distant dreams or even prepare foods native to these islands of enchantment, Hawaii.

Try this recipe featuring veal and pineapple spears. The name . . . Hawaiian Veal Treat.

Hawaiian Veal Treat

- 2 veal round steaks cut ½ inch thick
- 12 canned pineapple spears
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings

Cut veal steaks into 6 pieces. Pound steaks to ¼ inch thickness. Place 2 pineapple spears on each piece of veal steak and roll like a jelly roll. Fasten with wooden picks or skewers. Beat together egg, flour, salt and pepper. Dip veal birds in batter and then lightly brown on all sides in lard or drippings. Place birds in a greased 8x8-inch baking dish. Cover and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 45 minutes. Uncover and continue baking 15 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Liver And Bacon In A Kabob Twosome

Often served together but not in kabob fashion, this recipe, Liver and Bacon Kabobs, presents just another idea to spark your family's interest in variety meat menus.

Research has indicated that a four-ounce serving of liver will supply the individual with over 100 per cent of his daily riboflavin, niacin and iron requirement.

In preparing this entree, the list of ingredients is short . . . beef liver, bacon, cooked onions and French dressing. The kabobs require only 8 to 10 minutes broiling time.

Liver And Bacon Kabobs

- 1 pound beef liver, sliced ½ inch thick
- 8 slices bacon
- 16 small cooked onions
- ⅓ cup French dressing
- 8 6-inch metal skewers

Cut liver into 1½-inch pieces. On each of the eight 6-inch skewers, thread 3 or 4 pieces of liver, 2 onions and 1 slice of bacon, weaving bacon between. Set regulator for broiling. Place kabobs on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan so the top surface of the kabobs is 3 to 4 inches from the heat. Brush kabobs with French dressing, using about half the dressing. Broil for 5 minutes or until browned. Turn and brush kabobs with remaining dressing. Continue broiling for 3 to 4 minutes, or until browned. Yield: 4 servings.

No breakfast or skimpy breakfasts are common practices among dieting teen-age girls. Nutritionists and doctors are concerned with the inadequate diets teen-agers follow when they try to reduce without supervision.

Research at the State University of Iowa has demonstrated that skipping or skimping on breakfast did not change young college women's weights provided the total number of calories for the day remained constant. In all cases the diets included an adequate breakfast which has been shown to be necessary to maintain efficiency in the late morning hours.

The recommended diet breakfast, shown on the left above, provides approximately one-fourth of the calories in a 1500-calorie diet. It provides one-fourth of the daily protein allowance, recommended by the National Research Council, for teen-age girls, 13 through 19 years of age. The orange juice, toast, and coffee breakfast falls far short of being an adequate reducing breakfast.

For health's sake, all dieting should be done under the supervision of a doctor.

Spanish Dessert Toast

Did you know that what we call "French toast" is really an adaptation of a Spanish dessert? Torrijas, the Spanish call it. However, the Spanish toast is made with a batter containing Spanish sherry. Slices of bread are soaked in a mixture of 2 beaten eggs, a cup of milk and 2 tablespoons of sherry of the oloroso type (this is enough for 6 slices of bread, crusts removed). When the bread has absorbed the mixture, the slices are fried in butter until crisp and golden on each side, then drained on absorbent paper. They may be served hot, topped with fruit preserves or syrup, or they may be served an hour or two after cooking, reheated in the oven then topped with a hot cinnamon-flavored sherry sauce. Along with the fried toast, oloroso sherry is served so that the diners may "toast" one another in tribute to a fine dessert.

Mandarin Rice Delight

- ½ cup raw white rice
- 3 cups hot water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 2 cups milk
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 8-oz. jar candied melon cubes or glace fruit cake mix
- Kumquats
- 1 6-oz. jar hard sauce

Add rice to hot water and salt. Cook 20 minutes, stirring occasionally with a fork. Drain. Combine and add sugar, vanilla, lemon rind, milk and butter. Mix gently. Cook over moderate heat, stirring occasionally, until most of liquid is absorbed. Candied fruit may be folded into pudding and/or used as garnish. To serve, spoon pudding into a deep dish and garnish with candied fruit, kumquats and generous spoonfuls of hard sauce. This pudding is at its best served warm so that the hard sauce melts down into it and imparts a delicious flavor. Makes 6 servings.

Hawaiian Veal Treat

Not just everyone can afford a Hawaiian vacation but everyone and anyone can dream, can't they?

Better yet, they can read about their distant dreams or even prepare foods native to these islands of enchantment, Hawaii.

Try this recipe featuring veal and pineapple spears. The name . . . Hawaiian Veal Treat.

Hawaiian Veal Treat

- 2 veal round steaks cut ½ inch thick
- 12 canned pineapple spears
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings

Cut veal steaks into 6 pieces. Pound steaks to ¼ inch thickness. Place 2 pineapple spears on each piece of veal steak and roll like a jelly roll. Fasten with wooden picks or skewers. Beat together egg, flour, salt and pepper. Dip veal birds in batter and then lightly brown on all sides in lard or drippings. Place birds in a greased 8x8-inch baking dish. Cover and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 45 minutes. Uncover and continue baking 15 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Liver And Bacon In A Kabob Twosome

The last word in kabob cooking can be seen in this pleasing liver and bacon twosome.

Often served together but not in kabob fashion, this recipe, Liver and Bacon Kabobs, presents just another idea to spark your family's interest in variety meat menus.

Research has indicated that a four-ounce serving of liver will supply the individual with over 100 per cent of his daily riboflavin, niacin and iron requirement.

In preparing this entree, the list of ingredients is short . . . beef liver, bacon, cooked onions and French dressing. The kabobs require only 8 to 10 minutes broiling time.

Liver And Bacon Kabobs

- 1 pound beef liver, sliced ½ inch thick
- 8 slices bacon
- 16 small cooked onions
- ⅓ cup French dressing
- 8 6-inch metal skewers

Cut liver into 1½-inch pieces. On each of the eight 6-inch skewers, thread 3 or 4 pieces of liver, 2 onions and 1 slice of bacon, weaving bacon between. Set regulator for broiling. Place kabobs on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan so the top surface of the kabobs is 3 to 4 inches from the heat. Brush kabobs with French dressing, using about half the dressing. Broil for 5 minutes or until browned. Turn and brush kabobs with remaining dressing. Continue broiling for 3 to 4 minutes, or until browned. Yield: 4 servings.

Fresh Sweet Corn Now On The Best-Buy List

The foods we associate with spring are arriving in the market supplying us with a variety of foods at attractive prices. Produce from local as well as southern and western growing areas is available for the consumers market basket, says, Virginia McLuckie, Food Economist, Baltimore Office, University of Maryland, Department of Markets.

Fresh sweet corn is on the best-buy list this week. The Florida growers are shipping in a liberal supply of sweet corn of good quality that is attractively priced. Much of the sweet corn is hydro-cooled in the field, then shipped in refrigerated cars, held in refrigerated cases or on beds of ice in the stores to insure top quality produce for the consumers choice. In selecting corn, look for bright green husks, tender, plump, well filled kernels that milk flows from when you press them with your thumb. Both yellow and white kernel corn is available.

Cabbage from the Carolinas and Florida is again on the list of best-buys and a profitable buy. We eat more cabbage per person each year than we do any other fresh vegetable with the exception of potatoes. Raw cabbage is a good source of vitamin C. Select solid, firm heads, heavy for their size.

Florida celery is a good buy. Celery is one of the few vegetables in which there is no waste; every bit from the leaves to the end of the stalk can be used. Celery is popular cooked or raw. Most of the crop now available is the green pascal variety that is practically stringless.

Fresh green peas from North Carolina are reasonable in cost. Florida tomatoes are showing a downward trend in price. The new crop of onions from Texas is starting to arrive at local produce counters. The onion market is weaker and still relatively high. Locally grown rhubarb is in greater supply. Now is the time to prepare for canning or freezing rhubarb for use later in the year.

Strawberries are on the list of best-buys. The supply is coming from North Carolina, Virginia and California. Some Eastern Shore Maryland strawberries are now available. These berries are of good quality, firm, deep red and with a good flavor. Strawberries are an excellent source of vitamin C. One cup will give you about the same amount of vitamin C as a six ounce glass of orange juice. Proper care of strawberries begins when you are shopping. Make strawberries your last purchase at the store so they do not get crushed under other packages.

Watermelons from Florida are still high in cost and the market is weaker. Cantelopes, mostly from Mexico are lower in cost.

Apples are still available in generous volume. There are a number of varieties on the market; Red and Golden Delicious, Winesaps, Yorks, Romes, Black Twigs and Lowrys. Apples are a satisfying fruit for in-between snacks and for lunch boxes and desserts.

The meat counter offerings are many but the best-buys will be found in pork roasts and fryer chickens. A seasonal firming of pork prices can be expected during summer months so take advantage of the buys now being offered in pork. Fryer chickens are top value buys not only for their tender meat and fine flavor but also for the ease with which they may be prepared. Shad is seasonal and the best-buy at the fish counter.

Sweet And Sour Cabbage

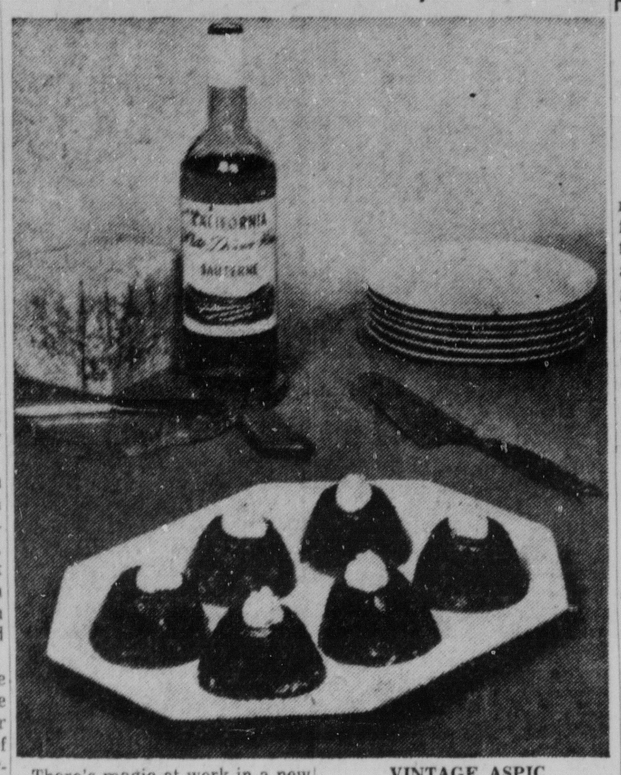
4 cups shredded cabbage
2 sour apples, cored and finely diced
2 tablespoons bacon fat
2 tablespoons flour
4 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
Salt and pepper

Season the cabbage and add apples. Heat fat in a frying pan, add cabbage-apple mixture, pour a little boiling water over it, cover and simmer until tender, about 20 minutes. Combine flour and sugar and add. Blend well. Stir in vinegar. Simmer for 3 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Peanut Ham Salad Sandwiches

What to do with all that ham left on the bone that can't be sliced? Just cut off the chunks of meat left and put them through a meat grinder with peanuts. Add chopped onion or chives, chopped celery, mustard and/or horseradish, chopped pickles, salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Moisten with salad dressing or mayonnaise. Now you have a delicious filling to spread between thin slices of bread for sandwiches or on crackers for canapes. The filling can be stored in the refrigerator for several days.

A New Tomato Aspic



There's magic at work in a new tomato aspic. The surprise ingredients are California Sauterne wine and Danish blue cheese but still more surprising is the effect they have on each other.

You can mix and serve this aspic as soon as it is jelled. It's excellent. But let it stand in the refrigerator for a day or even two, and it's sensational. The flavors blend and mellow in a way you won't believe until you try it yourself.

It is a wonderful do-it-ahead salad for a buffet supper, or fine for a soup and salad luncheon. For greatest enjoyment, serve glasses of the same Sauterne, lightly chilled, along with the meal. These good things deserve one another.

VINTAGE ASPIC

1¼ cups tomato juice
⅛ teaspoon rosemary or basil
¼ teaspoon salt
1 package lemon flavored gelatin
¾ cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
3 tablespoons wine vinegar
⅓ cup crumbled Danish Blue cheese

Heat tomato juice, rosemary and salt to boiling; add gelatin and stir until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat; blend in wine and wine vinegar. When mixture begins to thicken stir in crumbled cheese. Turn into individual molds or small ring mold and chill until firm. Serve on crisp salad greens with a dressing made by mixing squal parts of mayonnaise, commercial sour cream and crumbled Danish blue cheese.

Chef's Alpine Salad

6 cups assorted crisp salad greens (lettuce, romaine, chicory, endive, etc.)
2 cups Swiss cheese, cut in strips
1½ cups cooked ham, cut in strips
2 large tomatoes, cut in wedges
1½ cups sliced radishes
1 cucumber, cut in thin slices
½ cup garlic croutons
Salt and pepper
Salad oil
Tarragon vinegar

Tear salad greens into bite-sized pieces. Combine greens, Swiss cheese, ham, tomatoes, radishes, cucumber, croutons. Add salt and pepper to taste. Toss lightly with salad oil and tarragon vinegar. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

A Dessert For Dieters

You needn't deprive the gals of dessert at your spring luncheons, simply because so many are on slimming diets.

Choose a shimmering, molded dessert such as this orange blossom whip. It is low in calories but high in flavor appeal. Skim milk is used in its preparation. Skim milk contains a mere 85 calories per eight ounce cup, yet is equally as nourishing as fresh whole milk. Only the fats have been removed.

Orange Whip

(Six Servings)
3 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups skim milk
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1 6-ounce can frozen concentrated orange juice, undiluted and unthawed
3 eggs, beaten stiff
3 tablespoons sugar

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in sugar and salt. Stir in 1½ cups of skim milk. Cook over hot water until mixture coats a spoon. Soften gelatin in remaining ½ cup skim milk; dissolve in hot custard juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat until frothy. Add sugar to egg whites; fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon into a 1½-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with fresh orange slices.

Sherry Originated In Spain

Sherry, named after the town of Jerez, in southern Spain, is produced in a tiny vineyard area restricted by law, totalling less than 21,000 acres, all of which would fit into Manhattan Island.

A Dessert For Dieters

You needn't deprive the gals of dessert at your spring luncheons, simply because so many are on slimming diets.

Choose a shimmering, molded dessert such as this orange blossom whip. It is low in calories but high in flavor appeal. Skim milk is used in its preparation. Skim milk contains a mere 85 calories per eight ounce cup, yet is equally as nourishing as fresh whole milk. Only the fats have been removed.

Orange Whip

(Six Servings)
3 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups skim milk
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1 6-ounce can frozen concentrated orange juice, undiluted and unthawed
3 eggs, beaten stiff
3 tablespoons sugar

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in sugar and salt. Stir in 1½ cups of skim milk. Cook over hot water until mixture coats a spoon. Soften gelatin in remaining ½ cup skim milk; dissolve in hot custard juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat until frothy. Add sugar to egg whites; fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon into a 1½-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with fresh orange slices.

Three Amcelle Employes Are Given Promotions

Organization changes at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America involving the promotion of three employes were announced yesterday by Frank B. Cameron, production manager.

E. J. Scott, who has been superintendent of extrusion manufacturing, has been named production superintendent for fiber industries at Shelby, N. C., Cameron said. The promotion will be effective August 1.

Succeeding Scott at the Amcelle position will be Garner R. Morgan, LaVale, who came to the local plant in 1958 from the Celco plant where he held various technical and supervisory assignments.

Morgan is a graduate of Concord College, where he majored in chemistry, and also attended the graduate school of West Virginia University. He holds membership in the American Chemical Society and the Lions Club.

Replacing Morgan as area supervisor in extrusion manufacturing is Byron A. Bonebreak, LaVale, who is being promoted from the position of senior quality engineer.

A graduate of Franklin and Marshall College, where he received a degree in chemistry, Bonebreak joined the Amcelle staff in 1946 as a chemist and has since held various positions in manufacturing and development.

Bonebreak is an elder of St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bowling Green; a director of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association and holds membership in the Toastmaster Club and Ohr Lodge 131, AF & AM.

LaVale PTA Unit Plans Fun Festival

The Parent-Teacher Association of LaVale School will hold a spring festival this evening at the school.

The program will open with a cafeteria-style supper at 5 p. m., after which the entertainment portion of games, films and contests will be held.

Chairmen of the various attractions include:

Wilson, fish pond, cake and candy; Mrs. George Bragg, silhouettes, fun house and games; Mrs. William S. O'Donnell, shooting gallery and films, and Mrs. Martha Hoover, ice cream and soft drinks.

The Mason-Dixon line was surveyed during 1763-67.

Youth Groups Get Certificates For RC Course

Two youth groups have been awarded certificates following completion of courses in Red Cross first aid, according to Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter.

Troop members who qualified for standard certificates were Gerry Altizer, Edward Wendt, Richard Sherman, Ernest Lowery, Richard Iman, John P. Little and Robert Funk.

Presented junior certificates were Paul Glessner, Paul H. Kemp Jr., Alex Little, Robert Metz, Terrence Metz, Jay P. Miller, K. C. Miller, Arthur Simpson, Richard Slider, Ronald Summerfield, Timothy Summerfield, Donald Ward, Terrence Wendt, Richard McKenzie, Rodney Beachy, Thomas Miller, Sedrick Hardy and Steven Vandenberg.

Potomac Edison Finishes Power Line In This Area

Line construction crews from the Potomac Edison Company here have completed the 34,500 volt line from Cumberland to Corriganville and the line is now in service, according to Garland L. Johnston, PE district manager.

Built at a cost of over $100,000, it is the most expensive 34,500 volt line project in PE's history. This resulted primarily from the rugged terrain the line crosses, Johnston said.

Mountainous terrain, white ganister rock, the most highly abrasive rock found in this area, and crossing the Narrows, were just a few of the obstacles encountered during the construction work.

Beginning at the North Cumberland Substation, the line measures four and a half miles to the Corriganville Substation. The new line will assure continued adequate power service for several areas. Three feeders will provide service to the Valley Street, North Centre Street and Henderson Avenue sections. The line will also provide loop service to Corriganville and surrounding areas.

The high tension line goes from the substation just off Valley Street, along the side of a hill at Campobello and up Haystack Mountain to the jumping off place, across the Narrows. From the other side of the Narrows on Wills Mountain, the line goes over the mountain to the Corriganville Substation.

PE's district line superintendent Harry G. (Buck) Grimes reports that this project has been one of the toughest in the memories of veteran linemen in this area. Particularly difficult has been the job of digging, blasting, and boring the holes for the poles, which in many cases required the transport of an air compressor to individual pole-hole sites.

Former Local Man Gets Church Post

Norman E. Amtower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Amtower, 203 Arch Street, has been appointed business manager and treasurer of the Oregon Conference of the Methodist Church.

A resident of Hoyt Lakes, Minn., where he has been employed as industrial engineer for the Erie Mining Company, Amtower will asume his duties on June 1. He will have headquarters in Portland, Ore.

Cleanup Work To Begin At Airport Today

Work on cleaning trash and debris from the Municipal Airport area, resulting from the sports car racing program last weekend, will begin today, spokesmen for the Cumberland Lions Club said yesterday.

A contract for hauling the debris away has been signed with the Boch Hauling Service, the spokesmen said, explaining that it was the club's desire to 'leave the airport as we found it.'

Then too, it was pointed out, the removal is being made as a safety factor, both from the city's standpoint and the personnel and patrons at the airport.

The Lions Club spokesmen said the Boch firm was given the contract because of the equipment it has to remove the trash in an efficient manner.

Airlift Fails

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Round-the-clock airlifts failed Thursday to halt the alarming shortage in food supplies in flood-stricken Natal. Africans there were reported to be eating cattle that had drowned.

The floods have taken 40 lives and driven 5,000 persons from their homes. Fear of a typhoid epidemic hung over the densely-populated south coast area. Water was being rationed.

COPE Group Given Report On Labor Legislation

The state director of the AFL-CIO's Committee for Political Education decried the fact Wednesday at a COPE meeting in Allegany County Labor Temple that the past General Assembly passed no legislation keenly sought by organized labor.

Culver B. Windsor, Baltimore, COPE director for the Maryland-D. C. Council of AFL-CIO, said the liberalization of unemployment benefits was one of the main aims for this year's legislature.

But at least 15 bills submitted died in committee, were voted down or sent to the Legislative Council for study until the next session of the Legislature.

The measures would have an overall effect of liberalizing benefits. This would be by increasing the amount, extending the time period, and giving additional funds for dependents.

Ralph G. Beard, member of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, who is on the advisory committee board to the Maryland Employment Security Board, went into detail on the changes that were proposed.

In other business transacted at the meeting, Joseph V. Burke, associate director of COPE for Western Maryland, appointed Graydson S. Dunlap, of Local 26, URW, as general chairman of the Labor Day celebration to be sponsored by COPE.

Dunlap in turn named several workers who will head different committees. Last year, the Labor Day event drew 5,000 people to Fairge for a basket picnic and a program of talks by labor leaders and others.

Wednesday's meeting was the best held here since the organization of COPE in Western Maryland, Burke said. The monthly sessions are held to inform members of the unions belonging to the Western Maryland Central Labor Council on the various matters concerning organized labor.

Students Convicted

VIENNA (UPI) — A Communist Hungarian court convicted 12 more Hungarian students for "anti-state activities" in a secret trial in Budapeest this week, according to reliable reports here Thursday.

Two of the students were sentenced to life imprisonment while the others received prison terms ranging from five to eight years, the reports said.

Last week, two students were sentenced to death and an unidentified number of co-defendants received long prison terms on similar charges.

Potomac Edison Finishes Power Line In This Area

Line construction crews from the Potomac Edison Company here have completed the 34,500 volt line from Cumberland to Corriganville and the line is now in service, according to Garland L. Johnston, PE district manager.

Built at a cost of over $100,000, it is the most expensive 34,500 volt line project in PE's history. This resulted primarily from the rugged terrain the line crosses, Johnston said.

Mountainous terrain, white ganister rock, the most highly abrasive rock found in this area, and crossing the Narrows, were just a few of the obstacles encountered during the construction work.

Beginning at the North Cumberland Substation, the line measures four and a half miles to the Corriganville Substation. The new line will assure continued adequate power service for several areas. Three feeders will provide service to the Valley Street, North Centre Street and Henderson Avenue sections. The line will also provide loop service to Corriganville and surrounding areas.

The high tension line goes from the substation just off Valley Street, along the side of a hill at Campobello and up Haystack Mountain to the jumping off place, across the Narrows. From the other side of the Narrows on Wills Mountain, the line goes over the mountain to the Corriganville Substation.

PE's district line superintendent Harry G. (Buck) Grimes reports that this project has been one of the toughest in the memories of veteran linemen in this area. Particularly difficult has been the job of digging, blasting, and boring the holes for the poles, which in many cases required the transport of an air compressor to individual pole-hole sites.

Cleanup Work To Begin At Airport Today

Work on cleaning trash and debris from the Municipal Airport area, resulting from the sports car racing program last weekend, will begin today, spokesmen for the Cumberland Lions Club said yesterday.

A contract for hauling the debris away has been signed with the Boch Hauling Service, the spokesmen said, explaining that it was the club's desire to 'leave the airport as we found it.'

Then too, it was pointed out, the removal is being made as a safety factor, both from the city's standpoint and the personnel and patrons at the airport.

The Lions Club spokesmen said the Boch firm was given the contract because of the equipment it has to remove the trash in an efficient manner.

Airlift Fails

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—Round-the-clock airlifts failed Thursday to halt the alarming shortage in food supplies in flood-stricken Natal. Africans there were reported to be eating cattle that had drowned.

The floods have taken 40 lives and driven 5,000 persons from their homes. Fear of a typhoid epidemic hung over the densely-populated south coast area. Water was being rationed.

COPE Group Given Report On Labor Legislation

The state director of the AFL-CIO's Committee for Political Education decried the fact Wednesday at a COPE meeting in Allegany County Labor Temple that the past General Assembly passed no legislation keenly sought by organized labor.

Culver B. Windsor, Baltimore, COPE director for the Maryland-D. C. Council of AFL-CIO, said the liberalization of unemployment benefits was one of the main aims for this year's legislature.

But at least 15 bills submitted died in committee, were voted down or sent to the Legislative Council for study until the next session of the Legislature.

The measures would have an overall effect of liberalizing benefits. This would be by increasing the amount, extending the time period, and giving additional funds for dependents.

Ralph G. Beard, member of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, who is on the advisory committee board to the Maryland Employment Security Board, went into detail on the changes that were proposed.

In other business transacted at the meeting, Joseph V. Burke, associate director of COPE for Western Maryland, appointed Graydson S. Dunlap, of Local 26, URW, as general chairman of the Labor Day celebration to be sponsored by COPE.

Dunlap in turn named several workers who will head different committees. Last year, the Labor Day event drew 5,000 people to Fairgo for a basket picnic and a program of talks by labor leaders and others.

Wednesday's meeting was the best held here since the organization of COPE in Western Maryland, Burke said. The monthly sessions are held to inform members of the unions belonging to the Western Maryland Central Labor Council on the various matters concerning organized labor.

Students Convicted

VIENNA (UPI) — A Communist Hungarian court convicted 12 more Hungarian students for "anti-state activities" in a secret trial in Budapeest this week, according to reliable reports here Thursday.

Two of the students were sentenced to life imprisonment while the others received prison terms ranging from five to eight years, the reports said.

Last week, two students were sentenced to death and an unidentified number of co-defendants received long prison terms on similar charges.

R. Bruce Livie Heads New Maryland Racing Commission

Two Present Members Are Reappointed

Shugar, Chewning Renamed; Jackson, Cuccia Are Added

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Thursday night named a new five-man State Racing Commission to be headed by R. Bruce Livie, Baltimore automobile dealer prominent in Democratic politics.

Tawes retained from the present three-member commission Albert A. Shuger of Baltimore and E. Taylor Chewning of Nutwell, Anne Arundel County.

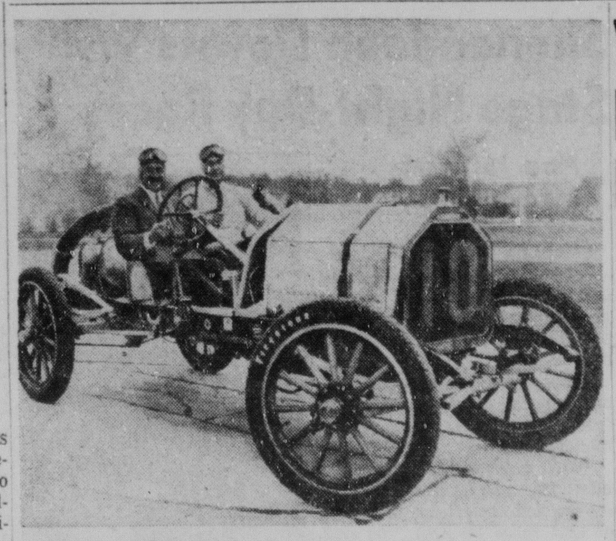
Joining Livie as new members of the revamped State agency which will take office June 1 are Carle A. Jackson of Baltimore, son of former Baltimore Democratic Mayor Howard W. Jackson, and Frank Cuccia, Baltimore automobile dealer who was active in the Grady-Goodman - Graham Democratic campaign in the recent city election.

Tawes announced the appointments as he worked late into the evening to clear his desk before leaving Friday on a two-week trip to Europe where he will attend the University of Maryland graduation exercises for servicemen at Heidelberg, Germany May 30.

He still has a number of other appointments to announce before leaving, including those to two other revised State agencies — the State Roads Commission and the Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

The reorganization of the racing commission from the three-member agency now headed by Republican member D. Eldred Rinehart was a subject of controversy at the recent General Assembly with operators of every Maryland track except the harness oval at Ocean City opposing it.

Tawes signed the bill into law after a public hearing, saying that his office had not requested the change, that it passed both houses by big margins and that he would not substitute his judgment for that of the Legislature.



DOWN MEMORY TRAIL—Turning back the years, 50 years, we come up with this old Number 10, a Buick which in 1909 was driven to victory in the first feature race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, scene of the 500 coming up Memorial Day. In the driver's seat are Peter DePaolo (left) who won the 1925 Indianapolis race, and Lt. Col Lowell R. Whitla, retired, owner. Number 10 won several speed events.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

BACK IN 1909, that daredevil of speed, Barney Oldfield, set several records in a 300-mile main event at the Indianapolis Speedway, driving over a track made of crushed stone and tar. Speeds of 50-plus miles per hour were recorded and Oldfield and the Speedway became nationally-famous.

Following the 1909 races, the track was ripped up and its length was resurfaced with 3,200,000 bricks. Two years later, on May 30, 1911, the first 500-mile race was held. At the time, according to figures recently released, there were only 650,000 automobiles in the United States.

The race drew attention from around the nation and even Henry Ford attended, staging a spectacular 150-car cavalcade from Detroit.

Ray Harroun, a young engineer, driving a Marmon, took the lead at 400 miles and went on to victory at an average speed of 74.59 miles per hour. He had to change tires, all on the right rear wheel, three times but other drivers had as many as 15 tire changes.

The Indianapolis 500 was born and, with the exception of the war years, 1917-18 and 1942-45, the race has continued ever since, drawing an estimated 160,000 persons to the mammoth track each year and world appeal to the daredevils who risk their lives for fame and fortune and to test developments in engines and tires.

• • •

AUTOMOBILE RACING has come a long way since that first Indianapolis 500. From that early speed of 74 miles per hour the men and machines now average over 130 miles per hour. And, according to the makers of the machines and Firestone Tire & Rubber company which is marking its 50th anniversary of race tire development this year, many improvements in today's automobiles can be traced to the Indianapolis track.

High compression engines, fuel injection, independent wheel suspension and tires capable of high-speed driving have been tested and proven on the Speedway track.

Also proven is that the 500 is a killer, literally, for the leadfoots who rocket around the course. The death toll now stands at 50, with two victims already on the list this year even before the race starts.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, defending champions, who lost their first two games of the season, extended their victory string to four games yesterday when they defeated the Loyal Order of Moose by the score of 8-3 at Post Field and took over sole possession of first place in the Rocking Chair League when the Knights of Columbus lost a 10-inning battle to the B.P.O. Elks by the score of 6-5 at Stitcher Field.

In the third game of the day, the Ritter Athletic Club moved into a three-way second place tie with the Elks and K. of C. by downing the Celanese A.A. by the score of 12-2.

"Pete" Elliott limited the Moose to five singles to notch his third win of the campaign for the Vets. He aided his own cause with a triple and single, Ted Durbin blasted a homer and two singles and Vern Penner and Mil Dean obtained two singles each.

Pence Breaks Up Game

Bob Pence's sacrifice fly in the tenth inning scored Lou Baker with the run that gave the Elks the decision over the Knights of Columbus.

Baker had doubled, advanced to third on "Pooch" Orndorff's sacrifice and after Bill Underdonk and Hardy drew passes to load the hassocks, Pence's fly scored the deciding tally.

"Doc" John Gorman made a sensational running catch of a drive from George Geatz's bat in deep left field for the fielding highlight. Lou Baker headed the offensive with three hits and Underdonk, Connelly and Kreitzburg had two hits each. Shortstop George Geatz was the Caseys' fielding star while Snider, Nolan and Geiger shared six of the losers' 11 hits. The win was the third against one loss for Bill Underdonk. Jim "Tiger" Angellatta went all the way for the Caseys.

Ritter's scored 11 runs in the fourth inning in routing the Silkmen at Celanese Field.

During the big fourth the R.A.C. combined six walks with six hits off Bob Sisk and Joe Niland for their 11 markers. Seventeen went to bat during the wild frame.

Pirates Defeat Cardinals, 7-2, Behind Haddix

Murtaugh Lectures And Revamps Bucs

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Danny Murtaugh's tongue-lashed and revamped Pittsburgh Pirates responded Thursday night by salvaging the finale of a three-game set with St. Louis 7-2 on the strength of Harvey Haddix' pitching and a solid 12-hit attack.

Haddix surrendered 10 hits but didn't walk a man in notching his third victory against two losses.

The Pirate victory came after Murtaugh lectured his men Thursday on adhering to the 2 a.m. curfew.

He took out shortstop Dick Groat and substituted Dick Schofield for him. Substitute Rocky Nelson was put in at first base, usually split by Ted Kluszewski and Dick Stuart.

Schofield hit two singles, one driving in a run in the third inning.

Keyser Is Only West Virginia Unbeaten Team

East Bank Tossers Suffer Initial Loss

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—East Bank, rated a strong contender for the 1959 West Virginia high school baseball title, rallied for one run in the last of the seventh inning Thursday to edge Spencer 3-2 in a Region 7 semifinal game here.

The loss was Spencer's first in 12 games, leaving only Keyser with 10 straight wins, as the only unbeaten team in the state. East Bank has a 20-1 record.

Five other regional semifinal games were played Thursday.

Princeton trounced Gary District 12-1 in Region 6 at Bluefield; Madison beat Nitro 5-2 in Region 7; Montgomery topped Marsh Fork 7-1 in Region 5 at Boomer; and Parkersburg defeated Harrisville 7-3 and Weirton tripped Roosevelt Wilson 7-4 in Region 2 at Pennsboro.

East Bank, going into the last of the seventh, had only two hits off Spencer's Dave Vineyard. But he walked the first two batters. Vineyard got two outs on a strikeout and a popup before shortstop Lonny Thompson singled home the winning run. Wildness in the late innings caused Vineyard's first loss in eight decisions.

Princeton's Norman Wall held Gary District to five hits while his teammates collected 12 off a trio of hurlers. Wayne Taylor and Buddy Belcher had two hits each for the Tigers.

Charley Ball batted in two runs for Madison with a pair of singles. In another loosely played game, between Parkersburg and Harrisville, only one run was earned.

Three regional championships will be decided Friday and two Saturday. Then the regional champs enter area play with the winners moving on to the state tournament May 28-29 at Parkersburg.

Montgomery faces Williamsburg in the Region 5 finale Friday at Hinton; Princeton battles Mullens in Region 6 at Bluefield and East Bank meets Madison in Region 7 at Charleston.

Keyser will play Berkeley Springs in the Region 4 championship Saturday at Keyser and Parkersburg faces Weston in the Region 2 finals at Pennsboro.

Boston Blanks Athletics, 5-0

Jensen Hits Tenth Home Run Of Season

BOSTON (AP) — Boston turned to the home run power of Jim Busby, Jackie Jensen and Dick Gernert for a spirit-lifting 5-0 victory Thursday over the Kansas City Athletics.

Right-hander Tom Brewer, bothered by a sore pitching hand, needed relief from lefty Leo Kiely as the slumping Red Sox revived for their second triumph in the last nine starts.

Gernert, who has lifted his batting average to .321, socked a three-run drive into the left field screen in the eighth inning off reliever Dick Tomanek after Frank Malzone walked and Jensen singled.

The blow was Gernert's fifth homer of the season.

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you're a bangtail better who keeps dreaming of a five-horse parlay, just consider the loot you could have collected by parlaying any five of these baseball super-long shots:

The world champions Yankees to be running scared this late in the campaign, wallowing in eighth place strictly on merit. They're blowing the type of game they almost always won heretofore because their bats suddenly have been stilled.

The Detroit Tigers, figured to be the Ameican League's most improved team this year, running eighth also on merit with manger Bill Norman already bounced in favor of Jimmy Dykes.

Ted Williams of the Red Sox to go hitless into the month of May—jinxed by an injury.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who gave the Braves a scare a year ago, to lose their first five of the year and 16 of their first 31 for a sixth place slot in mid-May.

Friend Loses Seven

Bob Friend of the Pirates, a 20-game winner a year ago, to lose his first seven decisions.

Eddie Mathews of the Braves, strikeout "king" of the last World Series and uncertain at the plate in spring training, to blast his way into the National League homer derby lead with 15 by May 18.

Harmon Killebrew of the Senators, Washington's first bonus baby and a five-year bust, to blossom into a homer belter at this late date by leading the American League with 14 round-trippers also on May 18.

Stan Musial of the Cardinals, perennial batting champ, to be struggling to reach .270 and forced to deny almost daily that he's nearing the end of the trail.

Russ Nixon of the Indians, a good hitting catcher, to be "stuck" around .200.

The Chicago White Sox, Sans Power, to be battling Cleveland for the American League lead.

Elroy Face of the Pirates, never a big-winning pitcher, to grab his first six decisions.

Aaron's Hitting Fantastic

Hank Aaron of the Braves, good as he is, to be flailing an incredible .484 in mid-May.

Willie Mays of the Giants to be booted in San Francisco.

The Yankees to lead the American League in "times shut out"—with four.

Ray Narleski of the Tigers, picked up in a deal with Cleveland to bolster Detroit relievers, to lose his first four decisions.

The Tigers, considered at the start to be fairly strong in pitching, to lead the league in batting and trail 'em all in the standings.

Don Demeter of the Dodgers to be toting the most potent bat in Los Angeles.

The Senators, rated "lame ducks" all the way, to be leading four other clubs including the Yankees.

Yep, with a parlay like that you could have bought a ball club of your very own.

R. Bruce Livie Heads New Maryland Racing Commission

Two Present Members Are Reappointed

Shugar, Chewning Renamed; Jackson, Cuccia Are Added

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Thursday night named a new five-man State Racing Commission to be headed by R. Bruce Livie, Baltimore automobile dealer prominent in Democratic politics.

Tawes retained from the present three-member commission Albert A. Shuger of Baltimore and E. Taylor Chewning of Nutwell, Anne Arundel County.

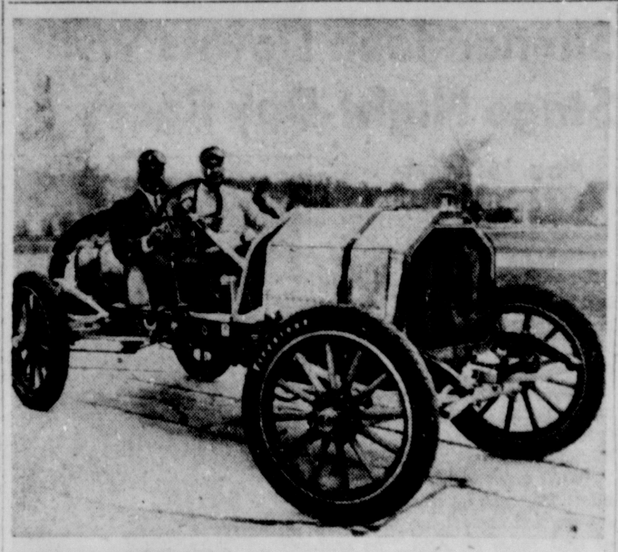
Joining Livie as new members of the revamped State agency which will take office June 1 are Carle A. Jackson of Baltimore, son of former Baltimore Democratic Mayor Howard W. Jackson, and Frank Cuccia, Baltimore automobile dealer who was active in the Grady-Goodman - Graham Democratic campaign in the recent city election.

Tawes announced the appointments as he worked late into the evening to clear his desk before leaving Friday on a two-week trip to Europe where he will attend the University of Maryland graduation exercises for servicemen at Heidelberg, Germany May 30.

He still has a number of other appointments to announce before leaving, including those to two other revised State agencies — the State Roads Commission and the Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

The reorganization of the racing commission from the three-member agency now headed by Republican member D. Eldred Rinehart was a subject of controversy at the recent General Assembly with operators of every Maryland track except the harness oval at Ocean City opposing it.

Tawes signed the bill into law after a public hearing, saying that his office had not requested the change, that it passed both houses by big margins and that he would not substitute his judgment for that of the Legislature.



DOWN MEMORY TRAIL—Turning back the years, 50 years, we come up with this old Number 10, a Buick which in 1909 was driven to victory in the first feature race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, scene of the 500 coming up Memorial Day. In the driver's seat are Peter DePaolo (left) who won the 1925 Indianapolis race, and Lt. Col Lowell R. Whitla, retired, owner. Number 10 won several speed events.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

BACK IN 1909, that daredevil of speed, Barney Oldfield, set several records in a 300-mile main event at the Indianapolis Speedway, driving over a track made of crushed stone and tar. Speeds of 50-plus miles per hour were recorded and Oldfield and the Speedway became nationally-famous.

Following the 1909 races, the track was ripped up and its length was resurfaced with 3,200,000 bricks. Two years later, on May 30, 1911, the first 500-mile race was held. At the time, according to figures recently released, there were only 650,000 automobiles in the United States.

The race drew attention from around the nation and even Henry Ford attended, staging a spectacular 150-car cavalcade from Detroit.

Ray Harroun, a young engineer, driving a Marmon, took the lead at 400 miles and went on to victory at an average speed of 74.59 miles per hour. He had to change tires, all on the right rear wheel, three times but other drivers had as many as 15 tire changes.

The Indianapolis 500 was born and, with the exception of the war years, 1917-18 and 1942-45, the race has continued ever since, drawing an estimated 160,000 persons to the mammoth track each year and world appeal to the daredevils who risk their lives for fame and fortune and to test developments in engines and tires.

• • •

AUTOMOBILE RACING has come a long way since that first Indianapolis 500. From that early speed of 74 miles per hour the men and machines now average over 130 miles per hour. And, according to the makers of the machines and Firestone Tire & Rubber company which is marking its 50th anniversary of race tire development this year, many improvements in today's automobiles can be traced to the Indianapolis track.

High compression engines, fuel injection, independent wheel suspension and tires capable of high-speed driving have been tested and proven on the Speedway track.

Also proven is that the 500 is a killer, literally, for the leadfoots who rocket around the course. The death toll now stands at 50, with two victims already on the list this year even before the race starts.

Boston Blanks Athletics, 5-0

Jensen Hits Tenth Home Run Of Season

BOSTON (AP) — Boston turned to the home run power of Jim Busby, Jackie Jensen and Dick Gernert for a spirit-lifting 5-0 victory Thursday over the Kansas City Athletics.

Right-hander Tom Brewer, bothered by a sore pitching hand, needed relief from lefty Leo Kiely as the slumping Red Sox revived for their second triumph in the last nine starts.

Gernert, who has lifted his batting average to .321, socked a three-run drive into the left field screen in the eighth inning off reliever Dick Tomanek after Frank Malzone walked and Jensen singled.

The blow was Gernert's fifth homer of the season.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, defending champions, who lost their first two games of the season, extended their victory string to four games yesterday when they defeated the Loyal Order of Moose by the score of 8-3 at Post Field and took over sole possession of first place in the Rocking Chair League when the Knights of Columbus lost a 10-inning battle to the B.P.O. Elks by the score of 6-5 at Stitcher Field.

In the third game of the day, the Ritter Athletic Club moved into a three-way second place tie with the Elks and K. of C. by downing the Celanese A.A. by the score of 12-2.

Pence Breaks Up Game

Bob Pence's sacrifice fly in the tenth inning scored Lou Baker with the run that gave the Elks the decision over the Knights of Columbus.

Baker had doubled, advanced to third on "Pooch" Orndorff's sacrifice and after Bill Underdonk and Hardy drew passes to load the hassocks, Pence's fly scored the deciding tally.

"Doc" John Gorman made a sensational running catch of a drive from George Geatz's bat in deep left field for the fielding highlight. Lou Baker headed the offensive with three hits and Underdonk, Connelly and Kreitzburg had two hits each. Shortstop George Geatz was the Caseys' fielding star while Snider, Nolan and Geiger shared six of the losers' 11 hits. The win was the third against one loss for Bill Underdonk. Jim "Tiger" Angellatta went all the way for the Caseys.

Pirates Defeat Cardinals, 7-2, Behind Haddix

Murtaugh Lectures And Revamps Bucs

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Danny Murtaugh's tongue-lashed and revamped Pittsburgh Pirates responded Thursday night by salvaging the finale of a three-game set with St. Louis 7-2 on the strength of Harvey Haddix' pitching and a solid 12-hit attack.

Haddix surrendered 10 hits but didn't walk a man in notching his third victory against two losses.

The Pirate victory came after Murtaugh lectured his men Thursday on adhering to the 2 a.m. curfew.

He took out shortstop Dick Groat and substituted Dick Schofield for him. Substitute Rocky Nelson was put in at first base, usually split by Ted Kluszewski and Dick Stuart.

Schofield hit two singles, one driving in a run in the third inning.

Keyser Is Only West Virginia Unbeaten Team

East Bank Tossers Suffer Initial Loss

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—East Bank, rated a strong contender for the 1959 West Virginia high school baseball title, rallied for one run in the last of the seventh inning Thursday to edge Spencer 3-2 in a Region 7 semifinal game here.

The loss was Spencer's first in 12 games, leaving only Keyser with 10 straight wins, as the only unbeaten team in the state. East Bank has a 20-1 record.

Five other regional semifinal games were played Thursday.

Princeton trounced Gary District 12-1 in Region 6 at Bluefield; Madison beat Nitro 5-2 in Region 7; Montgomery topped Marsh Fork 7-1 in Region 5 at Boomer; and Parkersburg defeated Harrisville 7-3 and Weirton tripped Rooosevelt Wilson 7-4 in Region 2 at Pennsboro.

East Bank, going into the last of the seventh, had only two hits off Spencer's Dave Vineyard. But he walked the first two batters. Vineyard got two outs on a strikeout and a popup before shortstop Lonny Thompson singled home the winning run. Wildness in the late innings caused Vineyard's first loss in eight decisions.

Princeton's Norman Wall held Gary District to five hits while his teammates collected 12 off a trio of hurlers. Wayne Taylor and Buddy Belcher had two hits each for the Tigers.

Charley Ball batted in two runs for Madison with a pair of singles. In another loosely played game, between Parkersburg and Harrisville, only one run was earned.

Three regional championships will be decided Friday and two Saturday. Then the regional champs enter area play with the winners moving on to the state tournament May 28-29 at Parkersburg.

Montgomery faces Williamsburg in the Region 5 finale Friday at Hinton; Princeton battles Mullens in Region 6 at Bluefield and East Bank meets Madison in Region 7 at Charleston.

Keyser will play Berkeley Springs in the Region 4 championship Saturday at Keyser and Parkersburg faces Weston in the Region 2 finals at Pennsboro.

Broadway Oddsmakers Revise "Line" On AL Flag Race

Orioles Rated 5-1, Tigers, Kansas City And Senators 50-1

By TIM MORIARTY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Broadway oddsmakers revised their "line" on the American League pennant race Thursday in the wake of the New York Yankees' plunge into the basement.

Although they have lost seven of their last 10 games and are 8½ games out of first place, the Yankees still are favored to win their fifth straight pennant. But the price on the world champions has changed from 1-3 to 8-5.

In man-to-man betting, Yankee fans now can collect $8 for each $5 wager. When the season opened, they had to put up $3 to win $1.

Indians, Chisox 2-1

The odds against both the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox winning the A.L. flag are now 2-1. The Baltimore Orioles are 5-1 underdogs, the Boston Red Sox are 25-1, and the Kansas City Athletics, Washington Senators and Detroit Tigers each are 50-1 longshots.

The Yankees, who reached their lowest estate in almost two decades Wednesday when they dropped a 13-6 decision to the Tigers, enjoyed a day off Thursday. They open a four-game week-end series in Baltimore Friday night.

"This is my first time on a last place club," said the 36-year-old outfielder who has been playing pro baseball for 18 years and is a 10-year man with the Yankees.

"We can still win it, thought," Hank added. "Man for man, we've got the best players in the league. But don't ask me why we're in last place. I guess we're there because we deserve to be".

A Total Slump

Bauer then caught his breath and added grimly:

"This is everybody's slump. I'd say everybody better wake up. Not one, two or three guys is responsible for this. The whole club is to blame."

Stengel, however, doesn't agree with Bauer, who is one of the grizzled manager's favorite players. Ole Case has been reluctant to blame any specific players, although he admits "my pitchers will have to pitch better or nobody will be watching them around here."

Asked why he didn't schedule a workout Thursday for his bedraggled stars, Stengel replied, "what good would that do?"

"Our players are in good physical shape," he added. "They ought to be, after all the running they've been doing in those three-hour ball games."

A Yankee spokesman said no emergency meeting between Stengel and General Manager George Weiss was held and none is planned before the team leaves for Baltimore.

Weiss, like Stengel, also was taking the Yankee slump graciously.

"We've had it good for a long time," he said. "I think we can take the bad, too."

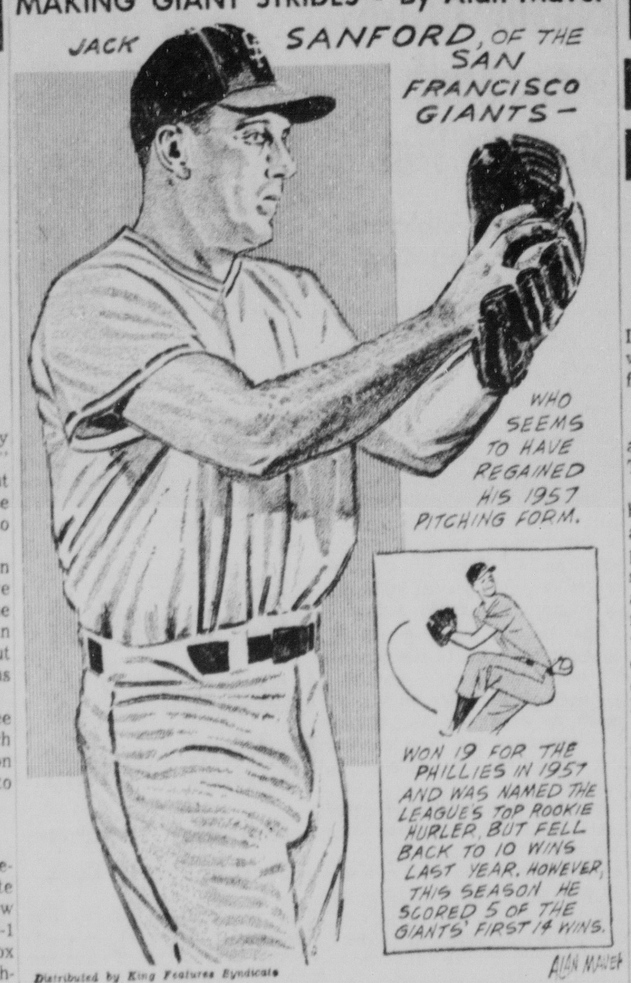
MAKING GIANT STRIDES - By Alan Maver



Dick Schofield Replaces Groat In Buc Shakeup

Murtaugh Sends Nelson To First

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Danny Murtaugh is shaking up his shaky Pittsburgh Pirate infield and has issued a bed check warning in an effort to bring the club out of its slump.

The sixth-place Pirates had lost 4 of their last 5 going into Thursday's game against the St. Louis Cardinals. The club had been charged with 19 errors on the current trip—6 of them by shortstop Dick Groat.

The Pirate manager, who lectured his players after they dropped the opener of the St. Louis series, named Dick Schofield as his shortstop for Thursday night and said he would play Rocky Nelson at first. Ted Kluszewski and Dick Stuart have been alternating at that position.

Murtaugh decided to rest Groat because the shortstop has tightened up, but added: "Groat has to be my shortstop if we're going to go anywhere."

In dressing down the players after they lost 8-2 Tuesday, Murtaugh warned them there would be some lineup changes if they didn't perk up. He also warned them to adhere to the 2 a.m. curfew after night games and announced his intention of checking rooms to be sure the players are there, one of the players said.

He was pronounced dead at Lankenau Hospital.

Cresaptown Eagles And Ellerslie Win In Pen-Mar League

Ellerslie and the Cresaptown Eagles became the co-leaders of the Pen-Mar Little League when they scored victories in games played yesterday at Ellerslie and LaVale.

Trailing 5-2 going into the last of the 6th, Ellerslie pulled the game out of the fire with a 4-run rally that edged the LaVale Maroons, 6-5.

Ellerslie got only two hits during the game and won it when LaVale pitchers blew up in the final frame, hit one batter and issued six walks to force over four tallies.

Tommy Connor, who supplanted F. Morgan in the first inning, was credited with the win.

Cresaptown nosed out the LaVale Orioles in the 8th inning by the score of 4-3 when Steve Vandenberg walked, moved to third on Crites' hit and came home with the deciding tally on an outfield error.

Vandenberg homered, Crites socked a triple and single and Wamsley and Ferrone had two singles each for the Eagles.

Joe Beynon played a bangup game at the keystone hassock for the Orioles and also led his team's eight-hit attack with a double and two singles. Fix obtained two hits and Gary Orendorf and Payne blasted three-baggers.

The scores:

BOSTON (AP)—Bud Daley has pitched his way out of the Kansas City bullpen and into a starting assignment with the Athletics, Manager Harry Craft announced Thursday.

Daley has started only one game so far this season and is 1-3 in the won-lost column but his 2.28 earned run average is the club's best.

Third Major Loop May Form In Five Years

Cities Mentioned As Possible Sites

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big League baseball said Thursday it would welcome an application for formation of a third major league.

Commissioner Ford Frick said: "I firmly believe we will have a third league within five years. That is a personal opinion."

Major league club owners, at a hastily-called session here, also authorized Frick to explore the possibility of holding a second all-star game each year; authorized a fund of up to $1,000,000 to finance a player training and development program with the minors, and sanctioned the purchase of Chicago White Sox stock by Bill Veeck.

Frick, in a prepared statement following an all-day closed meeting of the major league club owners, said:

"The major leagues recognize the desire of certain groups to obtain major league franchises. Since there is no existing plan to expand the present major leagues, the two major leagues declare they will favorably consider an application for major league status within the present baseball structure by an acceptable group of eight clubs which would qualify."

Frick said no clubs or alignments were mentioned during the new league discussion, but that one qualification was that the population of each city of the proposed league shall not be less than the population of the smallest city in the present major leagues."

Cities mentioned as possible sites in talk of expansion of the majors, or entrance into a new loop, include New York, Buffalo, New Orleans, Dallas-Fort Worth, Minneapolis - St. Paul, Seattle, Mexico City, Montreal and Toronto.

Shenandoah Downs Will Stage Night-Day Races

Plan 16 Races Memorial Day

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Shenandoah Downs, which introduced night thoroughbred racing to the region this month, has another novelty up its sleeve — a doubleheader.

Racing both afternoon and night on Memorial Day was announced today by Bob Leavitt, general manager.

"We'll have eight races in the afternoon, take an hour break for supper and come back with eight or nine races at night," he said.

Betting Disappoints

Leavitt frankly admits the business at night hasn't panned out as well as he anticipated.

He estimated betting would average $300,000 nightly. It has been only $184,000 since the track built at a cost of 4 million dollars opened May 1.

"We're holding our own," Leavitt claims.

He also refuses to be discouraged.

"I feel that this is an educational thing," he said. "The people in this area haven't become accustomed to night thoroughbred racing, and our records show that the betting has gained steadily through each of the three weeks we've operated."

Competition Is Keen

There also is the matter of nearby competition for the race betting dollars. A track at Bel Air, Md., is attracting some of the Baltimore money at day and a harness track at Oxon Hill, Md., is taking some from Washington at night.

Shenandoah Downs had expected to draw from both those metropolitan areas.

As an inducement it is offering free parking and one free admission to city dwellers who drive up.

Shenandoah already is providing an official and some jockeys with daily doubleheader racing.

George Cook, a paddock judge at Bel Air, and a few jockeys work during the afternoon at Bel Air, fly to Frederick, Md., and drive the remaining 26 miles to Shenandoah.

Rides At Two Tracks

Jockey Joseph Felten rode the seventh winner at Bel Air the other day and the second at Shenandoah at night.

Shenandoah plans to level off some ground near the track so planes may fly directly to it in the future.

Leafs Get Rabe

TORONTO (UPI)—The Toronto Maple Leafs, with only three wins in their last 15 games, have acquired 27-year-old left - handed pitcher Charlie Rabe from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League.

The new pitcher is not expected to arrive n Toronto for a few days. In five games with Seattle this season, he had a 1-3 record and an earned run average of 4.33. He played with the Montreal Royals last season.

"This is my first time on a last place club," said the 36-year-old outfielder who has been playing pro baseball for 18 years and is a 10-year man with the Yankees.

"We can still win it, thought," Hank added. "Man for man, we've got the best players in the league. But don't ask me why we're in last place. I guess we're there because we deserve to be".

A Total Slump

Bauer then caught his breath and added grimly:

"This is everybody's slump. I'd say everybody better wake up. Not one, two or three guys is responsible for this. The whole club is to blame."

Stengel, however, doesn't agree with Bauer, who is one of the grizzled manager's favorite players. Ole Case has been reluctant to blame any specific players, although he admits "my pitchers will have to pitch better or nobody will be watching them around here."

Asked why he didn't schedule a workout Thursday for his bedraggled stars, Stengel replied, "what good would that do?"

"Our players are in good physical shape," he added. "They ought to be, after all the running they've been doing in those three-hour ball games."

A Yankee spokesman said no emergency meeting between Stengel and General Manager George Weiss was held and none is planned before the team leaves for Baltimore.

Weiss, like Stengel, also was taking the Yankee slump graciously.

"We've had it good for a long time," he said. "I think we can take the bad, too."

Dick Schofield Replaces Groat In Buc Shakeup

Murtaugh Sends Nelson To First

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Danny Murtaugh is shaking up his shaky Pittsburgh Pirate infield and has issued a bed check warning in an effort to bring the club out of its slump.

The sixth-place Pirates had lost 4 of their last 5 going into Thursday's game against the St. Louis Cardinals. The club had been charged with 19 errors on the current trip—6 of them by shortstop Dick Groat.

The Pirate manager, who lectured his players after they dropped the opener of the St. Louis series, named Dick Schofield as his shortstop for Thursday night and said he would play Rocky Nelson at first. Ted Kluszewski and Dick Stuart have been alternating at that position.

In dressing down the players after they lost 8-2 Tuesday, Murtaught warned them there would be some lineup changes if they didn't perk up. He also warned them to adhere to the 2 a.m. curfew after night games and announced his intention of checking rooms to be sure the players are there, one of the players said.

Third Major Loop May Form In Five Years

Cities Mentioned As Possible Sites

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big League baseball said Thursday it would welcome an application for formation of a third major league.

Commissioner Ford Frick said: "I firmly believe we will have a third league within five years. That is a personal opinion."

Major league club owners, at a hastily-called session here, also authorized Frick to explore the possibility of holding a second all-star game each year; authorized a fund of up to $1,000,000 to finance a player training and development program with the minors, and sanctioned the purchase of Chicago White Sox stock by Bill Veeck.

"The major leagues recognize the desire of certain groups to obtain major league franchises. Since there is no existing plan to expand the present major leagues, the two major leagues declare they will favorably consider an application for major league status within the present baseball structure by an acceptable group of eight clubs which would qualify."

Frick said no clubs or alignments were mentioned during the new league discussion, but that one qualification was that the population of each city of the proposed league shall not be less than the population of the smallest city in the present major leagues."

Cities mentioned as possible sites in talk of expansion of the majors, or entrance into a new loop, include New York, Buffalo, New Orleans, Dallas-Fort Worth, Minneapolis - St. Paul, Seattle, Mexico City, Montreal and Toronto.

Shenandoah Downs Will Stage Night-Day Races

Plan 16 Races Memorial Day

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Shenandoah Downs, which introduced night thoroughbred racing to the region this month, has another novelty up its sleeve — a doubleheader.

Racing both afternoon and night on Memorial Day was announced today by Bob Leavitt, general manager.

"We'll have eight races in the afternoon, take an hour break for supper and come back with eight or nine races at night," he said.

Betting Disappoints

He estimated betting would average $300,000 nightly. It has been only $184,000 since the track built at a cost of 4 million dollars opened May 1.

"We're holding our own," Leavitt claims.

He also refuses to be discouraged.

"I feel that this is an educational thing," he said. "The people in this area haven't become accustomed to night thoroughbred racing, and our records show that the betting has gained steadily through each of the three weeks we've operated."

Competition Is Keen

There also is the matter of nearby competition for the race betting dollars. A track at Bel Air, Md., is attracting some of the Baltimore money at day and a harness track at Oxon Hill, Md., is taking some from Washington at night.

Shenandoah Downs had expected to draw from both those metropolitan areas.

As an inducement it is offering free parking and one free admission to city dwellers who drive up.

George Cook, a paddock judge at Bel Air, and a few jockeys work during the afternoon at Bel Air, fly to Frederick, Md., and drive the remaining 26 miles to Shenandoah.

Rides At Two Tracks

Shenandoah plans to level off some ground near the track so planes may fly directly to it in the future.

Red Sox Buy Bobby Avila From Orioles

Outfielder Renna Sold To San Diego

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox Thursday announced the purchase of Bobby Avila from Baltimore. The amount was not disclosed.

The club also said that to keep within the player limit, Outfielder Bill Renna has been sold outright to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Avila, 32-year-old native of Mexico now in his 11th major league season, spent 10 of them at Cleveland as an infielder. The Orioles had used him sparingly as an outfielder this spring.

Manager Mike Higgins said he would employ Avila as a utility infielder and pinchhitter. The Sox lost some of its reserve infield strength by sending Ted Lepcio to Detroit for Pitcher Billy Hoeft.

Avila hit .170 for the Orioles, with 8 hits in 47 times at bat. His lifetime mark at the beginning of the season was .284. He was the American League batting champion in 1954 with .341.

Baltimore is now one under the player limit. Pitcher George Zuverink's time on the 30-day injured reserve list has expired and he can be activated at any time. Baltimore has been using a nine-member staff.

Miteff And Bethea To Fight At Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Alex Miteff meets substitute Wayne Bethea Friday night in a heavyweight bout as boxing returns to Madison Square Garden for the first time since March 20.

Originally Miteff was to have fought Zora Folley, high-ranking challenger from Chandler, Ariz., but Folley said he had been advised not to box for a month because of a cracked bone in his right hand.

Bethea agreed to replace Miteff on the national televised (NBC radio-TV) show.

The 10-round match will start at 9. p.m. (EST) with two judges and the referee scoring by rounds.

Miteff, the heavy champ of the Pan-American Games in 1954, has had 21 pro fights. The 24-year-old boxer's recors is 17-3-1. Bethea, 27, has a 19-9-2 record with 7 knockouts.

Mrs. Frank Stranahan To Play In England

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, will meet Joan Fletcher of Australia in the first round of the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship at the Berkshire Club near Ascot. The tournament starts Monday and ends Thursday.

The only other United States player is Mrs. Nathaniel G. Kanrich of Palm Springs, Calif., who meets Majory Anne Fowler of Britain.

TRACK SPECTACULAR—Another "fastest human" hits the track world as an 18-year-old schoolboy, John Mostyn, of Berger Catholic at Cradell, N. J. turns in a 9.3 century in a meet at Englewood, N. J. Mostyn's time actually is a new interscholastic mark and ties the world mark but it may not be recognized because there were no wind gauges used at meet

Phillies Snap Losing Streak Of Eight Games

Ruben Gomez Beats Chicago Cubs, 3-0

CHICAGO (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies snapped an eight game losing streak Thursday in a 3-0 conquest of the Chicago Cubs. Three sacrifice flies drove in all the Phillies runs.

Ruben Gomez limited the Cubs to four hits to earn his first victory of the season. The shutout was the Cubs' second of the season. Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall Whitewashed them just a week ago for a 2-0 triumph.

The shutout was the Phillies' first whitewash win of the year, and Gomez retired the last 13 Cubs he faced. Only one Cub reached third base, Moose Moryn turning the trick when he and Dale Long hit successive singles in the second.

Beall Girls Win Junior High School Track Meet

Valley Is Second; Joann Burdock Sets 50 Yard Dash Mark

Beall Junior High and Beall Elementary combined to give the Frostburg school a hard-earned victory over Bruce, Valley and Mt. Savage Junior High Schools in the West County Junior High Girls Sports Day held Wednesday at Beall stadium.

Beall won by piling up 57½ points. Valley was second with 47½ points, Bruce third with 42½ and Mt. Savage fourth with 32½.

Over 200 girls participated in the Sports Day which was completed in about two hours. The meet was directed by Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County schools, assisted by Frank Munson, Mrs. Rita Schoenadle, Miss Judy Snyder, Mrs. Gladys Faherty, Mrs. Pauline Hamilton, Mrs. Alpha Reynolds, Miss Betty Ann Hanna, Miss Catherine Goldsworthy, Mrs. Barbara Wiles, Edward Finzel, Gerald Calhoun and William Hershiser.

The track and field meets presented some fine individual and team performances. Particularly outstanding was the 50-yard dash of Joann Burdock of Beall's 8th grade team, clocked in 6.9 seconds or 1/10 of a second faster than the record set in both of the senior high meets last week.

Also outstanding was the broad jump of 7 feet, 6 inches by Mary Dixon of Bruce which is ½ inch short of the senior high record set last week.

Red Sox Buy Bobby Avila From Orioles

Outfielder Renna Sold To San Diego

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox Thursday announced the purchase of Bobby Avila from Baltimore. The amount was not disclosed.

The club also said that to keep within the player limit, Outfielder Bill Renna has been sold outright to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Avila, 32-year-old native of Mexico now in his 11th major league season, spent 10 of them at Cleveland as an infielder. The Orioles had used him sparingly as an outfielder this spring.

Manager Mike Higgins said he would employ Avila as a utility infielder and pinchhitter. The Sox lost some of its reserve infield strength by sending Ted Lepcio to Detroit for Pitcher Billy Hoeft.

The club's 5-0 victory over Kansas City Thursday was only its second in the last nine games.

Avila hit .170 for the Orioles, with 8 hits in 47 times at bat. His lifetime mark at the beginning of the season was .284. He was the American League batting champion in 1954 with .341.

Baltimore is now one under the player limit. Pitcher George Zuverink's time on the 30-day injured reserve list has expired and he can be activated at any time. Baltimore has been using a nine-member staff.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Here's a bit of news right from London-town in a cable from Sam Spiegel: He has just signed Katharine Hepburn for "Suddenly Last Summer." This is the role that Vivien Leigh was supposed to have, and the one that Bette Davis stated very frankly that she wanted.

Said Sam: "Both Joe Mankiewicz and I think Katharine Hepburn is ideal casting and completes the starring trio we wanted, with Elizabeth Taylor and Montgomery Clift."

Katie will fly to London immediately to start work and get there by Monday when the roll will be called for all the actors on the picture.

After the performance Van Heflin gave in "The Tempest" I am not surprised, and I'm sure you won't be, that Dino De Laurentiis and Martin Ritt have signed Van for the male lead opposite Gina Lollobrigida in "Jovanko." The Heflins are on cloud A.

Frances (Mrs. H.) told me they are sailing on the S.S. Independence June 10 for Naples, again taking their three children. She said it's so exciting for Van to play opposite Gina Lollobrigida and get the romantic lead in a really fine script.

The Heflins won't go to Yugoslavia this time because the entire picture, as it stands now, will be filmed in Italy and Austria unless the Yugoslavian government has a change of heart.

Bonita Granville (Mrs. Jack Wrather in private life) has more than a pretty face and talent as an actress. She has real business ability—so much that her industrialist husband has made her associate producer of the "Lassie" television program and she has taken offices at the Desilu Studio where "Lassie" is filmed.

It was Bonita who suggested Jon Provot for the role of Timmy, replacing Tommy Rettig. In her new job Bonita will assist executive producer Sherman A. Harris and producer Robert Golden in the development of story material, casting and wardrobe.

I cornered Jimmy Stewart at the Leroy party for King Baudouin. He's just back from Ishpeming, Mich., where he spent eight weeks on "Anatomy of a Murder" and said the picture is all finished except that he has three sentences to record.

"Otto Preminger holds that when a picture is being made it gets a lot of publicity, and then there's a long period before the picture is released when nothing is said about it," said Jimmy, "so he's going to release 'Anatomy' immediately while the publicity is hot and before the people stop talking about the book. Personally, I think it's a good idea."

You may remember pretty, brunette Maggie Pierce as the girl to whom Bob Neal gave a big diamond ring until they had a spat in Italy and ended the engagement. Well, Maggie now makes her movie debut in "never so few" with Frank Sinatra, Peter Lawford and Gina Lollobrigida—and MGM liked her test so well she's been given a term contract. The deal was set by her current escort, agent Irving Lazaar.

Apparently Maggie has talent because, with the exception of a TV "Thin Man" chapter with Pete, she has had very little experience. Before coming to Hollywood she was a registered nurse at Bellevue Hospital, and coincidentally she plays a nurse in Burma during World War II.

Just before Kathy and Bing Crosby took off for Palm Springs after their fishing trip, she said that Bing almost caught a marlin weighing from 700 to 1000 pounds. He worked for five hours trying to land the huge slippery fish, and he was heartbroken when it got away.

"But," said Kathy, "I took some pictures to prove this isn't a 'fish story' and how close Bing came to landing the big fellow.

His Majesty learned the rhumba from Cyd Charisse and seemed to have more fun than anyone. They danced several times. Others he enjoyed dancing with were Kitty, the hostess, Debbie Reynolds, Maria Cooper, Janet Leigh and Gloria Stewart.

The most amusing incident (and Bob Hope swears this is true) was when Bob finished making one of his spontaneous speeches, the King said he had never seen Hope! His majesty explained he had so little time to go to the movies.

Radioactive Rain

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Officials at the Nuernberg Radioactive Control Bureau Thursday blamed radioactive rain for causing the leaves of flowers here to change color. They said the rain came from the northeast.

The leaves of fuchsias in a private garden changed from green to white during a thunderstorm last Saturday. The officials said that laboratory tests disclosed the leaves were soaked with radioactive rain.

The officials said other varieties of flowers were not affected.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Too, Too Thin

"I have a problem, which I think is the problem of many girls and that is, thin arms and legs. Taking vitamins to gain add inches but not in the arms and legs," a young New Jersey reader complains. She asks, "Could you recommend an exercise in which we could fatten up these parts of the body?"

Exercise can round out thin, angular lines, thus rid you of any complexes you might have. Unless you have an illness or some organic disturbance which needs the attention of a doctor, your figure can be exactly what you would like it to be. Always figure . . . "When there's a will, there's a way."

To put weight on the arms one way is to stand with them at your sides. Now, as though a heavy weight resisted your efforts, raise arms to shoulder level and then lower them. Raise them forward and upward toward the ceiling. Continue until they reach farthermost point behind shoulders. Reversing action, return to starting position. Repeat 20 times, making all motions continuous.

Here's another way. Stand with your feet together facing a wall and about an arm's length from it. Rest the hands on the wall so that the fingers point toward each other. Now, bend your elbows very slowly until your chin just touches the wall. Hold for a count of five and then push yourself very slowly back to the original position. Make your arms do all the work. Start with five times and increase to 20 daily. Easy does it when you're building up tissue!

Walk a mile each day, preferably in the sunshine. Wear snug-fitting flats . . . no slipslop loafers, now. Take an even pace, not too brisk, and breathe deeply. If possible have a friend accompany you, and chat as you walk.

Now one for indoors. Without shoes, stand on a thick block of wood or a big weighty book. Stretch your heels down over the edge until they reach the floor. Continue this from 20 to 30 times.

This time of year every girl is naturally interested in her figure. After all, swimming season is just around the corner, if it hasn't already begun! If you'd like to know of other beautifying methods to suit YOUR figure, I suggest you write for my booklet, "Summerizing Your Beauty." Send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm, c/o this newspaper. With this guide you'll really welcome June!

Russian Denial

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — A Soviet Embassy spokesman has denied that Russian troops had entered Tibet to help Chinese Communist quell the anti-Communist rebellion. He denounced the reports as "absolutely false."

Official Denial Made

PARIS (UPI) — A French Foreign Ministry spokesman Thursday formally denied a report that France had agreed to halt its aid to Israel in exchange for a cut-off of United Arab Republic assistance to the Algerian rebels.

The Tunisian Radio said in a news broadcast that such an accord was reached in Geneva May 14 between French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and officials of the Cairo government.

The same broadcast claimed that resumption of diplomatic relations between Cairo and Paris, broken off since the 1956 Suez invasion, was discussed at the alleged Geneva conversations.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

(John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column will be written by guest columnists from the television trade).

Dusting Off Crystal Ball

By JACK BENNY

Some years ago, after I'd done my first television show, I was asked to write a guest column. I called it "Vaudio to Video Via Radio," and it dealt with my impressions of the then infant medium of television. Those were the days of TV-B. C.—that's Before Cowboys.

It's a little odd to read the words you wrote years ago in the light of what's happened since. A lot of the things I was worried about then seem silly now, after I've been on television for so many seasons with my own half-hour show plus special shows like my May 23 "Jack Benny Hour." You should see what I've got to worry about nowadays.

Anyhow, some of the remarks I made in my innocence and youth (I was only 30 at the time, nine years ago) gave me pause; others gave me a good laugh; and a few gave me chills. Before I had my secretary burn every copy, I jotted down a few of my statements in that column and offer them herewith, along with some observations in retrospect.

"The day after my video show," I wrote, "I was walking down Broadway and I heard a woman say to her friend, 'There's Jack Benny, that new comic I just saw on television . . .'" (Now they say, "There's Jack Benny, that old comic I saw etc.").

In those days, of course, I was still on radio. I wrote, "It had always seemed to me that to go on television with all its problems, while continuing to do my radio show, might be biting off more than I could chew." (The President of CBS Radio agreed; he told me I should stick to television. The President of CBS Television felt just the opposite).

I was also worried in those days, about my format. To wit . . . "There was something about doing an hour show that didn't feel right to me—an hour show without dancers, tumblers or other extraneous acts might be too long." (Today, a number of critics feel that my half hour show is too long).

"We rehearsed a scene in which I call Dinah Shore on the pohne to ask her to appear on the show. She tells me her price is $5,000, and I practically faint from the shock." (I did the same gag with Gary Cooper this season, only his price was $10,000 — and I didn't bat an eye or move a muscle. I think the doctors called it temporary paralysis).

"Experience and proper organization can and eventually will simplify the creation of TV programs." (I should have saved a copy and sent it to my producers).

Then I wrote, "We had Mary talk about getting three stations at the same time. She said that all night I kept shooting it out with Hopalong Cassidy to see who would marry Gorgeous George . . . (Hopalong Cassidy won, and they've lived happily ever after).

"The $64,000 question," I continued, "which no one can really answer at this time, is whether television will wear out comedians . . . (the answer to that one is simple . . . Television won't but the $64,000 Question almost did).

"When we got to the cab, Milton Berle was sitting there waiting for us. He said he'd left his rehearsal just to come down and give me some technical advice. And then . . . he briefed me on the art of how to close your eyes when you're getting hit in the face with a pie." (Today Milton is a very sophisticated comedian, He believes you should keep your eyes open when being hit by a pie).

Jack Warner was on one of my early shows. "Speaking about 'The Horn Blows At Midnight', Mr. Warner explained that if it were a little better, he might have gotten his money back from the theatres, and if it were a little worse, it would have been a natural for television." (Since then Jack Warner released "The Horn Blows At Midnight," to television. This was part of the

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Here's a bit of news right from London-town in a cable from Sam Spiegel: He has just signed Katharine Hepburn for "Suddenly Last Summer." This is the role that Vivien Leigh was supposed to have, and the one that Bette Davis stated very frankly that she wanted.

Said Sam: "Both Joe Mankiewicz and I think Katharine Hepburn is ideal casting and completes the starring trio we wanted, with Elizabeth Taylor and Montgomery Clift."

Katie will fly to London immediately to start work and get there by Monday when the roll will be called for all the actors on the picture.

After the performance Van Heflin gave in "The Tempest" I am not surprised, and I'm sure you won't be, that Dino De Laurentiis and Martin Ritt have signed Van for the male lead opposite Gina Lollobrigida in "Jovanko." The Heflins are on cloud A.

Frances (Mrs. H.) told me they are sailing on the S.S. Independence June 10 for Naples, again taking their three children. She said it's so exciting for Van to play opposite Gina Lollobrigida and get the romantic lead in a really fine script.

The Heflins won't go to Yugoslavia this time because the entire picture, as it stands now, will be filmed in Italy and Austria unless the Yugoslavian government has a change of heart.

Bonita Granville (Mrs. Jack Wrather in private life) has more than a pretty face and talent as an actress. She has real business ability—so much that her industrialist husband has made her associate producer of the "Lassie" television program and she has taken offices at the Desilu Studio where "Lassie" is filmed.

It was Bonita who suggested Jon Provot for the role of Timmy, replacing Tommy Rettig. In her new job Bonita will assist executive producer Sherman A. Harris and producer Robert Golden in the development of story material, casting and wardrobe.

I cornered Jimmy Stewart at the Leroy party for King Baudouin. He's just back from Ishpeming, Mich., where he spent eight weeks on "Anatomy of a Murder" and said the picture is all finished except that he has three sentences to record.

"Otto Preminger holds that when a picture is being made it gets a lot of publicity, and then there's a long period before the picture is released when nothing is said about it," said Jimmy, "so he's going to release 'Anatomy' immediately while the publicity is hot and before the people stop talking about the book. Personally, I think it's a good idea."

You may remember pretty, brunette Maggie Pierce as the girl to whom Bob Neal gave a big diamond ring until they had a spat in Italy and ended the engagement. Well, Maggie now makes her movie debut in "never so few" with Frank Sinatra, Peter Lawford and Gina Lollobrigida—and MGM liked her test so well she's been given a term contract. The deal was set by her current escort, agent Irving Lazaar.

Apparently Maggie has talent because, with the exception of a TV "Thin Man" chapter with Pete, she has had very little experience. Before coming to Hollywood she was a registered nurse at Bellevue Hospital, and coincidentally she plays a nurse in Burma during World War II.

Just before Kathy and Bing Crosby took off for Palm Springs after their fishing trip, she said that Bing almost caught a marlin weighing from 700 to 1000 pounds. He worked for five hours trying to land the huge slippery fish, and he was heartbroken when it got away.

"But," said Kathy, "I took some pictures to prove this isn't a 'fish story' and how close Bing came to landing the big fellow.

"These films better come out or you'll hear of trouble in the Crosby family!" added Kathy.

Afterthoughts on the Mervyn Leroy's party for King Baudouin: Great praise goes to Kitty and Mervin for making their dinner honoring the King so informal and the party of the year, everyone had so much fun.

His Majesty learned the rhumba from Cyd Charisse and seemed to have more fun than anyone. They danced several times. Others he enjoyed dancing with were Kitty, the hostess, Debbie Reynolds, Maria Cooper, Janet Leigh and Gloria Stewart.

The most amusing incident (and Bob Hope swears this is true) was when Bob finished making one of his spontaneous speeches, the King said he had never seen Hope! His majesty explained he had so little time to go to the movies.

Your figure can be what you will it to be.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Too, Too Thin

"I have a problem, which I think is the problem of many girls and that is, thin arms and legs. Taking vitamins to gain add inches but not in the arms and legs," a young New Jersey reader complains. She asks, "Could you recommend an exercise in which we could fatten up these parts of the body?"

Exercise can round out thin, angular lines, thus rid you of any complexes you might have. Unless you have an illness or some organic disturbance which needs the attention of a doctor, your figure can be exactly what you would like it to be. Always figure . . . "When there's a will, there's a way."

To put weight on the arms one way is to stand with them at your sides. Now, as though a heavy weight resisted your efforts, raise arms to shoulder level and then lower them. Raise them forward and upward toward the ceiling. Continue until they reach farthermost point behind shoulders. Reversing action, return to starting position. Repeat 20 times, making all motions continuous.

Here's another way. Stand with your feet together facing a wall and about an arm's length from it. Rest the hands on the wall so that the fingers point toward each other. Now, bend your elbows very slowly until your chin just touches the wall. Hold for a count of five and then push yourself very slowly back to the original position. Make your arms do all the work. Start with five times and increase to 20 daily. Easy does it when you're building up tissue!

Here are a few spot increasing exercises for your calves. The first will make you feel good all over.

Walk a mile each day, preferably in the sunshine. Wear snug-fitting flats . . . no slipslop loafers, now. Take an even pace, not too brisk, and breathe deeply. If possible have a friend accompany you, and chat as you walk.

Now one for indoors. Without shoes, stand on a thick block of wood or a big weighty book. Stretch your heels down over the edge until they reach the floor. Continue this from 20 to 30 times.

This time of year every girl is naturally interested in her figure. After all, swimming season is just around the corner, if it hasn't already begun! If you'd like to know of other beautifying methods to suit YOUR figure, I suggest you write for my booklet, "Summerizing Your Beauty." Send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Secrets of Charm, c/o this newspaper. With this guide you'll really welcome June!

TOMORROW: Give It A Rest.

Radioactive Rain

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI) —Officials at the Nuernberg Radioactive Control Bureau Thursday blamed radioactive rain for causing the leaves of flowers here to change color. They said the rain came from the northeast.

The leaves of fuchsias in a private garden changed from green to white during a thunderstorm last Saturday. The officials said that laboratory tests disclosed the leaves were soaked with radioactive rain.

The officials said other varieties of flowers were not affected.

Russian Denial

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — A Soviet Embassy spokesman has denied that Russian troops had entered Tibet to help Chinese Communist quell the anti-Communist rebellion. He denounced the reports as "absolutely false."

Official Denial Made

PARIS (UPI) — A French Foreign Ministry spokesman Thursday formally denied a report that France had agreed to halt its aid to Israel in exchange for a cut-off of United Arab Republic assistance to the Algerian rebels.

The spokesman termed the report, broadcast by the Tunisian Radio, as "totally, absolutely and completely false from beginning to end."

The Tunisian Radio said in a news broadcast that such an accord was reached in Geneva May 14 between French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and officials of the Cairo government.

The same broadcast claimed that resumption of diplomatic relations between Cairo and Paris, broken off since the 1956 Suez invasion, was discussed at the alleged Geneva conversations.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

(John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column will be written by guest columnists from the television trade).

Dusting Off Crystal Ball

By JACK BENNY

Some years ago, after I'd done my first television show, I was asked to write a guest column. I called it "Vaudio to Video Via Radio," and it dealt with my impressions of the then infant medium of television. Those were the days of TV-B. C.—that's Before Cowboys.

It's a little odd to read the words you wrote years ago in the light of what's happened since. A lot of the things I was worried about then seem silly now, after I've been on television for so many seasons with my own half-hour show plus special shows like my May 23 "Jack Benny Hour." You should see what I've got to worry about nowadays.

Anyhow, some of the remarks I made in my innocence and youth (I was only 30 at the time, nine years ago) gave me pause; others gave me a good laugh; and a few gave me chills. Before I had my secretary burn every copy, I jotted down a few of my statements in that column and offer them herewith, along with some observations in retrospect.

"The day after my video show," I wrote, "I was walking down Broadway and I heard a woman say to her friend, 'There's Jack Benny, that new comic I just saw on television . . .'" (Now they say, "There's Jack Benny, that old comic I saw etc.").

In those days, of course, I was still on radio. I wrote, "It had always seemed to me that to go on television with all its problems, while continuing to do my radio show, might be biting off more than I could chew." (The President of CBS Radio agreed; he told me I should stick to television. The President of CBS Television felt just the opposite).

I was also worried in those days, about my format. To wit . . . "There was something about doing an hour show that didn't feel right to me—an hour show without dancers, tumblers or other extraneous acts might be too long." (Today, a number of critics feel that my half hour show is too long).

"We rehearsed a scene in which I call Dinah Shore on the pohne to ask her to appear on the show. She tells me her price is $5,000, and I practically faint from the shock." (I did the same gag with Gary Cooper this season, only his price was $10,000 — and I didn't bat an eye or move a muscle. I think the doctors called it temporary paralysis).

"Experience and proper organization can and eventually will simplify the creation of TV programs." (I should have saved a copy and sent it to my producers).

Then I wrote, "We had Mary talk about getting three stations at the same time. She said that all night I kept shooting it out with Hopalong Cassidy to see who would marry Gorgeous George . . . (Hopalong Cassidy won, and they've lived happily ever after).

"The $64,000 question," I continued, "which no one can really answer at this time, is whether television will wear out comedians . . . (the answer to that one is simple . . . Television won't but the $64,000 Question almost did).

"When we got to the cab, Milton Berle was sitting there waiting for us. He said he'd left his rehearsal just to come down and give me some technical advice. And then . . . he briefed me on the art of how to close your eyes when you're getting hit in the face with a pie." (Today Milton is a very sophisticated comedian, He believes you should keep your eyes open when being hit by a pie).

Jack Warner was on one of my early shows. "Speaking about 'The Horn Blows At Midnight', Mr. Warner explained that if it were a little better, he might have gotten his money back from the theatres, and if it were a little worse, it would have been a natural for 'elevision.". (Since then Jack Warner released "The Horn Blows At Midnight," to television. This was part of the Opening lead: King of ♠.

Against the routine four heart contract, West opened the king of spades and East rather foolishly started an echo with the nine. East had nothing to gain by such play. If a third round is led he will be unable to overruff dummy. South won with the ace, led back the six of spades. West won with the queen as East completed the echo with the deuce. West took partner at his word and continued with the eight of spades. The trick was won in dummy with the king of trumps.

With eleven tricks assured declarer led seven rounds of trumps in the hope of scoring the 12th trick. It seemed like the remotest of possibilities. But declarer hoped that confusion might beset either or both of his opponents.

In point of fact, the taking of the rest of the tricks might be done without stealth, if one of the defenders has the queen and jack of diamonds (or any six diamonds), as well as both high club honors. This defender would have to be East, for West has shown six spades headed by king-queen, and would surely have overcalled if he also had the ace of clubs.

When the last trump was led, dummy, which had discarded the king and jack of clubs, was down to three diamonds, declarer to the ace and a small diamond and the ten of clubs. East who had already thrown the queen of clubs, had the unpleasant task of giving up his protection in diamonds, or letting go the ace of clubs. He properly let go the club in the hope that West could cover any club held by South and declarer produced the club ten for trick No. 12.

Opening lead: King of ♠.

The caliber of declarer play is frequently sharpened by practice in tournaments because of the importance of scoring extra tricks. Today's hand presents an interesting squeeze executed by a player seeking a top score.

Against the routine four heart contract, West opened the king of spades and East rather foolishly started an echo with the nine. East had nothing to gain by such play. If a third round is led he will be unable to overruff dummy. South won with the ace, led back the six of spades. West won with the queen as East completed the echo with the deuce. West took partner at his word and continued with the eight of spades. The trick was won in dummy with the king of trumps.

With eleven tricks assured declarer led seven rounds of trumps in the hope of scoring the 12th trick. It seemed like the remotest of possibilities. But declarer hoped that confusion might beset either or both of his opponents.

In point of fact, the taking of the rest of the tricks might be done without stealth, if one of the defenders has the queen and jack of diamonds (or any six diamonds), as well as both high club honors. This defender would have to be East, for West has shown six spades headed by king-queen, and would surely have overcalled if he also had the ace of clubs.

When the last trump was led, dummy, which had discarded the king and jack of clubs, was down to three diamonds, declarer to the ace and a small diamond and the ten of clubs. East who had already thrown the queen of clubs, had the unpleasant task of giving up his protection in diamonds, or letting go the ace of clubs. He properly let go the club in the hope that West could cover any club held by South and declarer produced the club ten for trick No. 12.

In the absence of East's senseless signal in spades, West might have guessed to shift to a club at trick three.

Rail Issues Spurt Ahead In Hesitant Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — A near-record freight carloadings report in mid-afternoon spurred a demand for rail stocks that gave the group its sharpest gain since last Nov. 26 and lifted prices to their highest level since August, 1956.

The spurt in rails came in a market still hesitant after the Wednesday sell-off touched off by profit-taking in electronics. It stemmed declines in most groups and gave the market an over-all average gain although the industrial and utility components still showed small declines at the close.

Along with the report of sharply higher freight loadings for last week, several optimistic reports by rail officials helped stimulate interest in the group which has long lagged behind industrials.

Individual rail gains ranged close to 5 points in Northern Pacific, around 3 points in Illinois Central (whose president Wednesday gave an optimistic forecast that included the possibility of a higher dividend later in the year) 3 in Western Maryland, a point to 2 in Western Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake & Ohio, Nickel Plate, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway.

Raytheon, down 1¼ on the day, was the most actively traded issue. It was followed by Glen Alden Coal, up ¾, Sperry Rand, unchanged, Thiokol, up 4, and Nickel Plate Railroad, up 1¾.

Over-all volume of 3,230,000 shares compared with 3,550,000 on Wednesday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans were firm, and other grains lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅞ to 1⅛; corn off ¼ to ⅜; oats off ½; new oats off ⅛ to ½; rye off 1¾ to 2¼ and soybeans unchanged to up ⅜.

Increased selling attributed to local professional traders dropped wheat prices by as much as 1¾ cents near the close. Brokers reported some selling on stop-loss orders. Export business was slow, and good moisture was reported over much of the grain belt.

Earlier, wheat was firm. Commission interests were buyers, and an independent bought a large amount of July and sold September.

Corn opened firm, but it dipped more than a cent following the trend established by wheat. Scattered selling included some stop-loss selling in September. Cash houses also sold. Commission houses were early buyers, and there were resting orders to buy. The spot basis was firm.

Selling of rye and soybeans dropped prices. Soybeans earlier displayed firmness, and firmed at the close. Exporters and other cash interests bought November. Denmark was reported to have purchased a cargo of beans for December-January shipment. Northwest brokers sold July.

Oats were dull and featureless through most of the day. Old and new July were bought by cash and elevator interests.

Rail Issues Spurt Ahead In Hesitant Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — A near-record freight carloadings report in mid-afternoon spurred a demand for rail stocks that gave the group its sharpest gain since last Nov. 26 and lifted prices to their highest level since August, 1956.

The spurt in rails came in a market still hesitant after the Wednesday sell-off touched off by profit-taking in electronics. It stemmed declines in most groups and gave the market an over-all average gain although the industrial and utility components still showed small declines at the close.

Along with the report of sharply higher freight loadings for last week, several optimistic reports by rail officials helped stimulate interest in the group which has long lagged behind industrials.

Individual rail gains ranged close to 5 points in Northern Pacific, around 3 points in Illinois Central (whose president Wednesday gave an optimistic forecast that included the possibility of a higher dividend later in the year) 3 in Western Maryland, a point to 2 in Western Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake & Ohio, Nickel Plate, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway.

Raytheon, down 1¼ on the day, was the most actively traded issue. It was followed by Glen Alden Coal, up ¾, Sperry Rand, unchanged, Thiokol, up 4, and Nickel Plate Railroad, up 1¾.

Over-all volume of 3,230,000 shares compared with 3,550,000 on Wednesday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans were firm, and other grains lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅞ to 1⅛; corn off ¾ to ⅞; oats off ½; new oats off ⅛ to ½; rye off 1¾ to 2¼ and soybeans unchanged to up ⅜.

Increased selling attributed to local professional traders dropped wheat prices by as much as 1¾ cents near the close. Brokers reported some selling on stop-loss orders. Export business was slow, and good moisture was reported over much of the grain belt.

Earlier, wheat was firm. Commission interests were buyers, and an independent bought a large amount of July and sold September.

Corn opened firm, but it dipped more than a cent following the trend established by wheat. Scattered selling included some stop-loss selling in September. Cash houses also sold. Commission houses were early buyers, and there were resting orders to buy. The spot basis was firm.

Export acceptances on subsidy bids totaled 297,372 bushels of corn. Bids were rejected on 568,110 bushels of oats.

Selling of rye and soybeans dropped prices. Soybeans earlier displayed firmness, and firmed at the close. Exporters and other cash interests bought November. Denmark was reported to have purchased a cargo of beans for December-January shipment. Northwest brokers sold July.

Oats were dull and featureless through most of the day. Old and new July were bought by cash and elevator interests.

Teen Traffic Special Court Advocated Here

Baltimore Plan Is Outlined

The adoption of a special teen-age traffic court plan was urged before city and county officials here last night by two members of Baltimore City's pioneer Teen-Age Traffic Court.

Explaining the now widespread plan which began in Baltimore in 1951 were Paul A. Dorf, chief magistrate of the Baltimore City Traffic Court, and Joseph F. Caskey, director of Safety Education of the teen-age traffic program.

They were accompanied by Proctor Trice, assistant, who brought the greetings of Paul E. Burke, director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, who suggested the meeting, presided at the dinner meeting in the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Attending were the Mayor and Council, the Allegany County Delegation, Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and magistrates of the Trial Magistrates and Juvenile Court.

Is Special Court

Baltimore's Teen-Age Traffic Court, Magistrate Dorf said, is a special court set up by legislation which allows magistrates to place offenders under probation.

Such power, he said, is extended only to good risks and after it is pointed out that probation is a privilege.

Before it was established, he said, a teen-ager could pay for his ticket and forget.

He warned that a car may give a teen-ager his first real taste of power and that many "seem to aim, instead of drive it."

The plan has a real advantage to the youth, he said, since an offender's record is wiped clean if he manages to pass through his probation successfully.

Probation in Baltimore's teen-age traffic court, Mr. Caskey reported, automatically requires the young driver to attend a six-month traffic safety course.

The award for most, he said, is a clean record and a lifetime of safe driving.

He said fewer than 10 per cent of the court's 9,500 graduates have been repeaters.

Part of the success of the court is gained through seeking the cooperation of parents and from church membership, he said.

Prevents Accidents

Most of the youths who came to the court, he added, are arrested for minor violations and some parents think the penalties are too severe.

"We get them on lesser violations," he said, "to prevent fatal accidents."

B & O Cuts Round Trip Coach Fares

Hot Dogs Placed On Buffet Menus

Reduced round-trip coach fares go into effect Saturday, on Baltimore and Ohio Railroad trains operating between Baltimore-Washington-Cincinnati-Louisville and St. Louis.

The new fares, which have been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, range from 21 to 33⅓ per cent less than present B & O standard round-trip coach fares.

Simultaneous with the new fares, the B & O will offer more selective low-cost menus on its buffet coffee-shop cars for coach passengers.

B & O trains operating between Baltimore-Washington and St. Louis, on which the new low fares will be effective, are the National Limited, the Diplomat and the Metropolitan Special. In addition, the West Virginian operates westbound between Baltimore and Parkersburg, W. Va.

Four days after the reduced fares become effective, the B & O will add low-cost Slumbercoach service to the National Limited. Slumbercoaches provide private-room sleeping accommodations at coach fares with a small extra charge for space.

J. B. Martin, manager of the B & O dining car service, said the new buffet coffee-shop menus will offer a 25-cent frankfurter sandwich and a 40-cent hamburger sandwich. Beverages and other sandwiches also are on the menu.

Menus in regular B & O dining cars have offered low-cost dinners priced from $1.90 and $2 for several months.

The B & O's new round-trip fares between Baltimore and Cincinnati, for example, will become $27.95 compared with the present fare of $35.60; to St. Louis, $44.70 compared with the present $57.00.

The $44.70 fare to St. Louis will be $20.20 cheaper than a similar trip by air coach and only $5.70 more than bus fare.

The reduced round-trip coach tickets will be good for 30 days.

J. F. Whittington, B & O general passenger traffic manager, said the new rates apply to most trips between Baltimore-Washington and St. Louis over 50 miles.

He explained that the B & O already has in effect reduced fares on the same basis on its trains between Baltimore-Washington and Pittsburgh.

Section Of Moon Built By Former Local Resident

It was displayed last week in Baltimore at the Martin Company's Armed Forces Day open house.

The builder is William Raymond Benton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benton, formerly of Cresap Street in Cumberland, who now live in Baltimore. The elder Benton was an employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here. The builder is a nephew of Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, 101 Park Street, who saw the exhibit in Baltimore last Saturday.

Mr. Benton, who is past curator of the Martin Astronomical Society and a fellow of the International Lunar Society, has called his model "Lunarama." It was built in just three days and will be displayed permanently at the Maryland Academy of Sciences, Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore. The model measures six feet long, four-and-one-half feet high and five feet deep. Five lights illuminate the model.

This is a forerunner of a 20-foot "Lunarama" which will depict the Apenines Mountains on the moon. It will be completed in December.

Mr. Benton's most unique accomplishment will soon be released for public display. This is a scale-model measuring 21 inches in diameter. It shows over 6,000 lunar features. It has been called "The most authentic model of the moon extant" by lunar authorities.

Mr. Benton has been with the Martin Company for seven years. A graduate of the Johns Hopkins University in science, Mr. Benton's avocation is selenography (lunar geography.) His models of lunar sections are helping to determine what difficulties space men will encounter setting up lunar bases.

Police Probe House Fire

State Police are investigating the fire which destroyed an unoccupied house on Piney Mountain at the head of Frog Hollow in Eckhart Wednesday night.

Tfc. Milton G. Hart spent most of yesterday at the scene and authorities indicated last night that arson is suspected. They are continuing the investigation.

The frame building was enveloped in flames by the time firemen from Frostburg's Fire Department arrived on the scene Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Because of the lack of water in the area the volunteer company from Clarysville also was summoned.

However, firemen said, the structure was beyond saving. They added that Percy Hoadley, who resides on Big Savage Mountain, had some furniture stored in the house which was owned by Mrs. Charles Long of LaVale.

Owners Are Asked To Correct Sewage Drainage Problems

The Allegany County Health Department yesterday notified six property owners in LaVale that sewage draining from their homes was a nuisance and a health hazard.

The letters to the property owners in the Harald Street area pointed out that the lots on which the homes stood were not large enough and had poor absorption qualities.

The owners were advised that the department is working out a plan and were asked to contact J. Byron Dowling, chief of the Sanitation Section, for details.

Judge Upholds Wolfe Claim For Disability

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris upheld an order of the State Industrial Accident Commission in awarding compensation to Archie R. Wolfe for permanent total disability resulting from silicosis.

In an opinion handed down yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court here Judge Harris ruled that the award of the commission dated January 28 and in favor of Mr. Wolfe and against the Big Savage Refractories Corporation and the State Accident Fund, insurer, is affirmed.

The claimant was born in 1892 and worked in the clay mines for 47 years, discontinuing his work in August, 1955, Judge Harris wrote. The last 11½ years he was in the employ of the Big Savage Refractories Corporation during which he dug clay, shot rock, used hand and air hammer drills and in general did all types of work inside the clay mines.

Sand On Tracks

The opinion also pointed out that sand was used on the tracks in the transportation of the clay to the outside of the mine, being used for traction to prevent the loaded cars from getting out of control.

On August 12, 1955, the claimant went to Dr. Martin Rothstein, Frostburg, complaining of sickness, coughing and shortness of breath, the opinion stated.

He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland on September 6, examined and X-rayed.

A claim was filed by Mr. Wolfe and referred to the Medical Board by the State Industrial Commission. On May 29, 1956, the board ruled the claimant did not have silicosis and in July 1956 the State Industrial Commission affirmed this decision and disallowed the claim.

However, Judge Harris stated, the claimant was further examined by Dr. W. A. VanOrmer who concluded he was totally disabled because of silicosis and a new claim was filed September 3, 1957.

Although this claim also was disallowed by the medical board, the State Industrial Commission reviewed the findings and on January 28, 1959, rescinded and annulled its order on the previous claim, reversed the decision of the medical board on the second claim and found the claimant to be permanently and totally disabled.

The commission ordered Mr. Wolfe was to be paid compensation at the rate of $35 per week beginning September 1, 1955 and continued during his total disability, not to exceed the sum of $15,000.

Ruling Appealed

An appeal in the case was filed by the employer and the insurer on January 29, 1959.

In his opinion Judge Harris ruled the state industrial com-

Youths Sought For Fatally Stoning Man

D. L. Moorehead To Be Buried Sunday

Five Washington area youths are being sought by police in connection with a stone-throwing incident which led to the death of Donald L. Moorehead, 37-year-old former Bloomington man who was employed in Washington as a painter.

The District of Columbia coroner, Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald, reported that Mr. Moorehead died of a ruptured spleen caused by the impact of a rock. The victim died on the operating table in the D.C. General Hospital Tuesday night.

The stoning incident apparently took place on Sunday, May 10, in Prince George's County, the coroner stated.

Mr. Moorehead and four friends were drinking beer in a wooded area of Prince George's County in Carol Hills. Five youths, whose ages were estimated at from 15 to 18, approached and asked the group for some of the beer. When they were refused the youths countered with a barrage of rocks.

One stone hit Mr. Moorehead while another struck William Garner, 49, of the 4800 block "Q" Street, in Washington. The youths then fled.

Mr. Garner, a driver for the WM&A Bus Line, told police he and Moorehead did not think they had been seriously hurt. However, on Friday, May 15, Mr. Moorehead complained of abdominal pain and went to the hospital where he died four days later.

Coroner MacDonald said the victim also had received two broken ribs from the stoning.

Born in Beryl, W. Va., Mr. Moorehead was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Moorehead, Bloomington. He was a veteran of World War II and is survived by his parents; his widow, Mrs. Ann (Magnolia) Moorehead; a son, Donald L. Moorehead Jr., at home; four daughters, Patricia and Norma Lee Moorehead, both of Washington, and Barbara and Jo Ann Moorehead, at home; four brothers, Francis and Vaughn Moorehead, both of Bloomington; Joseph Moorehead of Keyser, and Thomas Moorehead, Washington.

The body will be at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, after 1 p.m. today.

Services will be conducted there Sunday at 2 p.m. by Rev. Charles E. Eaton Jr., pastor of Bloomington Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Rex Coffman, pastor of Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness Church. Burial will be in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

Little League Baseball Field Is Completed

And City Engineer C. R. Nuzum said the Orrie Sensabaugh contracting firm has agreed to wait until fall to seed the area.

He explained that the field would not be available for use this summer if a stand of grass were to be established now.

C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, has notified the Stept Construction Company that it may proceed with the fencing of the area.

Fencing work had to await the completion of the field, as it would not have been possible to grade the area if the fence were up.

DuPont Official Cites Research, Development

The importance of the proper teamwork between research and development in the vast material progress of the 20th century was stressed by Louis P. Shannon, Wilmington, Del., manager of the extension division of the DuPont Company, in an address entitled "Progress Unlimited" at yesterdays' meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA.

A young man named Otto Zeidler developed an important compound in 1874 which enabled him to get his degree from the University of Strasbourg in Germany. However, his discovery was put on a shelf for 65 years and it was not until 1939 that the discovery, DDT, was developed as the world's foremost insect exterminator.

Today, through research departments in the great industrial corporations, those with inventive minds are allowed to conduct research which most interests them. Once a discovery is made, the company's development team goes to work in an effort to produce this new product at a price the public can afford to pay.

Mr. Shannon several times warned of the dangers of Congressional action which might restrict the research and development of certain corporations simply because they are large. This reminded him of the old Chinese custom of binding the feet of infant girls. That restricted the growth of the feet but also made permanent crippies of the girls.

The DuPont official also addressed the Engineers Club Wednesday night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Discuss Court For Teen-Agers

Teen Traffic Special Court Advocated Here

Baltimore Plan Is Outlined

The adoption of a special teen-age traffic court plan was urged before city and county officials here last night by two members of Baltimore City's pioneer Teen-Age Traffic Court.

Explaining the now widespread plan which began in Baltimore in 1951 were Paul A. Dorf, chief magistrate of the Baltimore City Traffic Court, and Joseph F. Caskey, director of Safety Education of the teen-age traffic program.

They were accompanied by Proctor Trice, assistant, who brought the greetings of Paul E. Burke, director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming, who suggested the meeting, presided at the dinner meeting in the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Attending were the Mayor and Council, the Allegany County Delegation, Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and magistrates of the Trial Magistrates and Juvenile Court.

Is Special Court

Baltimore's Teen-Age Traffic Court, Magistrate Dorf said, is a special court set up by legislation which allows magistrates to place offenders under probation.

Such power, he said, is extended only to good risks and after it is pointed out that probation is a privilege.

Before it was established, he said, a teen-ager could pay for his ticket and forget.

He warned that a car may give a teen-ager his first real taste of power and that many "seem to aim, instead of drive it."

The plan has a real advantage to the youth, he said, since an offender's record is wiped clean if he manages to pass through his probation successfully.

Probation in Baltimore's teen-age traffic court, Mr. Caskey reported, automatically requires the young driver to attend a six-month traffic safety course.

The award for most, he said, is a clean record and a lifetime of safe driving.

He said fewer than 10 per cent of the court's 9,500 graduates have been repeaters.

Part of the success of the court is gained through seeking the cooperation of parents and from church membership, he said.

Prevents Accidents

Most of the youths who came to the court, he added, are arrested for minor violations and some parents think the penalties are too severe.

B & O Cuts Round Trip Coach Fares

Hot Dogs Placed On Buffet Menus

Reduced round-trip coach fares go into effect Saturday, on Baltimore and Ohio Railroad trains operating between Baltimore-Washington-Cincinnati-Louisville and St. Louis.

The new fares, which have been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, range from 21 to 33⅓ per cent less than present B & O standard round-trip coach fares.

Simultaneous with the new fares, the B & O will offer more selective low-cost menus on its buffet coffee-shop cars for coach passengers.

B & O trains operating between Baltimore-Washington and St. Louis, on which the new low fares will be effective, are the National Limited, the Diplomat and the Metropolitan Special. In addition, the West Virginian operates westbound between Baltimore and Parkersburg, W. Va.

Four days after the reduced fares become effective, the B & O will add low-cost Slumbercoach service to the National Limited. Slumbercoaches provide private-room sleeping accommodations at coach fares with a small extra charge for space.

J. B. Martin, manager of the B & O dining car service, said the new buffet coffee-shop menus will offer a 25-cent frankfurter sandwich and a 40-cent hamburger sandwich. Beverages and other sandwiches also are on the menu.

Menus in regular B & O dining cars have offered low-cost dinners priced from $1.90 and $2 for several months.

The B & O's new round-trip fares between Baltimore and Cincinnati, for example, will become $27.95 compared with the present fare of $35.60; to St. Louis, $44.70 compared with the present $57.00.

The $44.70 fare to St. Louis will be $20.20 cheaper than a similar trip by air coach and only $5.70 more than bus fare.

The reduced round-trip coach tickets will be good for 30 days.

J. F. Whittington, B & O general passenger traffic manager, said the new rates apply to most trips between Baltimore-Washington and St. Louis over 50 miles.

He explained that the B & O already has in effect reduced fares on the same basis on its trains between Baltimore-Washington and Pittsburgh.

The stoning incident apparently took place on Sunday, May 10, in Prince George's County, the coroner stated.

Police were given this account:

Mr. Moorehead and four friends were drinking beer in a wooded area of Prince George's County in Carol Hills. Five youths, whose ages were estimated at from 15 to 18, approached and asked the group for some of the beer. When they were refused the youths countered with a barrage of rocks.

One stone hit Mr. Moorehead while another struck William Garner, 49, of the 4800-block "Q" Street, in Washington. The youths then fled.

Mr. Garner, a driver for the WM&A Bus Line, told police he and Moorehead did not think they had been seriously hurt. However, on Friday, May 15, Mr. Moorehead complained of abdominal pain and went to the hospital where he died four days later.

Coroner MacDonald said the victim also had received two broken ribs from the stoning.

Born in Beryl, W. Va., Mr. Moorehead was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Moorehead, Bloomington. He was a veteran of World War II and is survived by his parents; his widow, Mrs. Ann (Magnolia) Moorehead; a son, Donald L. Moorehead Jr., at home; four daughters, Patricia and Norma Lee Moorehead, both of Washington, and Barbara and Jo Ann Moorehead, at home; four brothers, Francis and Vaughn Moorehead, both of Bloomington; Joseph Moorehead of Keyser, and Thomas Moorehead, Washington.

The body will be at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, after 1 p.m. today.

Services will be conducted there Sunday at 2 p.m. by Rev. Charles E. Eaton Jr., pastor of Bloomington Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Rex Coffman, pastor of Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness Church. Burial will be in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

Little League Baseball Field Is Completed

And City Engineer C. R. Nuzum said the Orrie Sensabaugh contracting firm has agreed to wait until fall to seed the area.

He explained that the field would not be available for use this summer if a stand of grass were to be established now.

C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, has notified the Stept Construction Company that it may proceed with the fencing of the area.

Fencing work had to await the completion of the field, as it would not have been possible to grade the area if the fence were up.

DuPont Official Cites Research, Development

The importance of the proper teamwork between research and development in the vast material progress of the 20th century was stressed by Louis P. Shannon, Wilmington, Del., manager of the extension division of the DuPont Company, in an address entitled "Progress Unlimited" at yesterdays' meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA.

A young man named Otto Zeidler developed an important compound in 1874 which enabled him to get his degree from the University of Strasbourg in Germany. However, his discovery was put on a shelf for 65 years and it was not until 1939 that the discovery, DDT, was developed as the world's foremost insect exterminator.

In olden times, many of the great inventors lived lives of poverty because their inventions were not appreciated.

Today, through research departments in the great industrial corporations, those with inventive minds are allowed to conduct research which most interests them. Once a discovery is made, the company's development team goes to work in an effort to produce this new product at a price the public can afford to pay.

Mr. Shannon several times warned of the dangers of Congressional action which might restrict the research and development of certain corporations simply because they are large. This reminded him of the old Chinese custom of binding the feet of infant girls. That restricted the growth of the feet but also made permanent crippies of the girls.

The DuPont official also addressed the Engineers Club Wednesday night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.
